Soviet U.N. Defeat Assured

U.S. "Spy" Satellite In Orbit

Midas Designed To Give Missile Attack Warning

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The United States launched an experimental Midas "spy" satellite into orbit Tuesday opening a new chapter in the race for space.

The 2½-ton satellite will test the feasibility of using orbiting space stations to provide almost instant warning of a ballistic missile attack.

The satellite, first of its kind in the world, was boosted aloft from this missile test center at 12:37 p.m., (EST) by a powerful 88-foot Atlas-Agena rocket.

Two hours later, shortly after United Nations reconvened to resume the U2 spy debate, the Air Force announced the mammoth Midas was spinning around the earth.

Near Circular Orbit

It was unable immediately to give the precise position in orbit because of a malfunction in tracking computers at the satellite test wing at Sunnyvale, Calif.

However, the Defense Department said in Washington late in the day that the satellite was traveling in an orbit that carries it out as far as 322 miles and within 292.1 miles of earth. In its near circular orbit, Midas makes one round trip every 94.34 minutes.

Lt. Col. Henry Riepe, Midas project director, said radio transmitters in the 22-foot long space messenger are working perfectly.

The "spy in the sky" was equipped with an infra-red scanning device capable of instantaneous spotting and reporting of the launching of a hostile ballistic missile.

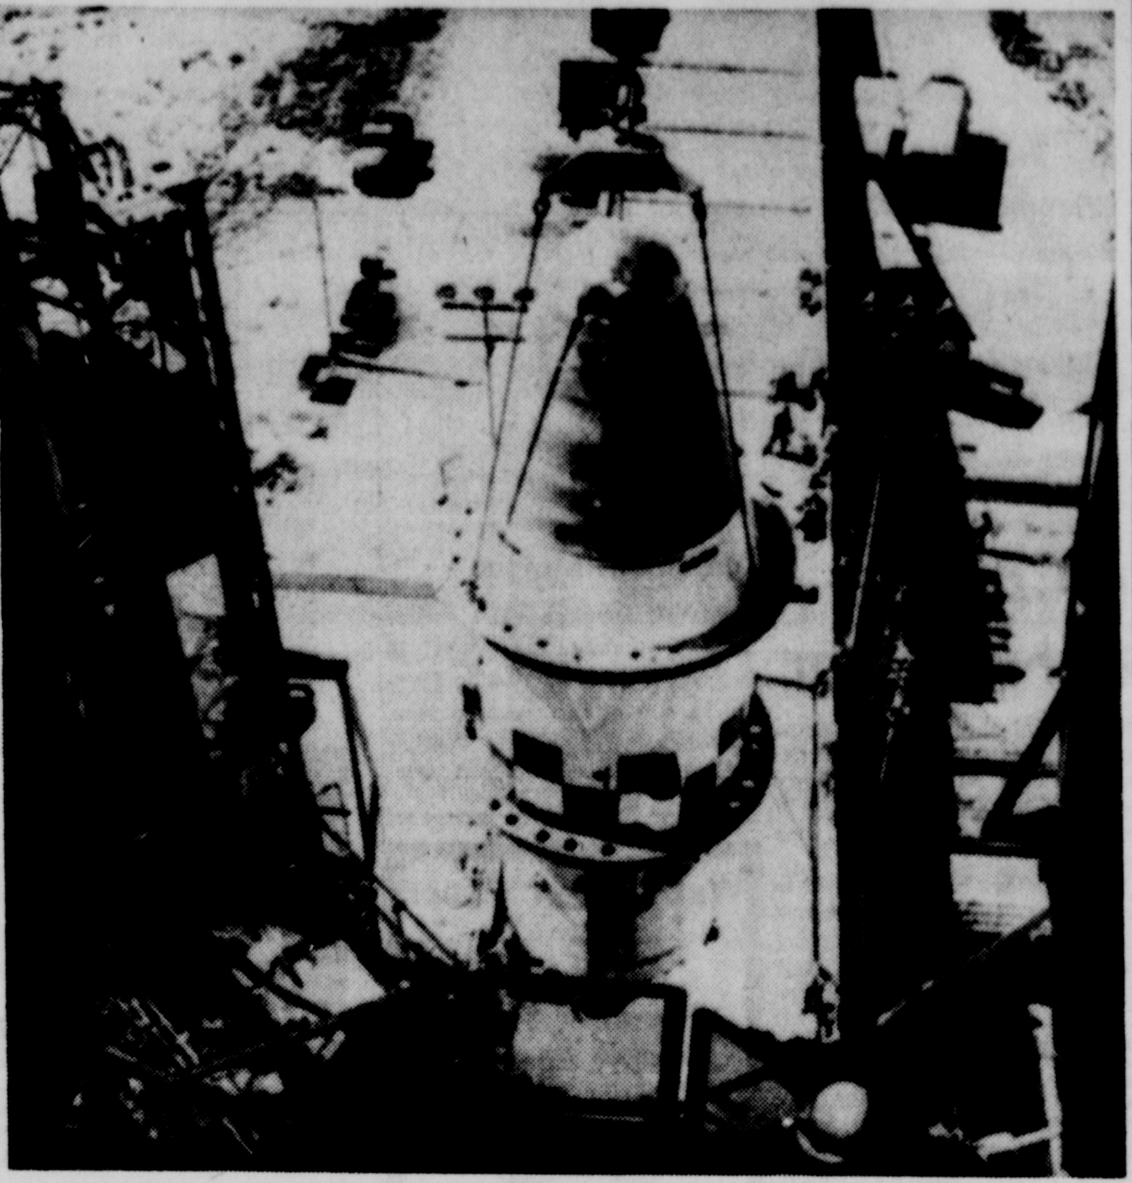
Flares To Provide Tests

This first test satellite was not aimed at a course which would take it over the Soviet Union. Its path covers all territory 28 degrees north and south of the equator. Midas' practice mission is to test its equipment of giant sodium flares to be ignited at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and on rocket launchings at Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg AFB, Calif.

The first flare will be fired on the ground within a few days.

Within two years, a series of six or eight Midas satellites parading and flying through space are expected to provide complete and constant scanning of the earth's surface.

By flashing the alarm of the blastoff of enemy missiles, they would give the United States 30 minutes to prepare for nuclear bombardment, to send retaliatory rockets on the way and to get persons into shelter.



"Spy In Sky" Satellite

The Agena satellite launched in Project Midas at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday is hoisted to the top of the gantry to be mated to its booster, an Atlas missile. The Air Force reported that the satellite is in orbit. It is a forerunner of a series of others which will carry infra-red sensing devices in their noses to provide almost instant warning of hostile missile attacks.

Nixon Passes Majority Mark

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee Republicans Tuesday selected the 28-member delegation to the party's national convention and instructed it to support Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidential nomination.

Delegates to the state convention approved a resolution backing Nixon and promising to conduct "the most intensive campaign in Tennessee political history" in his behalf in November.

A Tennessee convention instructed 28 delegates for Nixon. The vice president was unopposed for 26 more in the Tuesday Florida primary.

White House Urges Soviet Government Let People Hear Ike

VOA To Beam Talk Around World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Tuesday urged the Kremlin to let the Russian people listen to broadcasts of President Eisenhower's report Wednesday evening on collapse of the summit conference.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty, who said he was making the appeal through American newsmen, also voiced hope that Soviet Union newspapers will carry full accounts of the President's address on television and radio.

Eisenhower is scheduled to speak from his White House office for 30 minutes starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

In this country, the address will be carried live by CBS and ABC TV networks and by all major radio networks. NBC-TV will have a rebroadcast at 10 p.m.

The government's Voice of America radio plans to beam the talk around the world in English and 38 other languages, including Russian.

Eisenhower will assess the summit wreckage and also deal with the future goals of the United States and free world nations in the light of the Paris debacle.

Hagerty said the White House "hopes that the Soviet government will permit the Soviet people to hear and will not jam" the Voice of America broadcasts.

"The Russian people, as well as the people of the free world have a right to hear it," Hagerty said.

He added that broadcasts beamed to the Soviet Union will be in Russian, English and six other languages which the people of the Soviet Union speak—Ukrainian, Georgian, Armenian, Latvian, Estonian and Lithuanian.

VOA will carry the President's remarks live in English. Translations of the address will be broadcast later, at various times, in 38 other languages.

The broadcasts to the Soviet Union, for example, will be beamed there at times likely to attract maximum audiences.

As to whether the Kremlin will jam the broadcasts to the Soviet Union, Hagerty said there already has been jamming of VOA broadcasts of proceedings before the United Nations Security Council. The Council is debating a Soviet resolution calling for condemnation of the American U2 spy plane episode.

One Of FBI's 10 Most Wanted Men Seized

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — Edward Reiley, 38, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was arrested Tuesday in suburban Love's Park with a girl and a "bag full of guns" in his car.

Reiley, known as a braggart and a self-styled lady's man, was arrested on a tip from a used car dealer. The fugitive offered no resistance when stopped by police who spotted his car in the suburb.

Reiley was wanted for the Jan. 29 robbery of the Eastgate branch of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank at Logansport, Ind. Considered dangerous, he was put on the most wanted list May 10.

New Quakes Rock Chile; Death Toll Exceeds 1,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Earthquakes, landslides, tidal waves and a volcanic eruption dealt massive new devastation to southern Chile Tuesday. The four-day death toll mounted to more than 1,000, the Interior Ministry announced and perhaps two million people are homeless.

A tidal wave swept 630 of the 800 people of Queulen, to their death Sunday, the ministry said. Those who survived fled to nearby mountains where many were rescued Tuesday by U.S. Air Force helicopters.

Tidal waves also carried more than 100 to death at Aleta on Tuesday.

Another crushing wall of water 18-feet high engulfed the small seaside resort of Mehuin at 2 a.m. Tuesday. Mehuin is near Queulen and is about 560 miles south of Santiago.

New earthquakes also rocked the mountainous southern provinces, precipitating landslides into the Pacific at Maullin, a town of 1,500 about 600 miles south of Santiago.

Whole villages have been swept away by tidal waves as high as 24 feet.

Other villages with which no contact has been made may have been destroyed by tidal waves or landslides, Interior Minister Jaime Silva told a news conference.

Two Chilean freighters, Santiago and El Canelo, sank in raging seas off Puerto Corral. No survivors were reported.

In addition to the more than 1,000 dead, at least 500 are missing, and reports to the government indicate that nearly two million people, or 65 per cent of the population in 11 southern provinces, may be homeless.

Russians Free U.S. Transport, Nine Occupants

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—With unusual speed and a mild protest, the Soviets Tuesday set free a U.S. Air Force C47 transport plane and the nine American occupants forced down in East Germany last Friday.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the plane will fly to West Germany Wednesday with the crew and passengers presumably on board.

The spokesman said word had been received through Soviet channels that the plane is airworthy but the Americans could not depart Tuesday because of bad weather.

One of the group is a woman, Barbara McCash of Atlanta, Ga. The others are Air Force officers and men. They had strayed on a flight from Copenhagen, Denmark, to Hamburg, Germany, west of the Iron Curtain.

The relatively happy ending was signalled by a letter from Soviet Col. Gen. I. I. Yakubovsky, to Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe.

In routine terms, Yakubovsky protested the plane's violation of the frontier of East Germany, a partner in the Communist Warsaw Pact.

He said Soviet fighters took "justified decisive action" to force it down after repeated signals to land were ignored. Indications were the fighters fired warning shots. The Soviet general asked Eddleman to "take measures to exclude such incidents in the future."

"With the approval of the authorities of the (East) German Democratic Republic," Yakubovsky concluded, "the crew, passengers and plane can be handed over to your representative at the place of landing when convenient to you."

Sodium Vapor Cloud Created By Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rocket-riding, 10-pound package of sodium burst into flame high above the Atlantic coastline Tuesday night and blossomed into a long, ropelike orange and yellow cloud visible for hundreds of miles.

Cameras as far apart as at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. and North Carolina trained on the cloud to record wind velocity, wind direction and dispersion rates 150 miles above the earth

Depressed Area Aid Bill Veto Upheld

Senate's 45 To 39 Vote To Override Ike Falls 11 Short

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a bill to pour 251 million dollars into chronic unemployment areas and Democrats served notice they will use it as a weapon in the 1960 election campaign.

The vote was 45 to 39, with Democratic supporters failing by 11 votes to muster the two thirds needed to override. Fourteen Democrats joined 25 Republicans to sustain the Chief Executive while five Republicans broke ranks and combined with 40 Democrats in voting against him.

Democrats, who had conceded they had little chance of upsetting Eisenhower, made it plain during a lively Senate debate that they were interested in campaign ammunition. They used the same issue successfully in the 1958 congressional race after Eisenhower vetoed a similar bill and made it stick.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D—Ill.), left no doubt about 1960 Democratic strategy when he told the Senate that the vote would be "an acid test of political responsibility."

The Senate's three Democratic presidential hopefuls all voted against the President. They are Sen. John F. Kennedy (D—Mass.) the current front runner, Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

A co-sponsor of the measure, Symington declared that contrary to what Eisenhower said, "people in depressed areas don't lack initiative. They lack money—and that's what this bill provides."

Fearful of election-year consequences, the administration last week submitted to Congress a compromise 180 million dollar program of aid for depressed areas. The President orginally had recommended a 53 million dollar plan, but the new proposal fell far short of meeting demands of liberal Democrats and organized labor.

Tidal Wave Toll Still Mounting In Pacific Basin

TOKYO (AP) — The people of this island nation, no strangers to natural disaster, began Wednesday the grim task of digging out from debris left by giant tidal waves that assaulted the western Pacific basin from Japan south to New Zealand.

The devastating waves, propelled across the Pacific by earthquakes in Chile, left at least 180 persons dead or missing in Japan and Okinawa with another 850 reported injured. Property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

The semiofficial Japan Broadcasting Corp., with nationwide facilities for collecting information, reported 150,000 persons homeless, 4,600 homes washed away or damaged, 43,000 homes flooded and 1,900 boats cast adrift or damaged.

Northern Honshu and the Island of Hokkaido were battered hardest. Huge waves began pounding the Japanese coast at dawn Tuesday almost without warning.

Wave after towering wave, ranging as high as 20 feet, unleashed fury on 25 communities. At least 10 were inundated.

Formosa and the Philippines, where huge waves struck the Pacific coastline, reported some damage. The extent of casualties, if any, was not learned.

Senate Unit Orders Spy Plane-Summit Breakdown Inquiry

Closed-Door "Study" Opens Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without a dissent, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee agreed Tuesday to open Friday "an objective, impartial inquiry" into the spy plane incident and other events culminating in the summit breakdown.

Announcing this, Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) stressed that every effort will be made to keep politics out of the closed-door inquiry which will begin with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. He reported the vote to go ahead was unanimous, with 12 of 17 committee members on hand.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas — who has been preaching unity—tried to bring political temperatures down Tuesday. He was out of town during most of the donnybrook.

Speaking to fellow senators, Johnson said national unity "does not require sweeping facts under the rug—no matter how unpleasant those facts may be."

"But it does require treatment of the facts coolly, calmly and in an objective vein," he said.

Following this same line, Fulbright told newsmen "this is not to be an investigation—but an inquiry or study into the plane incident and the chain of events which preceded it and followed it."

An investigation, he noted, has "certain political overtones."

"I am going to strive to keep it to an objective, impartial inquiry in which we will try to understand what took place and the policies that influenced the events," said the chairman of the Senate foreign policy group.

These other things happened:

The National Security Council, with President Eisenhower in the chair, held a two-hour special meeting. There were indications the session dealt in part with Eisenhower's TV-radio report to the nation on the summit Wednesday night.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, said again that Eisenhower could have expressed regret to Khrushchev for the spy plane flight—that he, Kennedy, would have been willing to have done so in an effort to save the summit conference.

Speaking in a TV interview (NBC-Today), Kennedy contended that if Eisenhower had expressed regret, and the East-West talks then foundered, the responsibility would more clearly have rested on Khrushchev.

Great White Way Facing Blackout If Actors Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Producers Tuesday pledged total blackout of all Broadway theaters if union actors stage hit-and-run strikes against one show at a time. It would be the first complete shutdown of the Great White Way since 1919.

"We will close all productions," announced Burton A. Zorn, special counsel for the League of New York Theaters.

Thus the producers answered the threat by Actors Equity Assn., to close one show at a time for one night only in its drive to win pensions and pay raises for more than 3,000 actors.

Expiration of the Equity contract May 31 has brought Broadway face to face with its worst crisis in more than 40 years. Show business was pessimistic that a contract agreement can be worked out in time to avert a strike next week.

A walkout—led by some of the top names in the theater—would close all 23 Broadway shows and at least seven others on the road. Plans for autumn productions already have been suspended because of the deadlock.

Collins Chairman, Church Keynoter For Demo Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, regarded as a moderate among Southern governors, Tuesday was named chairman of the Democratic National Convention, where civil rights is expected to be a burning platform issue.

A 14-member arrangements committee also selected Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, as keynoter for the convention, which opens July 11 in Los Angeles.

Collins' selection may be intended to bridge the gap between Northern integrationists and Southern segregationists within the party. He has taken a middle-of-the-road stand on civil rights in his own state.

As permanent convention chairman, Collins gains a national stage for whatever political aspirations he may hold. His supporters have boosted him as a coming figure in national politics and he has been mentioned as a possible vice-presidential nominee.

The selection of both Collins and Church was anticipated well in advance of Tuesday's Democratic National Committee meeting.

Collins was acceptable to the Adlai E. Stevenson wing of the party. Sen. John F. Kennedy's camp voiced no public opposition to him.

He succeeds House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, whose bald head became a national symbol of past Democratic conventions as a result of television cameras trained on the rostrum.

Resolution Urging Big Four To Resume Talks Gains Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain and France lined up behind the United States Tuesday in attacking the Soviet Union for bringing the spy plane issue into the U.N. Security Council.

Statements by the U.S. allies and other delegates at the Council foreshadowed certain defeat for the Soviet Union in its attempts to have the United States branded an aggressor for sending aerial spy flights over Soviet territory.

There were these additional developments on the second day of the Council's debate over the Soviet complaint against the United States:

1. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge laid before the Council the full, dramatic story of the arrest of 11 Soviet spies in the United States since Prime Minister Stalin's death in 1953. It was contained in a 2,000-word statement circulated as an official Council document.

Summit Resolution Backed

2. Western support mounted for a resolution submitted by four small nations on the Council calling on the Big Four to resume negotiations on major East-West issues with the help of the United Nations.

The resolution by Ecuador, Ceylon, Argentina and Tunisia will probably come before the Council on Friday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told a reporter "We do not consider it helpful." But he did not say he would vote against it.

There was no direct mention in the Council of the U.S. action in sending up a Midas "spy-in-the-sky" satellite, but the fact that such satellites could gather espionage information was raised by several speakers.

U2 Case "Insignificant"

Italy's Egidio Ortona declared the U2 spy plane incident on which the Soviet Union based its case appeared to have little significance if satellites are considered. The satellites, he said, "clearly have, or will soon have, enormously increased capacity for exploring or observing compared with airplanes."

Britain's Ambassador Sir Pierson Dixon declared the Soviet Union had failed entirely in trying to prove the United States was an aggressor because of the spy plane flights.

He said his government deeply regretted that the Soviet Union chose the U2 spy plane incident to "destroy the arrangements for the summit conference on which the nations of the world had built so much hope."

French delegate Armand Berard denied also that the U.S. flights were either an act of aggression or a threat to peace.

The Council adjourned at 6:54 p.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday. There was a possibility the Council might reach the voting stage on the Soviet resolution by a late hour Wednsday.

Bryant Wins Florida Runoff

MIAMI (UPI) —Farris Bryant, Harvard-educated lawyer pledged to maintain segregation and champion states' rights, won Florida's Democratic runoff primary for governor Tuesday night.

The 45-year-old veteran legislator from Ocala defeated Doyle E. Carlton Jr., 37, of Wauchula, son of a former governor making his first bid for the state's highest post. It was Bryant's second try for the governorship.

With 1,311 of the state's total 1,971 precincts reported, the vote was Bryant 354,438 and Carlton 336,640.

Victory in the primary is the equivalent of election in the heavily Democratic state.

Bryant not only beat a strong rival, but overcame editorial opposition of some of the state's strongest newspapers and the election eve endorsement of Carlton by outgoing governor Leroy Collins.

Mikoyan On Vacation

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Foreign Ministry announced Tuesday that First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, whose disappearance from Moscow caused Western speculation that he had fallen into disfavor, actually was on his annual vacation in a Black Sea resort.

Nazi Executioner Held At Secret Site In Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, whose Gestapo wing is reputed to have killed six million Jews in Hitler's Nazi regime, was held under close guard Tuesday at a secret prison. The Israeli government plans to put him on trial for his life.

Reports from Bonn said the West German government would like to try Eichmann and a spokesman there said that in any case Germany will help Israel in preparations for Eichmann's trial.

Bit by bit, the story of the systematic mass killer's long years as a fugitive began coming to light. The Israeli government appeared reluctant to let the whole story emerge now.

The Israeli secret service caught up with the 54-year-old German after a search of 15 years. Premier David Ben-Gurion revealed his capture to Parliament Monday but gave no details. He is believed to have been seized abroad and brought to Israel.

Six months ago Eichmann was reported to have been seen in Kuwait, a Persian Gulf sheikdom, but officials said he was not captured there.

Eichmann was arraigned in a closed court in Jaffa Monday before an Israeli magistrate.

He was told he was charged with causing the deaths of six million Jews and advised he could have a lawyer to defend himself.

The Israeli Parliament abolished the death penalty two years ago except for treason cases and war crimes against the Jewish people.

GOP Too Soft On Soviet, Demo Chairman Says

NEW YORK (AP) —National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler, apparently stung by suggestions that his is a party of appeasement, Tuesday accused the Eisenhower administration of being too soft on the Soviet Union.

Asked in Washington for comment on Butler's assertions, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "Tell him I laughed and said Mr. Butler is the best Democratic national chairman that the Republicans ever had."

Butler contended the Republican administration was taken in by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, let its defenses down and tried to play "footsie with the Russians."

He claimed that in this respect the GOP went further than did the two previous Democratic national administrations of Roosevelt and Truman. The fallacy of the administration thinking, Butler added, was tragically exposed in the collapse of the summit meeting.

In trusting Khrushchev too far, Butler told a news conference at a Democratic convention arrangements meeting, the Eisenhower administration followed "too soft a policy toward Russia in the last two years."

He added that he was not accusing the Republican administration of appeasement, which he defined as a deliberate policy, but rather of an unwitting reliance on the Soviet Communists.

Republicans have used the word appeasement in criticizing Democratic demands for a thorough airing of circumstances surrounding the U2 spy plane crisis and the collapse of the Paris summit meeting.

Butler, in a news conference, urged a tougher policy toward the Soviet Union and added:

"We had too soft a policy toward Russia in the last two years."

Reporters asked if Butler favored a return to a policy of containing the Soviets. Butler replied that he was not a foreign affairs expert and was not advocating a return to any particular policy.

Cool Weather Puts Md. Crops Behind

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Unseasonably cool weather has hindered Maryland crops this season, according to government observers.

The crop reporting service said Tuesday that corn planting is only 65-70 per cent complete compared with 80 per cent at this time last year. Some early planted fields are showing poor stands.

About 10-15 per cent of the soybeans have been planted compared with 20-25 per cent for this date last year.

Weekend rains further delayed field work in most areas.

The bright spot in the state's agriculture picture is the small grains. The government report said prospects there are good to excellent. Pastures also are much improved.

The reindeer was domesticated in the Old World in prehistoric times.

Police Capture Crazed Killer Of Wife, Neighbor

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UPI) — Lloyd Shuffstall, who shot and killed his wife and a neighbor, was captured by State Police Tuesday in a desolate swamp area about 16 miles north of here.

Shuffstall, 52, was taken into custody shortly after 6 p.m. e.d.t. about two miles from his farm home. Police said Shuffstall "showed very little resistance" when he was apprehended. He was armed with a shotgun.

More than 150 police, sheriff deputies and volunteers had been searching for Shuffstall since the shooting. Shuffstall had been released only a week ago from Warren State Hospital where he had been undergoing treatment for a mental condition.

Police said the hunted man had gunned down from ambush Harold DuPont, who lived only a half mile from the Shuffstallls for 17 years. After killing DuPont, the berserk man returned home and killed his wife in her bed, police said.

An official at the state hospital described Shuffstall as a "worrier," but said he had apparently recovered when released May 17 after undergoing treatment for months.

Shuffstall has been scheduled to return Monday to the job he had held for years while also working his rundown farm in the struggle to rear his children, all but two of whom had grown up and left home.

Police said Shuffstall laid a trap for DuPont. Knowing DuPont customarily returned home from his job at an Oil City plant around midnight, Shuffstall blocked the lane leading to the home with logs.

When DuPont stepped from his automobile to remove the blockade, Shuffstall blasted him in the chest with a shot from a heavy gauge shotgun. The slayer then hurried the half - mile to his home, went to the bedroom of his wife, Vera Rose, 47, and shot her to death in sight of two daughters, aged 14 and 7.

Senators Would Honor Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two scientists — Prof. S. F. Singer of Maryland and Prof. J. A. Van Allen of Iowa — would gain special government recognition under a resolution offered Tuesday in the Senate.

Sens. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) and Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) offered the resolution. It would give recognition to the accomplishments of the two scientists in connection with discovery of the Van Allen radiation belt around the earth.

Beall said Van Allen made the discovery of the belt which bears his name and that Singer earlier had advanced the theory of the belt's existence.

"The world scientific community," Beall said, "has recognized the great value of this discovery. The discovery has changed the concept of the radiation environment of the earth, has illuminated the origin of important geophysical phenomena, and also has important implications for manned space flights."

The buckboard wagon was first fashioned for use in the rough, hilly districts of the United States.

Baltimore's Mayor Addresses Lutherans

BALTIMORE (AP)—The leveling and rebuilding of slum areas is not enough in the rejuvenation of a city, Mayor J. Harold Grady said Tuesday.

Grady, addressing the 141st annual Lutheran Synod of Maryland convention, said "What we need along with a face-lifting of the city is a spiritual and moral rejuvenation."

The delegates also are discussing the merger plans for four main church bodies of the Lutheran Church.

Under the plan the Augustana Lutheran Church (Swedish), the Suomi Synod (Finnish Lutheran Church), American Evangelical Lutheran Church (Danish) and the United Lutheran Church in America would merge.

The merged churches would be known as the Lutheran Church in America with a membership of more than 3,500,000.

38 Dead, 23 Still Missing At Hilo

HONOLULU, (AP) — Hilo mourned its 38 dead Tuesday and fearfully waited word on 23 persons still missing. Some were believed carried out to sea Monday by the series of four tidal waves that swamped the port city of Hawaii Island. All the dead and missing were island residents.

Damage estimates soared to 60 million dollars. This would make the disaster the costliest in Hawaii's peacetime history.

Thomas K. Cook, Hawaii County chairman, said, "We need help and we need it badly." He called on islanders to avoid buying extra food for hoarding.

Residents of the shattered city of 26,000 were urged to drink only boiled water.

Many were using candles and lanterns to light their homes.

Rail Dispute Probe Panels Named By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday named members of two emergency boards created to investigate employe disputes with railroad companies.

Creation of the two three-man boards in the last few days has served to block for at least 60 days a threatened strike against the railroads. Under the Railroad Labor Act, the employes must refrain from striking while the boards investigate the disputes.

One of the disputes is between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Transport Workers Union and certain other employes.

As chairman of the board to look into that dispute, Eisenhower named Frank P. Douglass of Pine, Colo., former chairman of the National Mediation Board. The other members are Dr. Paul H. Sanders, professor of law at Vanderbilt University and an arbitrator for more than 10 years, and A. Langley Coffey of Sand Springs, Okla., an arbitrator since 1943.

Arson Trial Defendant Says Owner Suggested Burning Of Plush Lodge

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A statement that Harrison C. Colket suggested the burning of his plush Chesapeake Bay island lodge was introduced Tuesday at the arson trial of the lodge caretaker.

Maryland state police said the statement was taken Jan. 23 from John G. Dolan, 39-year-old defendant charged with starting the fire.

The name of Colket, president of North American Smelting Co., Wilmington, Del., came up earlier in the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Aukland, Dolan's aunt. She said her nephew told her he set the lodge ablaze as part of an arrangement under which Colket was to collect insurance and pay Dolan "a large sum of money."

The statement admitted into evidence by Circuit Judge J. DeWeese Carter said Colket suggested the scheme during a Dec. 10 visit to the island.

"He asked me if I would like to go into business," the Dolan statement said.

"I told him I would. He then asked me if $30,000 would put me in business. I told him 'yes'.

"He then said the price he had to sell for was far under that which he should get, but that the fire insurance covered a greater amount of money, and if I would see that he got his fire insurance he would see that I got my business."

The lodge was destroyed by flames Dec. 29.

The Dolan statement said Colket told him in a telephone call after the Dec. 10 meeting that Jan. 4 was the effective date of a pending sale. The court was told the sale price was $60,000, but the island was sold for $31,000 after destruction of the lodge.

Dolan had served as caretaker at the place for about four years after 13 years of navy service, officials said. He gave his home address as (3249 Englewood St.) Philadelphia, where his aunt also resides.

Bird Fans Soon May Buy Beer At Seats

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore City Park Board has voted to let baseball fans at Memorial Stadium buy beer at their seats instead of going to a concession beneath the stands for it.

The vote of the seven-member board Tuesday was 4-1, with Board President Frank Marino not voting. One member was absent.

The decision still must be approved by the Liquor Board, which has a regular meeting scheduled for Thursday, before it can become law. The Liquor Board has indicated it would abide by the Park Board's decision.

Mayor J. Harold Grady, Council President Philip Goodman and the entire City Council are on record against the move.

Potomac Span Bids Requested

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission Tuesday advertised for bids on a proposed bridge to carry the Capitol Beltway across the Potomac River between Maryland and Virginia.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, said the bids will be opened June 21. Construction is expected to start this summer and be finished in two years.

The Maryland terminus of the double-span, 1,400-foot bridge will be at Cabin John near Glen Echo in Montgomery County. The structure will be known as the Cabin John Bridge.

Each span will be 44 feet wide, capable of carrying four lanes of traffic. Initial plans call for three lanes in each direction.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted a former Kensington, Md. man on a charge of evading payment of $20,929 on joint income tax returns for him and his wife 1954 through 1956 while they lived in this state.

The defendant, Lloyd Klenert, 47, is now living in Hollywood, Fla. The indictment noted that he had legally changed his name to Lloyd Roberts.

Klenert resigned in October, 1957, as secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers of America following his appearance before the Senate Antirackets Committee.

James T. Montague of Tom's River, N. J. said the Negro men approached him as he walked back to his car after mailing a letter at a mail box in Oxford.

One pulled a knife and threatened him. They forced him to drive to Darlington, Md., on U.S. 1 where they made him stop, took his money, the ignition keys and got into a car which had been following them.

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — A Harford County man died in the flaming wreckage of his car Tuesday. A passenger with him escaped without injury.

State Police identified the victim as Benjamin Stewart, 49, of Forest Hill, Md. The accident happened on the Pleasantville Road about two miles north of Maryland 152.

Officers said Stewart apparently lost control of the car and it ran off the road, struck a tree and burst into flames. The passenger was Isabelle Ruff, 41, also of Forest Hill.

Bank Robbery Suspect Seized

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 51-year-old former manager of a Baltimore chemical company was charged Tuesday with the $19,000 robbery of a suburban bank more than a year ago.

Robert R. Shively, a native of Greensburg, Pa., was held under $20,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner H. Allen Mezger for the May 18, 1959, holdup of the Parkville branch of the Equitable Trust Co.

The short, mild-mannered Shively had been employed until several weeks ago as manager of the Liedy Chemical Co. in Baltimore, the FBI said. He has resided in the Baltimore area for about 12 years and previously was a civilian employe of the Army's Edgewood Chemical Center.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said FBI agents and Baltimore County police arrested Shively Tuesday.

Kelly said Shively had maintained two residences in Baltimore.

The FBI said Shively had no criminal record.

Montgomery Co. Plans Schools Of New Design

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Board of Education has approved a new approach to school architecture and a stepped-up mathematics program for the seventh and eighth grades.

The new architectural program calls for use of present school plans in some instances and entirely new designs in others. Decisions will depend mostly on terrain.

Architects for six new elementary schools were approved by the board last night. Four will be built according to plans used previously. Two will be all new.

"In those occasions where we have to design new schools," board member Harold S. Briemyer said, "we want really to search out the latest progress and experience in designing for effective instruction."

Construction of the new design schools should start in 15 months. Work on the other four should start soon.

Board officials said the revamped mathematics program is designed "to help meet the needs of youth in the space age."

Under the program, all students will be given more material in algebra and geometry at a faster rate. The brighter students then could take basic work in analytical geometry, calculus and statistics in their last year.

Club Studies Hymn

The history of the hymn, "Lead Us O Father in the Path of Peace," was given by Miss Mabel Twigg at the meeting of the Oldtown Homemakers Club, held in the school cafeteria, with Mrs. Minnie Miller presiding. She explained that the hymn was written by William Henry Burleigh, who was born in Woodstock, Conn. His boyhood was filled with hours of hard labor and he had little schooling. He became a great orator and a man of striking appearance. This hymn is a "prayer for peace." Henry Burleigh was a distinguished choral conductor in England and was knighted in 1892.

The group repeated the Homemakers Creed. Roll call was given by each telling "How I Make Washday Easier." Routine reports were given by Mrs. Margaret Carder and Mrs. Rose Lewis. A talk on "Foodway to Follow" and "Facts on Foods" was given by Mrs. Miller. A contest on "Who Knows Which Are Facts and Fallacies" was given and Mrs. Carder and Mrs. Lewis had highest scores.

It was reported that during a County Council meeting, Oldtown Homemakers Club was selected to send a member to Short Course. As the club could not send a member, Pleasant Valley will be represented. Mrs. Miller reported on cards sent to the sick.

The next meeting will be June 16 at the home of Mrs. Elaine Santymire with Mrs. Evelyn Twigg and Mrs. Callie Jenry cohostesses. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lillian Confer and Mrs. Lewis. There were 10 members present and Kenneth Haugh was a guest.

Cowboy Of Yesteryear Rapidly Growing Extinct

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — What was so special about the old time cowboy?

That question was put to Texas ranchers by the State Memorial Museum recently. One answered.

To keep alive fact rather than fancy surrounding the American cowboy, the museum is putting together a series of public exhibits. Such tools of the cowboy's trade as saddles, bridles, bits, spurs, branding irons and other equipment will be displayed.

"It was his occupation and not his character that standardized the cowboy," said W. W. Newcomb Jr., editor of the museum's magazine.

"His work was remote, sometimes dangerous, often solitary, and consequently, ideal fodder for romantics," Newcomb said.

Newcomb contends the real life cowboy—"trailing along in a fog of dust behind 100 slow-moving drags" — could hardly be called exciting.

And despite efforts of movies and television to keep alive the exploits of these wandering heroes, the fact remains that the cowboy of yesteryear almost has become extinct.

No longer do the riders of the open plains drive large herds of Longhorns north along the famous trails to markets where the going price for a steer was $40, compared with the $6 a head paid in Texas.

There still are a great many men who work cows, but their heyday faded with the turn of the century, according to Newcomb.

"In fact," he said, "the golden age of cow punching lasted little more than 50 years."

"It was brought on," he explained, "by the vast herds of Longhorn cattle that had grown up wild in Texas and were there for enterprising men to round up and burn brands on."

The Longhorns were a strain of Spanish cattle first brought to this continent by the conquistadores in 1521. The herds grew fast on Texas' vast open prairies, but the first big cattle fortunes were not made until the Civil War.

"As the Texas cowboys went up the trails," Newcomb said, "they carried their traditions with them. They had learned to rope, brand and herd cattle, and borrowed their clothing from the Mexican vaqueros — and they passed all of these on to the whole West.

Turnbull Appointed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Monday appointed John Grason Turnbull, former majority floor leader of the Maryland Senate, to the 3rd Judicial Circuit bench in Baltimore and Harford counties.

Turnbull, a 51-year-old Towson attorney, succeeds Judge John B. Gontrum who retired April 1. He will serve by appointment until the general election of 1962, when he will be eligible to stand for election to a 15-year term.

USO Planning Off-Post Clubs On Lonely Isles

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly 1,250,000 American servicemen are now stationed overseas. Some of them are lucky: They have their families with them, or they are assigned to bases near Western European cities where recreational opportunities abound.

But a great many are single or separated from their families. And they are serving at out-of-the-way defense posts where there's nothing to do on Saturday night except stay on the base—or visit the nearby honky-tonk town with its brawling beer joints and seedy prostitutes.

Military authorities have long recognized that this situation is a serious threat to the morale and morals of servicemen.

Now, at last, something is being done about it.

At the request of top defense officials, and with President Eisenhower's personal blessing, United Service Organizations (USO) has launched a campaign to raise $2,125,000 in private contributions to build off-post social clubs for U.S. military personnel in Alaska, Korea, Guam, Okinawa, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

These are the places where the need for decent off-base recreational facilities is most urgent.

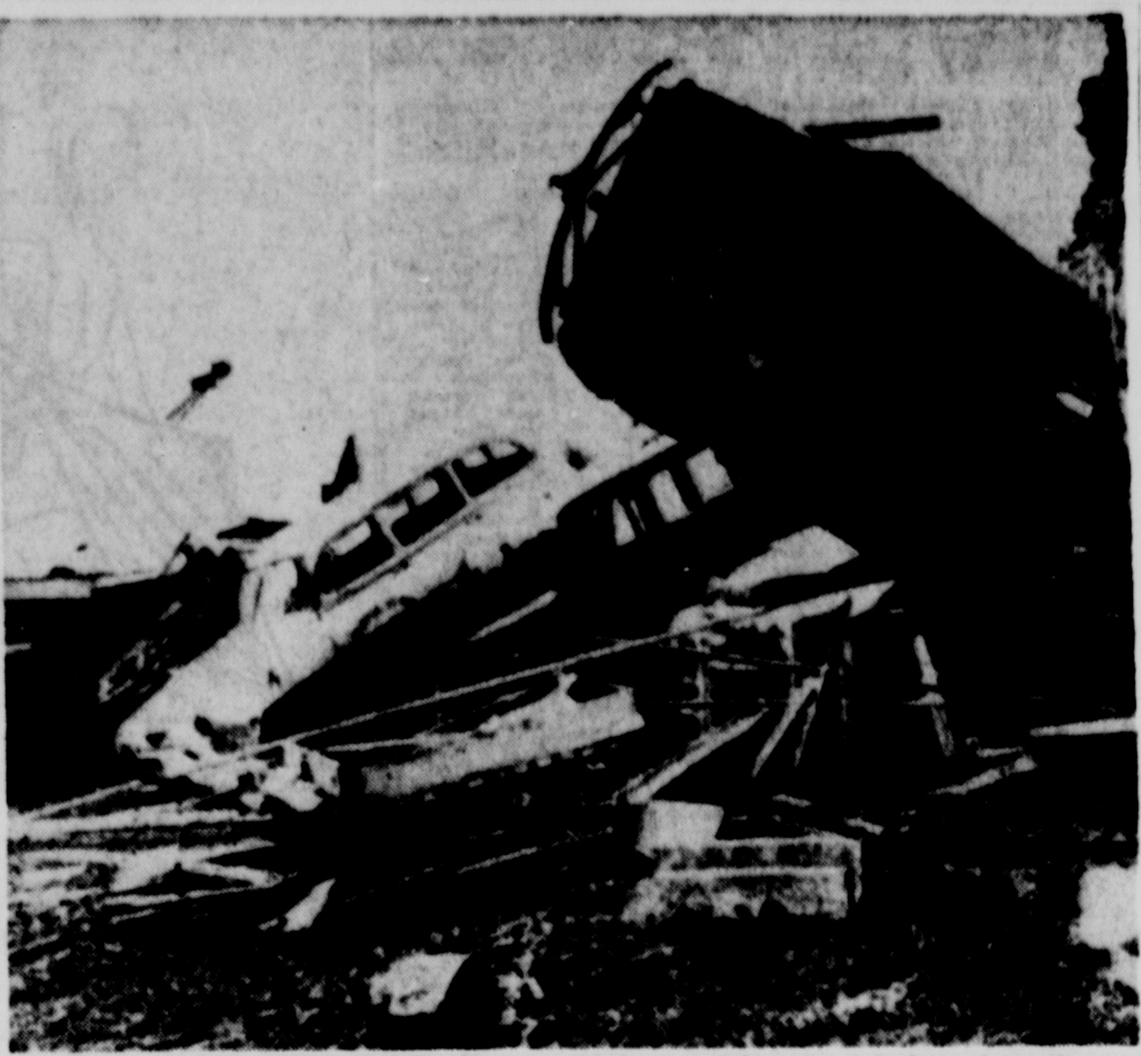
Take Okinawa for example. More than 40,000 U.S. soldiers, airmen and Marines are stationed on that lonely Pacific island. The armed services have provided them with excellent on-base social centers. But a GI feels like he's in jail unless he can get off the base occasionally. His need for a night in town becomes almost a compulsion after he's spent several weekends on the base.

On Okinawa, he has one town—Naha—to visit. It teems with Okinawans who don't like GI's very much. It also boasts some of the toughest dives in the Far East and in the words of one military chaplain, "a very ample supply of prostitutes."

At present there is only a token USO facility on Okinawa. The current fund drive will make possible the construction of two large service clubs, equipped with dance halls, snack bars, lounges, ping pong and pool tables, music rooms and reading rooms.

This is the first time in its 20-year history that USO has conducted a capital funds campaign. In the past, it has relied on makeshift facilities like quonset huts, or rented quarters. The decision to invest in permanent buildings of its own reflects a conviction expressed by Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates: "The service rendered by the USO is at least as important during times of peace as it is during a period of actual war."

USO was organized in 1940 as a joint undertaking of the YMCA, YWCA, National Catholic Community Service, National Jewish Welfare Board, the Salvation Army and the Travelers Aid Association. Its operating budget of about $7,000,000 a year is supplied mainly through community chest and united fund drives in 1,500 communities.



IN WAKE OF HILO TIDAL WAVES—These upended automobiles were left dumped together in this fashion by four huge tidal waves that pounded the port area of Hilo, second largest city in the Hawaiian Islands. Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—"If I wanted to run for office in Kyoto, Japan, I'll bet I'd be elected."

That's a Yankee-doodle damsel, Mrs. Milton S. Katz, speaking. The Hinsdale, Mass., housewife just returned from a two-week visit with her pen-pal in Kyoto, Mrs. Suzue Matsubara.

"I was supposed to spend the time around the hearth," Mrs. Katz said in an interview, "but instead I got the red carpet treatment — you know, celebrity handling.

"Every time I poked my nose out of the house, a battery of reporters and photographers engulfed me—firing away with the questions about American life.

"The papers were so full of pictures of me—and my quotes—that it got so I couldn't walk down a Kyoto street without having someone call my name."

Mrs. Katz's trip was a prize awarded for winning an essay contest sponsored by Letters Abroad Inc., the letter-writing phase of President Eisenhower's people-to-people program.

It was through letters abroad that Mrs. Katz became a pen pal of Mrs. Matsubara. The pen-sealed kinship between the Japanese housewife and Mrs. Katz is one of 250,000 arranged by Letters Abroad between American adults and persons with similar interests around the world.

Mrs. Katz managed her magnificent impression in Kyoto under certain handicaps. She does not speak Japanese. Nor was she prepared for the customs—living in a Japanese home, eating Japanese food and sleeping on a mat on the floor at night.

"The first time around," she said, "I handled the chopsticks in a clumsy manner. You would have thought they were crow bars to watch me. But after a while, I couldn't be told from the natives."

Mrs. Katz said that families in Kyoto are much like families everywhere. They are caught up in the struggle for health, education and the other necessities of life.

Purpose Defeated

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—A new superhighway was opened over the weekend to bypass the Copenhagen suburb of Lyngby and eliminate a major traffic bottleneck. The opening result was chaos.

Japanese Scale Peak

TOFYO (AP) — A Japanese team has scaled 23,399-foot Mt. Api in the Himalayas of Nepal, says its leader, Yasusuke Tsuda, in a report to sponsors of the expedition. An Italian expedition reported in 1954 it had climbed the peak.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market is preparing for a soundly based advance, a financial analyst predicted Monday.

"The promise of improved industrial activity over the best part of the year ahead reinforces this conviction," said the Fitch Survey.

Fitch cited such domestic developments as an anticipated increase in defense spending; possibility that the Federal Reserve System will reduce margin requirements for buying stock from 90 per cent to 70 or even 50 per cent; and generally favorable prospects for good business.

"We suggest that the investor discard any remaining cynicism and adopt a more constructive attitude," Fitch said. "A new phase in the stock market's profitable panorama is obviously unfolding."

Standard & Poor's Corp. said it expects the market rally to continue although it may run into occasional storms.

The firm anticipates that heightening of cold war pressures will sustain speculative interest in a number of stock groups that have been "out of favor and acting as depressants to the general list."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Bill Holden, whose international travels help support the world airlines, planes in from Hong Kong today for some quick huddles with his agent Charlie Feldman—the most important being closing the deal for Bill to star in "The Wingate Story" in England. It figures this war story, which Sidney Buchman will produce for 20th release, would be made abroad because this is all Bill is accepting these days.

With his family settled in Switzerland—also his money—he's completely enamored with life in Europe. All his upcoming movies are being filmed abroad including his next for Perlberg-Seaton, "Counterfeit Traitor" starting in Berlin June 7th. Before this, Bill had a long run ferrying back and forth between Hong Kong and London on "World of Suzie Wong."

A very tempting offer has been made to Carol Heiss, American Olympics skating champion for 1961 by 20th Century-Fox, but so far she hasn't accepted. The reason she is debating the offer is that she and her husband Hayes Allen Jenkins, who was 1956 Olympics figure skating champion and holds more world figure skating championships than any other man, do not want to turn pro.

20th has all those delightful Sonja Henie movies, some of the wonderful stories Sonja made with Tyrone Power when she first came to this country, and that's the idea back of the offer. So far Carol hasn't accepted, but the studio is still hoping.

Any casting on "The Big Bankroll" interests me because I so enjoyed Leo Katcher's book on the life of Arnold Rothstein. The girl now set to play the ladylike, retiring wife of the big shot gambler is Zohra Lambert who recently finished "Pay or Die" with Ernie Borgnine. Allied Artists has lifted Zohra's option for four more movies.

Richard Widmark has been reading the part of Rothstein—and he wants to do it. But he has a commitment in Vienna to star in "The Secret Ways" starting in July—and if the writers strike holds up production much longer on "Big Bankroll" he can't accept—unless Allied Artists is willing to wait for him.

An amusing conversation between Barney Ruditsky, former well known New York police figure and now co-producer of the TV series "The Lawless Years", and Orry Kelly took place at MGM. Orry, who is designing Gina Lollobrigida's wardrobe for "Lady L" has known Barney for 20 years and it wasn't until the two of them had lunch at the studio commissary that Orry confessed that in the days when Barney was most active in knocking over offenders against prohibition, he was running a speakeasy in the very spot where Radio City now stands in New York.

Barney told Orry that he is marrying pretty blonde Kay Neaman, MGM commissary cashier, the last Saturday in October.

Opening lead: Six of ♥

East's foresight in guarding so unimpressive a holding as 8-6-2 of clubs permitted his side to defeat a four spade contract today which declarer had been well on his way toward bringing home.

Having no attractive opening, West chose to lead the doubleton heart and struck oil. East cashed the ace and king and permitted partner to ruff the third round. West exited with a trump, and declarer pulled the remaining spade.

On the surface it would appear that declarer's hope to fulfill contract rested with the club finesse. However, South chose to play West for the queen of clubs as well as the king of diamonds. He had already learned that East held a A-K-J of hearts and the queen of spades had passed as opener, declarer decided not to play him for any more high cards. True enough, the addition of the queen of clubs to the East hand would not necessarily have induced him to bid, but there was a further consideration. When West ruffled the third round of hearts, he got out with a trump rather than a club. Refusal to lead clubs made it somewhat more likely that he held something in the suit.

Declarer cashed his ace of diamonds and the good heart and proceeded to run all the trumps, reducing the North hand to A-7-4 of clubs and his own hand to the K-J of clubs and the queen of diamonds. At this point, in order to hold the king of diamonds, West was obliged to let go a club. Had East let go one of his clubs, dummy's three clubs would then have become high. Instead, however, he decided to let go his diamonds, knowing from the discards that his partner held on to the king. By retaining his three clubs he was able to cover the dummy's seven of clubs in the end and prevent the squeeze against his partner.

A swimsuit must be feminine AND flattering!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In The Swim

This year, Neptune's daughter will wear a swim suit that's short, sweet and brief.

But if you have not been faithful to the figure-shaping exercises recommended by this column and have some doubts about your ability to do justice to the scant, form-hugging maillot, don't worry. You can still get into the swim down at the beach in most attractive fashion. There are dozens of other suits that are just as new and as smart as the pocket-sized editions.

Just be sure you settle for nothing less than a suit that reveals your best figure points and minimizes those of which you are less than proud.

Maybe your shoulders are beautiful as alabaster and you carry yourself magnificently but you'd like to keep attention away from your hips. A strapless one-piece suit with elasticized top will be perfect for you. Designed with pleated skirts or slim tunic drapings, these suits are the last word in fashion. With them you can achieve a smooth hipline and great chic at the same time.

If thigh heaviness makes you swim-suit shy but you can boast a trim waistline, place your bets on the dressmaker suit and have it fitted as slick as your best frock. Or, try a suit with wide straps, low, low back and sleek front. Suits with the "little boy" shorts treatment also minimize thighs. Stay away from the princess line or hip ruffles and shirring, and you can't go wrong. And take advantage in the choice of your beach accessories that this really feminine type of suit permits. Ensemble your robe, sandals and beach bag with an eye to picking up the most becoming color in the suit if it is printed or to contrast sharply by a fashionable print if the suit is monotone. If you do it right, you can take an important place in the sun!

Fashion notes: Nylon, cotton, wool knits, and elasticized fabrics of all kinds: wrinkle - shedding and permanent finishes; tartans, prints — eastern, Hawaiian, silk; appliques and monotones; pastels, white and bright, clear colors.

TOMORROW: Baby Fat.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I used to read your column for jokes but now I find myself turning to you for help. I'm sure some of your readers will bust their sides laughing at my problem, but it's not funny.

It all started when I used to needle my wife about how easy she had it with nothing to do but watching TV, reading, making a couple of meals, fixing the bed and playing with our two kids.

I must have overdone it because when I was laid off last month my wife made me a proposition — she'd go back to work at her old job if I'd take over at home. It seemed like a gag and I took her up on it for laughs.

Now I'm at my wit's end. The kids are driving me insane. I've given up trying to do the laundry — everything goes out. Even so there's not enough time to get groceries in the house, cook and clean. I don't know how she did it.

I haven't read a book or seen TV in three weeks. After the kids are in bed I fall asleep in the chair.

My wife says she feels like she's on a vacation. I'm supposed to go back to work next week but she says she likes it the way it is. So, Ann Landers, what do I do now? —BEAT

(P. S. How do you get bubble-gum out of kids' hair?)

DEAR BEAT: Get on your knees, Bub, and tell your ever-lovin' you've had it, and you'll never open your mouth again.

Tell her if you can't find a suitable medal you'll dip yourself in bronze and make a public presentation. In short, eat a large portion of humble pie and go back to work.

(P. S. If cleaning fluid doesn't work, try the scissors.)

DEAR ANN: I'm a 13-year-old boy who has REAL trouble. There are four generations living under this roof — myself, my mother and father, my grandmother and my great-grandmother.

All the women want to cook in the kitchen and be boss. My grandmother is 69 and treats my mother as if she were four. Great-Granny is 87 and her memory isn't very good. She thinks my mother is my Aunt Lulu who died 10 years ago.

My mother is modern but HER mother is always yelling that I should wear long underwear and take sulphur and molasses and junk like that. She's also very tight about electricity. She thinks I shouldn't read at night because it uses too much juice.

There's a lot of friction in our house. Please tell me what to do —DINTY

DEAR DINTY: Your mother is your boss. Do as she says but be respectful to the others.

DEAR ANN: I was married briefly to a 24-carat creep. His family is prominent in this city and the name is well known. I dislike being identified with him or his people. This is almost impossible because I am Mrs. — until I remarry, if I ever do.

I find myself saying repeatedly "I'm not married to Harvey any longer." This is clumsy and it makes me uncomfortable. What do you suggest I do to smooth over the embarrassment? —STUCK WITH A RITZY NAME

DEAR STUCK: The alternative is so obvious I'm surprised you didn't hit on it. Go to court and get your maiden name back.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Baltimore Police To Pick Up Bad Check Artist Here

Baltimore Police yesterday indicated they will arrive in Cumberland today to pick up a former Los Angeles man being held here for passing several bad checks.

Cumberland police said Robert Larry Mapes, 32, of Baltimore was arrested here Sunday and is being held for the Baltimore authorities on a charge of larceny after trust.

Checks drawn on the Bank of America in Los Angeles for two automobiles bounced and also ended in Mapes' flight from Baltimore.

Mapes, who came east from Los Angeles in March and worked as a griddle man in a Baltimore restaurant, passed a bad check on the Los Angeles bank when he purchased a 1955 auto in Baltimore.

Police said after he ditched the car on Monument Street, he "bought" another car with a bad check and headed west with a woman friend for Las Vegas where she was to get a divorce.

However, the flight ended on Washington Streeet Sunday night when the woman called for police.

Some Fruit Damaged By Hail Storm

The storm was widespread but the hail was localized, with the Levels section of Hampshire County, where much fruit is grown, receiving the worst in this area.

Next in relation to damage was Irons Mountain and Martins Mountain, where Consolidated Orchards Company has extensive holdings.

The Levels area was the only place in which the damage was considered severe. The Allegany County orchards received only light damage.

Edwin Gould, entomologist at the West Virginia University experimental farm at Kearneysville in Jefferson county, said while the hail caused much harm to a high percentage of the fruit, there is good possibility much of the crop can be salvaged.

At Levels, peaches, which have not been thinned, are heavy on the trees and therefore the hail is not expected to cut that crop to any extent.

The more popular varieties of apples, the Delicious and Stayman Winesap, are not having a heavy yield this year and the hail will cut the revenue expected from those varieties.

The Yorks and Rambo apples at Levels would have had a heavy crop this year and hail damage will cut their market value.

Henry L. Miller Jr., president of Consolidated Orchards, said its holdings in Morgan and Hampshire counties were not affected by the hail.

In speaking of the effects of the storm on Martins and Irons mountains, Miller said his firm can hand thin much of the damaged fruit from the trees. He said the regular thinning has not been started and the damaged fruit can be removed when it does.

The hail came with little wind, Miller reported. However, if it would hail two months from now, the fruit would be larger and the damage more extensive.

Food Plan In County Discontinued

A discussion was held yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with William J. Brugger, supervisor of the donable foods program for the state, concerning the county's announced plan of dropping the distribution of surplus federal food after the June allotment.

Brugger presented each commissioner with a listing of the amounts of food distributed and also the wholesale cost of the food. The value of the food given out in the past year was $115,582.

Brugger said savings in the program could be obtained by having a special postal rate for mailing out various notices and forms to persons receiving the food and using a cheaper storage plan.

Commissioner John J. Rowan told Brugger that since the announcement at the end of the program the board had not received any complaints on the matter. He said the cost of the food distribution and type of food being allotted were two factors in the decision to end the program.

Another matter was the discovery that some of the food had been discarded by persons receiving it at the various distribution points. Not too many people were making use of the food as during the past month only 1,000 families obtained the food while 1,700 families were eligible.

The surplus food being distributed consists of flour, dried milk, dried eggs, rice, cornmeal and lard. Brugger said a workshop could be set up to show the proper methods of preparing the foods.

Brugger also said the office of Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the program for Allegany County, has 13 sheets of paper with the names of persons who would like to have the program continued.

Rowan inquired as to the origin of the lists. Brugger said he understood the lists were at the surplus food office and applicants for the food there were told they could sign them if they wanted the program to continue.

Bid Accepted By County

The bid of the Burroughs Corporation to furnish three validating and receipting machines for the county tax office for $3,077.40 was accepted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The only other bid was that of Mel's Cash Register, a local concern, to furnish the machines for $1,287 each. The machines are of Swedish manufacture and delivery could not be made until 10 or 12 weeks, according to the bid.

The Burroughs firm will deliver the three machines by June 1.

One bidder from Hagerstown came into the office at 10:45 a. m. to present a bid but Leslie J. Clark, board attorney, said the official opening of the bids was advertised for 10:30 a. m. and the bid could not be received.

The Hagerstown man said he had thought this county was on Standard Time.

The county tax collector's office is being equipped with many office machines to handle the annual tax collecting job more efficiently and quickly.

Pools In Area Open Season On Holiday

Local and area swimming pools and spas are preparing to open over the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

Pools opening here over the weekend are Constitution Park, Celanese, Minke's and Cumberland Country Club.

Garrett County will open its recreational facilities and Shawnee State Park near Manns Choice, Pa., also will begin its season.

C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, said Constitution Park pool will be open Sunday from 1 to 9 p. m. and Monday from noon to 9 p. m. The pool will be open only on weekends until June 11, the day after schools in the county begin summer vacation.

The pool has been sand blasted and painted in medium blue along the sides and at the 10-foot end, Mason said.

Celanese pool plans to open Saturday; Minke's Sunday, weather permitting; and the Country Club Monday.

In Garrett County, William H. Johnson, assistant state forester, said last-minute preparations are being made for thousands of people over the weekend.

Lifeguards to be on duty at swimming facilities in four recreation areas have been named.

On duty at New Germany will be Victor Reuschlein, of LaVale, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College; James McKenzie, graduate of Northern High School in Garrett County, and Fred Sammel city, a student at Carnegie Tech.

Dorris Updyke, student at Southern High, Richard Ouster, graduate of Flintstone High, and Morris Brookhart, student at Southern, will be on duty at Herrington Manor.

At Deep Creek Lake State Park, John Foreman, of Southern High; David Hersheiser, Fort Hill High student; and David Stone, LaVale, Potomac State student, will assume responsibilities of lifeguard.

Guards at Swallow Falls will be John Updyke, University of Maryland student; William O. Johnson, city, student at Potomac State.

The guards, Johnson said, will work an eight hour day and will be given a 10-minute rest period each hour.

On Saturday and Sunday and holidays efforts will be made to have three guards on duty to keep an eye on swimmers.

In Pennsylvania, Shawnee State Park will open its 10th season Saturday. A passenger boat that will take visitors on a tour of the lake tops the list of new features.

Ralph Benna, park superintendent, announced Thursday that rowboats will be owned and rented this year by Andy Stocklas of Cairnbrook, through a lease agreement with the state. This is the first time in the park's history that the state has not rented boats.

The lease also calls for Stocklas to operate the passenger boat and conduct a tour of points of interest around the lake. The boat will carry 20 passengers and make 30-minute trips.

It was also disclosed that Roy E. Lohr of Schellsburg will operate the refreshment concession this season. Lohr is well known in the area as a collector of Indian relics which he has acquired in Pennsylvania and West Virginia over the last 20 years.

The swimming pool of Chalybeate, Bedford, will open Memorial Day, as well as the outside refreshment stand. Owner Thomas Burtnett said that he was anticipating a big opening day at the resort.

Bids Are Sought

The General Services Administration Washington, will take bids for repairs of the elevator in the Cumberland Post Office on Tuesday, June 7, at 2 p. m.

Board Discusses LaVale Sewage Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday discussed the proper procedure in handling requests for sewage and water systems in communities in the area.

Officials of the State Department of Health met with the board yesterday along with William Walsh, attorney for an Ellerslie group, to discuss the problem.

The Ellerslie group wants a water supply system as a survey showed many wells in that community were contaminated.

LaVale area residents are interested in a sewage plan while a number of other sections either have a problem or will have one in the near future, according to the county board.

It was decided to let the recently named County Planning Commission go over the entire matter before any decision was made on the procedures which should be followed.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, said the mechanics of the plan selected can be worked out after the Planning Commission sets up a program.

Commissioner John T. Mason suggested that the Planning Commission hear the various groups and then seek a solution. One plan is to employ a firm of consulting engineers to study the entire problem of county planning.

Selection of a countywide sanitary commission was also suggested by Commissioner John J. Rowan. The problem should be tackled on a county-wide basis, Rowan said, as the piecemeal method is not satisfactory.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said something should be done as soon as possible for Ellerslie as it has an acute problem.

The State Health Department officials told the commissioners they would be willing to lend any assistance possible in the program set up by the county board.

The board also received a query from the representative of a national firm which handles billboard advertising concerning any action taken by the County Planning Commission on the billboards.

Commissioner Mason said the Planning Commission will not get into zoning for 18 months to two years from now.

Centenary Church Program Tomorrow

The Sunday School of Centenary Methodist Church, on Bedford Road near the state line, will sponsor a May Day Festival Friday at 5 p. m.

A program is scheduled for 7 p. m. featuring the May Queen, Linda Brant, and her court. Attendants are Cheryl Growden, and Nora Gillum, intermediate department; Cindy Dougherty and Ann Brant, junior department, and Patricia Growden and Carol Growden, primary department. Christine Growden will be crown bearer.

Urban Renewal To Be Stressed At Conference

"Urban Renewal for Maryland Cities" will be the theme of the 12th annual conference of the Maryland Municipal League in Ocean City, June 19-21.

Other top speakers will be Ben T. Perry, special assistant to the administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Richard Steiner, executive director of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

Mr. Perry will speak on the "Workable Program" of the federal agency and Mr. Steiner will discuss the opportunity of smaller communities to participate in the Urban Renewal program.

The conference will open Monday morning, June 20, with a panel section on codes and their enforcement, dealing chiefly with housing, building and plumbing codes.

The afternoon session will feature planning for community development. Experienced state and municipal officials will give examples of steps municipalities should take in planning sound communities.

Roundtable discussions are scheduled at the Tuesday morning session for clerks, treasurers, attorneys and councilmen, prior to Governor Tawes' address.

The annual luncheon will be held Tuesday at noon and the afternoon session will feature a discussion on state legislation of concern to municipalities.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who is a vice president, will attend the convention and a number of City Hall staffers plan to attend one or more sessions.

The former local man is a graduate of Allegany High School, Dickinson College and holds a master's degree in history from the University of Maryland. He is an intelligence analyst, a former history teacher at Greenbelt High School and veteran of two years' military service during World War II. took place last June at Quantico, Va.

At that meeting, said Mr. Pearson, those charged with the national defense concluded that in the event of another Berlin blockade the U. S. would be in a poor position to meet force with force. The decision to attend the summit meeting resulted from this conclusion.

The meeting failed, he said, entirely because of the U-2 incident, as Premier Khrushchev wanted the summit meeting and would not have wrecked it had not the U-2 incident forced him to do so.

Pressures On "Mr. K"

Mr. Pearson said the "spy plane" incident caused Khrushchev to feel pressure from three sources—Red China, which doesn't want to see an end to the cold war; the Red Army, which dislikes talk of disarmament; and the Stalinist clique in the Kremlin, which probably believes Khrushchev has been too easy with the West anyway.

In answer to a question, Mr. Pearson said he thinks the next world crisis will be precipitated in the Formosa Straits by the Red Chinese.

Mr. Pearson was introduced by Miles G. Thompson Jr., president of the Rotary Club of Cumberland, which was host for the intercity Rotary Ann night.

Heigh-Ho And Up She Goes!

Those earnest market analysts who worship at the shrine of the late Charles H. Dow are now looking for the Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks to test the "resistance level" of 625-630, when only a scant week ago they were looking for the list to "test the March lows" of around 590. This may sound like gibberish, but what it means is that people think that stocks may continue to go up in price who a week ago thought they were going down.

The famous Dow Theory is named for the first editor of the Wall Street Journal — and co-founder of Dow, Jones & Co. — who in the 1890s outlined certain trail-blazing ideas about stock market forecasting. His successor and close friend, William P. Hamilton, organized these concepts into what he called the Dow Theory.

In its simplest form, the Theory holds that the average price of a representative group of stocks, once having set a definite pattern, will persist in that pattern until certain "reversal signals" appear on the chart or graph of the index. Market analysts have developed numerous variations, refinements, corollaries, and extensions of that basic concept.

In the present condition of the market, should the index, as was expected a week ago, have fallen below the March lows, that would have been in the general consensus a "sell signal" indicating that the market was going to get even more bearish. Now, a break through the 625-630 "resistance level" would probably be a "buy signal."

The Size Of Espionage

In his 1950 report, J. Edgar Hoover said:

"In 1947 we received 798 espionage matters. In 1948 we received 1,227, and in 1949, 1,939, while in 1950 we had 3,523."

In his 1959 report, Hoover said:

"Despite the Soviet Russian peace front the activities of the Communist-bloc intelligence services have continued down to the present time. Evaluation of investigative developments during the past year has shown that the current Red leadership has no intention of relaxing its efforts, and that the increasing pressure of foreign-directed espionage networks will continue indefinitely. Our investigative countermeasures have also provided us with a means of estimating the degree of Soviet-satellite intelligence activities being conducted in the United States under the guise of diplomatic status."

In the same report, Hoover stated:

"As part of the Abel case, Hayhanen related to the FBI that one of his assignments was to deliver $5,000 to Helen Sobell, wife of Morton Sobell, convicted member of the Julius Rosenberg espionage network, as a reward for Sobell's silence. Sobell, it will be recalled, never confessed and extensive efforts have been made by the Communists in an effort to free him.

"The task of the delivery of the money to Mrs. Sobell had been given originally to Abel who, through fear of exposure as a result of FBI coverage of Helen Sobell, buried the money in two caches in Bear Mountain State Park in New York. Subsequently, on instructions from Abel, Hayhanen dug up the money for delivery to Helen Sobell. However, he did not make this delivery but instead appropriated the funds for his own use . . ."

Hoover also said in this report:

"Because of the nature of our counterespionage and intelligence work, its effectiveness cannot necessarily be measured in terms of convictions secured or sentences imposed. Prosecutions are no measure of success in counterespionage and intelligence activities. Foreign intelligence personnel are often protected by diplomatic immunity and are quick to exploit our constitutional guarantees. Often, disclosure of their activities through public trial would compromise highly classified information . . ."

For his 1960 appropriation, J. Edgar Hoover reported:

"Despite Soviet advocacy of an ostensible 'Peace Front,' there has been no letup in Red subversion. To the contrary, the Soviet Union's much heralded 'peaceful coexistence' campaign has opened the door for foreign-directed espionage on an accelerated scale.

"To the Soviets, this slogan is merely a tactical expedient clearly designed to expand international Communism's capabilities for espionage and subversion. Experience has taught the bitter truth that never should we be more alert than when Communist powers cloak their drive for world domination behind appeasement policies.

"Our investigations have clearly disclosed an overall expansion of Soviet bloc intelligence activities against the United States. There has been a predominantly widespread use of 'legal' agents operating under the guise of diplomatic status. There are indications, further, of a general tightening-up of the organizational structure of the Soviet intelligence apparatus. There can be little doubt that this increasing pressure of foreign-directed espionage activity will continue with added emphasis for an indefinite future period."

"Fraudulent passports have, traditionally, been standard equipment for spies and subversives. Though we have been confronted with this deception for many years, the problem today has become even more difficult . . .

"Top Party functionaries have stated that it will now be 'easy' for the party. What was meant, of course, was that (the Supreme Court) ruling will facilitate the travel of spies, couriers, and subversives. The next time a representative of the Communist Party is summoned to the Soviet Union, he will not even have to go to the trouble of using an alias.

"The Party has lost no time in capitalizing upon the ease with which passports may now be obtained. A steady stream of Party people, including such long-time functionaries as Alexander Trachtenberg, James Jackson, George Morris, and Victor J. Jerome, applied for and received passports for travel to the Soviet Union. Obviously individuals of this type are not going to Russia for vacation purposes."

These passports are sometimes used by unauthorized persons in other countries. They are also handed over to Russians, Poles, Czechs, Hungarians and other spies for use in neutral countries.

Bachelor Sam Rayburn Battles For Better Schools For U.S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—With the USA still smarting from the humiliation of Paris, the House of Representatives starts grappling with a less publicized, but perhaps deeper, humiliation—our educational lag compared to Communist Russia.

What the House starts debating is an education bill which would vote $975,000,000 for school construction. Already the bill has seen some of the bitterest backstage battling of the year, and it will see more—including a controversy over Catholic schools —before the debate is over.

Here is the lineup of the pushers and pullers-back which the education bill faces:

The pushers are: Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who has no children but is determined that the United States shall not lag behind Russia in education; together with Democratic Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey and Lee Metcalf of Montana.

Puller-back No. 2: Is President Eisenhower, who has threatened a veto of the bill. His Republican leaders and many Republican Congressmen will vote against it.

Puller-back No. 3: Is Congressman Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee, Democrat, who wants a school bill passed but wants to provide funds for Catholic schools. His proposal would probably torpedo the bill because many Republicans would support it, then turn around and use it as an excuse for voting against education altogether.

Representative Thompson, co-author of the bill and himself a Catholic, has done his best to persuade Zablocki not to risk defeating the education bill with his parochial school proposal. Most Catholics in the House are also against Zablocki, and for a time he held up his bill. However, he now plans to introduce it on the House floor.

Mr. Sam Warns

Here is some of the backstage battling necessary to finally pry the education bill out of the recalcitrant rules committee so the entire House of Representatives could vote on it.

"You'd better get busy and grant a rule for this bill," 78-year-old Sam Rayburn warned Chairman Smith. "It's been delayed too long in your committee. If you don't, the House will take it up anyway under the Calendar Wednesday procedure. The members have every right to vote on this legislation and I intend to see that they do."

Despite Mr. Sam's blunt warning, the gentleman from Virginia held back. Adroitly he tried to maneuver the Catholic school issue into the picture.

"I'm still opposed to the legislation and do not think we should give it a rule," Smith told the Rules Committee. "However, regardless of my own feelings, the leadership insists that the committee vote on it today, so I will not stand in the way. But I think the committee also should give some consideration to Congressman Zablocki's substitute bill."

"I have received a letter from Mr. Zablocki stating that he wishes to withdraw his bill," spoke up Democrat James Delaney of New York. "He feels that there may be some constitutional objections to a provision giving the states discretionary power to allocate Federal aid funds to private schools. He wants to give more study to this."

Though Republicans overwhelmingly oppose the Democratic school bill, nonetheless it was a kindly Carroll Reece of Tennessee, a Republican, who broke the 6-to-6 deadlock in the rules committee.

"This doesn't mean I favor the Thompson bill," explained Reece in the tense, closed-door atmosphere. "In fact, I reserve the right to oppose it on the floor. But I don't think this committee, composed of 12 members, should stand in the way of a vote by the full membership of the House."

The Closed-Door Vote

Reece thus joined with six Democrats — Delaney (N. Y.), Ray Madden (Ind.), James Trimble (Ark.), Homer Thornberry (Texas), Richard Bolling (Mo.), and Thomas O'Neill (Mass.)—in the 7-to-5 vote to clear the education bill for a full House vote.

The five who voted to keep the school bill tied up on the rules committee were: Democrats Smith (Va.) and William Colmer (Miss.), plus Republicans Leo Allen (Ill.), Clarence Brown (Ohio) and Hamer Budge, (Idaho).

During the brisk debate, Democrat Madden needled GOP colleagues: "I was a follower of President Eisenhower when he spoke about our school classroom shortages in 1952 and 1956 and promised to do something about it. We have waited seven years for him to fulfill that promise.

"Now he is threatening to veto the Thompson Bill at a time when we are trying to catch up in the education race with Russia, which surpassed us 15 years ago in turning out scientists and technicians for the coming space age. So I am disenchanted with the President."

"The President wants to solve the classroom shortage as much as you do," snapped GOP Budge of Idaho, "but he is against Federal control of the public schools."

"The Thompson Bill would continue state and local control of the schools," shot back Madden. "It doesn't deal with textbooks or curricula, but only provides financial help to build the additional school facilities we need."

DeGaulle Emerges As New Leader Of The West

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS.

General De Gaulle's emergence as the leader of the West, at any rate for the time being, was the least noticed but far from the lease important result of the explosion at the summit.

A much greater debt is owed to the French president than most people understand. His untroubled perception, his icy imperturbability in a moment of potential danger, almost certainly prevented an even uglier result in Paris than the ugly result that was finally produced.

De Gaulle, as the world now knows, was the first to learn from Khrushchev himself that the Soviet boss did not intend to negotiate at all unless President Eisenhower opened the conference with a humiliating public capitulation in the matter of the U-2. From that moment, after Khrushchev had called on him on the Sunday morning before the conference was to begin, De Gaulle was like a rock.

The same cannot be said of Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. The British leader definitely favored gestures, concessions and apologies, in order to persuade Khrushchev to get down to business. Moreover, the President's viewpoint was not immensely different from the Prime Minister's, although the majority of the President's staff took Gen. De Gaulle's opposing view.

De Gaulle's view was, quite simply, that Khrushchev would be satisfied with nothing less than total capitulation, which would be fatal. Therefore he argued that half measures of appeasement would only add the embarrassment of eating humble pie (to the misfortune of the conference's collapse). De Gaulle's sound judgment was proven by the response that Macmillan got from Khrushchev, when the Prime Minister tried to glue the conference together again after the explosion at the first session.

Even before that, however, experiments with eating humble pie might well have been made, if it had not been for De Gaulle's influence in the other direction. In sum, De Gaulle's weight tipped the balance in favor of realism and dignity.

The effect of all this on President Eisenhower's situation is decidedly curious. By virtue of the power of the United States, he ought to be the unchallenged leader of the Western Alliance. Until now, he has been just that. Now, however, solely by virtue of the strange power of his personality, De Gaulle has taken the lead.

The effect of this subtle but undeniable change in the Western pecking order will depend on whether Nikita S. Khrushchev is merely planning on a lull at Berlin or wants a lull everywhere until a new president takes over.

President Eisenhower himself has evidently decided on a policy of just keeping things ticking over for the rest of his term. Before he left Paris, he was strongly urged to break off the disarmament and nuclear test negotiations by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates and Chairman John J. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission. He rejected this advice, which clearly implies the intention to keep thinks ticking over.

If Khrushchev is prepared to allow a worldwide lull, the policy of just keeping things ticking over will work very well indeed. But it will not work at all if the lull is to be limited to Berlin.

Suppose, for instance, that the unprecedented indignation meeting staged in Peking on Friday presages new troubles in the Far East, in Laos, or worse still, on Formosa's offshore islands. No moves anywhere would better serve Khrushchev's obvious purpose of doing everything possible to divide the Western Allies before the next round of negotiations about Berlin. A renewed attack on the offshore islands would automatically produce the most violent emotions in London. Another small scale but potentially decisive invasion of Laos would be almost as bad.

President Eisenhower, alas, can no longer deal with such challenges as he dealt with them before. Because he has lost prestige and confidence in the alliance, he will risk all sorts of ruptures with the other allies if he simply goes his own way, as he successfully did in the Quemoy crisis. In short, he now needs to be assured in advance of the support which he was previously able to take for granted.

Therefore, what now seems to be in order is informal consultation with De Gaulle about the various trouble spots where Khrushchev may attempt to probe. If consulted, De Gaulle is the ally who can be most surely counted on to approve a firm policy. And Eisenhower-plus-De Gaulle will make a combination which the other allies will still feel called upon to follow, as they used to feel called upon to follow Eisenhower alone.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PERSONALITY BATTLE — President Eisenhower's decision not to reappoint William R. Connole to the Federal Power Commission has all the makings of the personality fight-of-the-year in Congress.

Eisenhower told a news conference after the word had leaked out that he wanted to find "a better man" to succeed Connole, a political independent. That phrase is coming back to haunt the President.

The man Eisenhower nominated was Thomas J. Donegan, a former FBI agent, who has admitted that he "never had anything to do with utilities outside of paying my gas bills."

Although the President had to select a non-Republican by law, and Donegan is a Democrat, the Democrats on Capitol Hill are up in arms. They contend that Eisenhower replaced Connole because he was too friendly to consumer interests in natural gas cases which come before the commission and not sympathetic enough with the business tycoons who run the huge pipeline companies.

Some maintain that Ike hoped to put them on the spot by making them oppose a registered member of their own political party. However, they insist that the President has miscalculated.

They recall last year's big fight over the confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of Commerce, and maintain they have the votes to defeat anyone for the FPC post, just as they did on the Strauss nomination.

Interested observers believe that the Democrats have a good chance of making a full-blown campaign issue out of the situation in the FPC. They can again raise the specter of the Eisenhower administration's excessive sympathy with "big business."

Hypnotizing Warts Away May Take Time

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Pesty warts were charmed away with hypnosis by two Scot physicians. The lesions shriveled up and disappeared without leaving a scar in 10 out of 14 cases. The hypnotic trance was too light to be effective in the four failures.

This report from The Lancet is not the first to appear on hypnotic suggestion in wart therapy but is more scientific than others I've seen. Once the hypnotic state was induced, two suggestions were made to the patients. They were told that the warts on only one side would disappear. In addition, the individuals were told that, on awakening, they were to open the door when the physician blew his nose; this was to determine whether the suggestions were deeply ingrained. The 10 patients meeting this requirement lost their warts on one side, usually on the hand, in 5 weeks to 3 months.

The psychological treatment of common warts has been used successfully for many decades. In most instances, the wart specialist or healer rubs the lesion with something special, such as kernels of corn or potato skins; shortly thereafter, the growths fall off. This form of suggestion is related to hypnosis and, in this respect, the two methods have some similarity.

It has been difficult for physicians to understand why such treatment is successful. Warts are caused by the skin's reaction to a filtrable virus. They are contagious at certain stages of development and, to the best of our knowledge, are not of psychological or nervous origin.

Hypnotic or psychological procedures are not always successful but they are painless and do not require bandages or anesthetics. On the other hand, many physicians are not sold on the harmlessness of hypnosis, especially for treating conditions that are more annoying than serious.

Hypnosis takes time and cannot be done in a hurry. Besides, there are many other ways to remove warts, varying from electrosurgery to injections.

Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on warts if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Moroccan paralysis.

MAPLE SIRUP DISEASE

Mrs. P. B. writes: What is maple sirup disease?

REPLY

This is one of the group of diseases classified as inborn errors of metabolism. Not too much is known about them but much research is being conducted on these rare diseases. In the maple sirup syndrome, the baby excretes an abnormal chemical compound that makes the urine smell of maple sirup.

CLEAN HOMES BETTER

A. E. J. writes: My father-in-law is trying to tell me just as many children fall sick and die in clean homes as in filthy, bug ridden homes. Please express an opinion on this.

REPLY

Illness and death are commoner in filthy surroundings because more germs and germ spreading vectors are present. In addition, ignorance, laziness, and poor hygiene go hand in hand. These people do not recognize the need for good medical care and seldom take advantage of it.

NO LIVER PUSHUPS

W. A. B. writes: Is there any exercise I can do to stimulate my lazy liver?

REPLY

This is one organ that can't be moved. A "lazy" liver often is blamed unjustly for constipation. If this is your problem, any kind of exercise ought to help in establishing regularity.

REACTION TO LAXATIVE

G. F. writes: What causes nausea after taking a laxative?

REPLY

SOFTENED BONES

H. C. H. writes: Do women develop softening of the bones after the change of life?

REPLY

Some do but the condition is more common after age 65. It is related to a reduction of the sex hormones. Symptoms usually subside after hormonal treatment. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on osteoporosis.

ACHING ELBOWS

L. F. writes: Could sore elbows be due to arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided pain is coming from the elbow joints.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

George Jean Nathan could be merciless when a show bored him sufficiently. Reviewing one ill-fated musical, Nathan noted, "For the first time in my life I envied my feet. They were asleep."

"Mama, mama," wailed a bride of six months, "Joe has walked out on me for good."

Poem from Sam Himmell:

He's really not her flame.
She only calls him that because
She can't recall his name."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Dodge City was a rough town in the 1870's. A dusty road was called Front Street. There were hitching rails, some boarding houses and shops, and a place called The Long Branch. A sign in the middle of the road said: "The Carrying of Fire Arms Strictly Forbidden." Underneath it said: "Try Prickly Ash Bitters."

In the latter part of the decade, as The Kansas Historical Quarterly reminds me, William B. "Bat" Masterson was sheriff. He was paid $75 a month. He wasn't great. In the summer of 1878, Deputy Marshal McCarty was shot in the Long Branch. Fannie Keenan, alias Dora Hand, was also shot and killed.

City Marshal Edward J. Masterson was slaughtered by drunken cowboys. On October 27, 1877, George Wilson, the only man in jail, escaped. The most exciting news occurred on April 5, 1879, when Frank Loving and Levi Richardson dueled with guns in the Long Branch. The Ford County Globe reported the story as follows:

"There is seldom witnessed in any civilized town or country such a scene as transpired at the Long Branch saloon, in this city, last Saturday evening, resulting in the killing of Levi Richardson, a well known freighter, by a gambler named Frank Loving.

"For several months Loving has been living with a woman toward whom Richardson seems to have cherished tender feelings and on one or two occasions they have quarreled and even come to blows. Richardson was a man who had lived for several years on the frontier, and though well liked in many respects, he had cultivated habits of bold and daring, which are always likely to get a man into trouble. He was young and strong and reckless.

"Loving is a man of whom we know but very little. He is a gambler by profession; not much of a rowdy, but more of the cool and desperate order, when he has a killing on hand. He is about 25 years old.

"As stated in the evidence, they met, one said: 'I don't believe you will fight.' The other answered: 'Try me and see,' and immediately both drew murderous revolvers and at it they went, in a room filled with people, the leaden missives flying in all directions. There is no telling how long the fight might have lasted had not Richardson been pierced with bullets and Loving's pistol been left without a cartridge.

"Richardson was shot in the breast, through the side and through the right arm. It seems strange that Loving was not hit, except a slight scratch on the hand, as the two men were so close together that their pistols almost touched each other.

"Eleven shots were fired, six by Loving, five by Richardson. Richardson only lived a few moments after the shooting. Loving was placed in jail to await the verdict of the coroner's jury, which was 'Self Defense' and he was released. Richardson has no relatives in this vicinity. He was from Wisconsin. About 28 years old."

"I know Levi Richardson. He was in the saloon just before the fuss, standing by the stove. He started to go out and went as far as the door when Loving came in. Richardson turned and followed. Loving sat down at the hazard table. Richardson sat near him. Loving got up, making some remark to Richardson. Loving says to Richardson: 'If you have anything to say about me why don't you come and say it to my face like a gentleman, and not to my back you ——— —— —— — ————!' Richardson stood and said! 'You wouldn't fight anything, you damn ——!' Loving said: 'You try me and see.'

"Richardson drew his pistol first. Loving also drew a pistol. Three or four shots were fired when Richardson fell by the billiard table. He fell on his hands and knees. He did not fire after he fell. No persons were shooting except the two mentioned. When it started, Loving's pistol snapped twice and I think Richardson shot twice before Loving's pistol was discharged."

Dodge City must have been a great place. Much tougher, I would guess, than Greenwich Village, where the perfumed dandies, when aroused, will brain a man with a powder puff. . .

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels extended their winning streak to ten games and hiked their lead in the Allegany County High School League to two games by blanking the Bruce High Bulldogs yesterday at Westernport, 5-0, while LaSalle was bumping off Allegany High School in an intracity contest at Campobello by the score of 9-5.

In other league action, Valley High clobbered the Flintstone Aggies, 18-6, and Beall defeated the Mt. Savage Indians, 3-1. Mt. Savage played without the series of Fay Often, Rich Lybarger, Leroy Morris and Steve Faulkner, four regulars, who were disqualified for the remainder of the season for having played with another team on the same day they had played on the school team. Dale Watkinson, of Beall, also was disqualified under the same state rule.

Stay In City Fight

LaSalle remained in the city championship fight by downing Allegany and squaring its season series with the Campers.

Charley Rice went the distance for LaSalle and kept nine hits well spaced and whiffed seven. Three of the four Allegany tallies in the final frame came on a double by Fred Schindler with the bases loaded.

Posts 4th Shutout

Fort Hill posted its fourth shutout victory of the league campaign at Westernport and it was the second time this season that the Bulldogs failed to score a run against Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's team.

Roger Manges notched his fourth win of the season for the Sentinels, yielded only four hits and whiffed nine. Fort Hill held a 1-0 edge until the final stanza when four walks, a fielder's choice, sacrifice, hit and error produced four more tallies.

Francis Allen went the route in Beall's triumph over Mt. Savage in a game played at Beall High Field. He limited the weakened Tribe to three hits and struck out eight. "Chuck" Winebrenner was the loser.

Allan Eisel of Beall and Twain Lowery paced the stickers with two hits each.

Valley Gets 20 Hits

Valley massaged Flintstone pitching for 20 hits. Roger Wilson, who pitched five innings and was the winner, also led the Black Knights' attack with four hits in five official trips. Ravenscroft, Pollock and Garlitz garnered three hits each.

Flintstone obtained only four hits.

Play Here Today

Allegany High School is scheduled to entertain the Bruce High School Bulldogs today at 4 p. m. at Campobello. Allegany opened the season with a 21-3 win over Bruce but the second game set for May 10 was postponed on account of rain.

Grant Whips Senators 12th Straight Time

Cleveland Trims Washington, 7-2

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the Cleveland Indians pitched a four-hitter to beat Washington 7-2 Tuesday night for his 12th straight win in two years over the Senators.

Despite the lopsided final score the game was a pitchers' battle between Grant and Chuck Stobbs for the first six innings.

But in the last of the seventh the Indians scored two runs on Johnny Romano's home run with a man on. In the eighth they scored four more after they filled the bases on two walks and a single. One run came in on Romano's infield out and Bubba Phillips and Grant singled to bring in the other three runs.

Los Angeles Dodgers Beat Pittsburgh, 4-2

Podres Is Victor, Gil Hodges Belts Two-Run Homer

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers combined Gil Hodges' two-run homer with two unearned runs Tuesday night for a 4-2 victory which knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League lead.

The San Francisco Giants shut out Philadelphia 4-0 to recapture first place. The Giants were displaced by Pittsburgh for the NL lead last Thursday when they were rained out in Milwaukee and the Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hodges smashed his fourth homer in the second inning after leadoff batter Frank Howard had singled off Gibbon's glove. The Dodgers picked up two unearned runs in the fifth. Junior Gilliam opened with a single and Charley Neal bunted. When Gibbon threw the ball into right field, Gilliam scored and Neal moved to third.

Johnny Podres, who went the distance to win his third game, struck out Mazeroski and pinch-hitter Gene Baker in the fifth inning but Bob Skinner beat out a hit to Neal. Dick Groat walked and Roberto Clemente rattled a double to left to account for the last Pirate tally.

Podres was touched for eight hits, including four extra base blows, and struck out five. Gibbon allowed seven hits in being tagged for his second defeat.

VFW Tops Caseys By Score Of 4-0

Jack Eckard pitched a no-run, no-hit game in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday, twirling the front-running V.F.W. to a 4-0 decision over the Knights of Columbus at Post Field.

Eckard walked Farrell after two out in the first inning then retired the next 19 batsmen in order.

Giants' Jones Scores Shutout Over Phils, 4-0

Jim Owens Victim For Second Time

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sam Jones hurled a four - hit shutout in pitching San Francisco to a 4-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Jones (5-3) picked up his first victory on the road in six starts. It also was his second straight shutout over Philadelphia. He blanked the Phils, 1-0, on a two-hitter in San Francisco on May 11th.

The Phillies now have not scored a run off San Francisco pitching in the past 29 1-3 innings.

Jones retired the last 15 batters, with Al Dark's lead-off single in the fifth the final hit of the game for the home team.

Jim Owens, now 2-5, was Jones' victim for the second time. The Giants scored once in the first on a walk to Don Blasingame, a wild pitch and Willie Mays' double. They added another in the third on another walk to Blasingame, Mays' single and Tony Taylor's error.

The other San Francisco runs came in the eighth on one hit, a bunt single by Orlando Cepeda. Owens walked four and committed two wild pitches in that inning.

Jones was so effective against Philadelphia that only one man passed second base, Joe Koppe, who opened the third with a double and advanced to third on Owens' sacrifice bunt. He was stranded there when Johnny Callison lifted a short fly to left and Taylor struck out.

Toohey Hurls Five-Hitter, Beats Stuckey

Jerry's Win Skein Snapped; Jackets Reach Area Finale

Coach George Hott's Moorefield High School Yellowjackets won the West Virginia Region 4 baseball championship yesterday by spilling the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs at Charles Town by the score of 5-3.

Lefty Bill Toohey outpitched Jerry Stuckey, ace of Coach George Whitacre's team, to advance the Hardy Countians to the area finals where the Region 3 winner will be met. In Region 3 semi-finals yesterday, Farmington was scheduled to meet Morgantown while Philippi was to oppose Kingwood.

Toohey had a no-hitter through 5⅓ innings. Then his opposing moundsman singled to center. In posting his sixth win in seven starts this season and his 11th victory against two losses in two years, Toohey yielded only five hits, fanned three and issued four bases on balls.

Hits by Dwane Barr, Dave Vance, Johnny Mathias and Toohey coupled with an error accounted for three Moorefield runs in the third inning. Wardney Sherman's triple and Dave Vance's infield out produced one tally in the fourth while in the sixth Wardney Sherman's two-base rap, Evans' single and a wild throw produced the Jackets' final run.

Stuckey (7-1) had boasted a 7-game winning streak prior to being knocked off by Moorefield yesterday. He gave up nine blows, walked three and struck out six.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Moorefield and made the team's overall record 11-2. Martinsburg suffered its third loss against ten victories.

Moore Favored Over Besmanoff

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Archie Moore, the venerable king of the light heavyweights, will carry about 200 pounds and 2 to 1 favoritism against Germany's transplanted Willie Besmanoff in a 10-round non-title bout Wednesday night.

Moore's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns, says the 175-pound champion is "heavy, but not fat" for the heavyweight match, which will attract an estimated 8,000 into the State Fairgrounds Coliseum and produce a gross of about $60,000.

The bout is to be televised nationally (9 p.m., EST-ABC-TV) and will be scored under the five-point system. The referee will be an import from neighboring Illinois, Frank Gilmer, chairman of that state's athletic commission.

Barton became the only undefeated team in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday when it posted win No. 5 at the expense of Westernport in a game played at Barton. The score was 3-2. The loss was the first for Westernport in four outings. Six Americans Survive British Amateur Golf

Nine U.S. Players Go Down To Defeat

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (AP) — Determined British and Irish stars Tuesday whittled down the American challenge for the British Amateur Golf Championship to a mere six survivors. Nine Americans were eliminated.

But Uncle Sam's two big ones—stylish Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., and veteran Bob Cochran of St. Louis—did more than stay alive. They played brilliantly, shattering par in their second round triumphs. This kind of form — if maintained — could earn either the ancient title.

Holland, 29, routed T.B.C. Hoey of Ireland, 7 and 6. Cochran, 47, a long time Midwestern star, edged John Lyons of England, 3 and 1 in a stirring match. Cochran closed it out with birdies on the 16th and 17th holes. Both Holland and Cochran scored front nine 33s on the par 36-36—72, 6,842-yards layout.

The other American winners were Bill Gibson of Louisville, Ky., by 8 and 7 over L.G. Emmott of England; Donald Dawson of Detroit, by 1-up over Bryan Blaike of Ireland, and Ralph Morrow of Oklahoma City by 5 and 3 over Dr. William Meharg of Ireland. Hiram Snowden of Savannah, Ga., gained the third round on two straight scratches.

Seven of the eight seeded aces, headed by former champion Joe Carr of Dublin, advanced. The one exception came in an all-Irish match when Bert Rainey, a husky lad, upset 50-year-old Cecil Ewing, 4 and 3.

The other seeded victors included Tom Craddock, the Irish champion who eliminated John Humm of Baldwin, N.Y., 4 and 3; Jimmy Walker of Scotland, who fired a first nine 32 in beating D. R. Young of Ireand, 7 and 6; Michael Bonallack of England; Guy Wolstenholme of England; Reid Jack of Scotland, the 1957 winner, and David Blair, another Scot. Blair routed Lt. J. J. Hagan of Portland, Ore., 7 and 6.

The current pace-setter in the eight club circuit is Moorefield with a 3-0 record. Barrelville and Mt. Savage are tied for the runner-up spot with 3-1 records and are followed by Centerville 2-1, Salisbury and Hyndman 1-2, Frostburg 1-3 and Flintstone 0-4.

Coach Ed Schwarz last night announced that Bill Claus, Jeff Norris, Jim McKenzie, Frank Cawood and Bob Gaffney will compete. They will leave Friday afternoon. The meet gets under way at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Frederick High School, winner of nine consecutive meets this season, has been installed as the favorite to dethrone Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School which won the 1959 state event at College Park with 92 points. Runner-up last year was Northwood High with 68 tallies. Fort Hill was third with 37 7/10 points. Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring was fourth with 34 tallies and Frederick finished fifth with 31 1/5. Twenty-five schools participated. Allegany failed to score a point.

The Class B and C schools will vie at College Park this weekend. North Carroll was the 1959 "B" champion and Princess Anne was first in Class C.

Last Saturday, Frederick won the CVAL meet at which nine new records were established and one tied. The Cadets cracked six of the marks and tied one. Allegany was fourth and Fort Hill fifth.

West Virginia Population Loss Less Than 190,000

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Indications were Monday West Virginia's population loss as determined by the 1960 census would be less than 190,000.

United Press International tabulations of 52 of 55 counties in which census reports have been completed showed a net loss of 190,431 persons compared to 1950 figures for the same areas. Figures are lacking for Cabell, Kanawha and Wood counties in which the 1960 census has not been completed.

They show a population of 1,421,326 for 1960 against 1,511,757 in the same 52 counties 10 years ago.

The UPI figures show that 42 of the 52 counties reporting complete results show losses of population ranging from 27,924 in McDowell County to 32 in Mineral County. Of the 10 showing gains, Hancock had the largest, 5,135, and Morgan the smallest, 83.

McDowell led the population loss for the state as well as four southern counties where the coal industry has undergone automation. Fayette County dropped 20,531, Raleigh 19,784 and Logan 16,084.

The total loss in the 42 counties is 209,691 while the actual gain was 19,250, for a net loss of 190,431.

Census workers said Monday final figures for the three missing counties would not be available until late this week or early next week. In each instance, however, they expect gains to be shown. If this holds true than the net loss for the state would drop from the present figure.

Assuming that Kanawha and Cabell retain their leadership as West Virginia's largest and second largest counties — and there's little doubt of this — the third largest will be Harrison, followed closely by Raleigh.

Harrison shows a population in 1960 of 77,499 while Raleigh has 76,525 residents. Fifth and sixth place will be determined after the Wood County figures are made public. It will be close with McDowell which now has a population of 70,963.

Other counties with populations over 50,000 include: Mercer 67,875; Ohio 67,115; Marion 62,901, 1Fayette 61,396, Logan 61,300; Monongalia 55,533.

Neely's Mind Open On Choice Of Chairman

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Harold Neely, Republican gubernatorial candidate, has an open mind in the party's choice for state GOP chairman to mastermind the West Virginia general election campaign.

"The big thing to me," Neely said, "is to find a man who can devote all of his time to directing the campaign."

Neely thinks the present chairman, Daniel L. Louchery of Clarksburg, has done a good job. "But whether he can devote all of his time is another matter," Neely said. "He has to earn a living like the rest of us."

The State Republican Executive Committee will meet in Charleston June 4 to reorganize. By custom the gubernatorial nominee selects the state chairman.

Neely was in Charleston Tuesday to talk with Gov. Underwood, the party's nominee for the U. S. Senate.

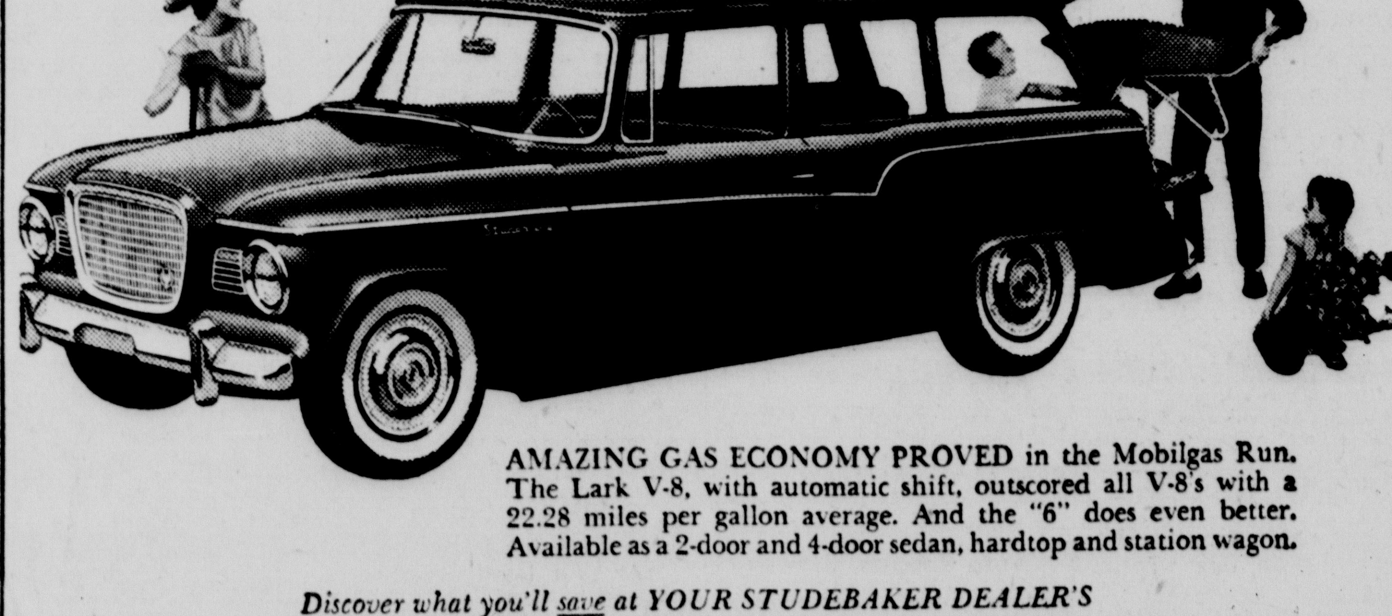
THE LARK BY STUDEBAKER

Here's the most economical station wagon built in the U.S.A. It's the only station wagon in the low cost class to offer tremendous savings with quality engineering, materials and construction. Yet, Harper's Bazaar gives The Lark highest style ratings! And no wonder. It's simple but rich: sensible but smart: economical but elegant. Three feet shorter, with big car roominess (seats six, optional seating for eight): solid in riding comfort: pert in performance. The Lark is the lowest-priced, full-sized wagon. Try it today, and see why The Lark has the fastest growing sales curve in the industry.



AMAZING GAS ECONOMY PROVED in the Mobilgas Run. The Lark V-8, with automatic shift, outscored all V-8's with a 22.28 miles per gallon average. And the "6" does even better. Available as a 2-door and 4-door sedan, hardtop and station wagon.

Defense Stocks Advance In Mixed Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy buying in electronics, aircrafts and scattered specials featured an otherwise irregular and moderately active stock market Tuesday.

At the close, gains and losses were about equally distributed. A total of 1,208 issues crossed the tape, 496 declining, 33 to new lows, and 483 advancing, 48 to new highs.

Some heavy blue - chip selling dragged the industrial stock average 2.27 points below the previous close. Rails and utilities, fractionally lower all day closed with nominal net gains in their averages on support developing late in the day.

Texaco fell 2⅝ and Jersey Standard 1⅛ on a move by the Cuban government to end the "American monopoly" in Cuba's oil market. The Cuban edict said that American companies in the future will have to refine Russian oil in large amounts.

International Business Machines took the spotlight in the late trading when it vaulted 19 points to close at 494, a new high. Heavy buying in the stock followed the announcement that IBM has developed a new one punch card system to control manufacturing operations from the raw material stage through to the finished product.

Other good electronic gainers included Texas Instruments, up 8 at 250½, Zenith up 4⅜ at 110⅞ and Beckman Instruments up 2¾ 15 87.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grains moved mostly lower Tuesday on slow and mixed dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅝ to 1; corn off ⅛ to ⅞; oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ⅛ to ¼; and soybeans off ⅜ to 1¼.

Activity in wheat futures was very light, with most trading based upon weather reports and export sales. Commission houses bought small amounts early in the session. Prices closed weak on scattered selling.

Wheat harvesting was reported held up in sections of Texas and Oklahoma because of rain. Cash wheat had a better demand in the southwest. Commercial interests were inactive.

Corn rallied from early lows, but prices closed below the previous level. Commercial houses bought July, and elevators sold. Improved weather for planting brought selling in deferred contracts.

Export subsidies were granted on 133,000 bushels of corn and 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats futures were quiet and mostly steady. Some selling was based on the weather. Rye was fractionally lower.

Nearby soybean futures weakened. Weather was also a factor. Chicago stocks of beans declined 499,000 bushels last week.

Exporters said Poland purchased 560,000 bushels of yellow hard Wheat and Holland 187,000 bushels of spring wheat.

Rockefeller Not Out Of Running, Says Pearson

Columnist Speaks To Rotary Here

The failure of the summit conference may help the political fortunes of Governor Nelson E. Rockefeller of New York, Washington columnist Drew Pearson said here last night.

Mr. Pearson, whose syndicated column appears daily in the Cumberland News and the Cumberland Sunday Times, told an intercity Rotary meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club he wasn't making any predictions, but that Governor Rockefeller is "not out of the running" for the Republican nomination for President.

Furthermore, he believes Rockefeller would win the election but Vice President Richard M. Nixon would have a close race if the Democratic nominee were Adlai Stevenson or Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He also said he thinks the Democrats will have their usual knock-down-drag-out convention, "then nominate the same man they've walked down the aisle with twice before — Adlai Stevenson."

May Have Hurt Nixon

Mr. Pearson said the summit debacle may have hurt Vice President Nixon, in that Nixon has been closely involved with the Eisenhower foreign policy, while Rockefeller has long been an outspoken critic of the administration's national defense policies.

The columnist also said Mr. Nixon has "played both sides of the Iron Curtain," in winning election to the Senate by using "McCarthy-like tactics," then later, as Vice President, making a trip to the Soviet Union, a trip that increased his popularity in the United States.

Mr. Pearson, weighing the merits of the various Democratic Presidential aspirants, said Senator Kennedy faces the handicap of youth at a time when world events have emphasized the need for maturity. He also said Senator Lyndon Johnson is handicapped by being a Southern, and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri because he is known only through his attitudes on national defense.

The international result of the summit's failure, said Mr. Pearson, probably will be a "long period of precarious peace." He said the two best forms of insurance against war are a strong defense and increased constructive contacts between East and West — something that Mr. Pearson often likes to call "people-to-people friendship."

Predicts Bigger Budget

He predicts that Congress, partly as a result of recent events, will restore $1.2 billion which it cut from the defense budget and that this will prevent a tax reduction next year, regardless of which party wins the Presidency.

Reporting the background of the summit meeting, which he went to Europe to cover, Mr. Pearson declared that the Eisenhower administration, on the advice of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, had opposed such meetings until a gathering of top military leaders

Jury Gives $10,750 In Two Cases

Bridge Crash Involved In Suit

Deliberating about 40 minutes, an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded verdicts totalling $10,750 in two related damage suits moved here from Washington County.

Mrs. Alma G. Dyer of Hancock was awarded $10,250 in the larger of the two actions. She had brought suit for $25,000 against Lionel Roy Smith of Artemas, Pa., whose car struck the rear of her car while driving toward Hancock on the West Virginia portion of the Potomac River bridge which carries U. S. Route 522 into Hancock.

She contended that she was severely injured in the accident of April 19, 1959.

The other $500 was awarded to her daughter, Mrs. Ina Mae Dyer Potter, who was a passenger in her mother's car. Two Hagerstown doctors, Dr. Robert Richards and Dr. Phillip M. Dethridge, were the only other witnesses at yesterday's trial besides the plaintiffs.

Ralph W. Rice was foreman of the 11-member jury which heard the case. Ernest V. Wachs of Hagerstown and William L. Wilson, this city, represented the plaintiffs. Defense attorneys were Irvine H. Rutledge of Hagerstown and William H. Geppert, this city. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland presided.

County Applies For Road Funds

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday sent a letter to Southey T. Nottingham Jr., Federal aid liaison engineer for the State Roads Commission, applying for Federal aid matching funds for two county roads project which will cost an estimated total of $48,423.89.

One of these is for 1.4 miles of North Orleans Road, estimated to cost $29,150.62, and one mile of Bear Hill Road, costing an estimated $19,273.27. Half of the total cost, or $24,211.94 could be borne by the Federal government from the $101,925 available to this county. That would still leave $77,713.06 for other county projects.

Both of these jobs call for six-inch compact bases.

William C. Walsh, local attorney, was elected president of the Liberty Trust Company by the bank's board of directors yesterday.

He succeeds the late Charles A. Piper who was drowned Thursday on a fishing trip in the South Branch near Romney.

Mr. Walsh becomes the fifth president of the trust company which was organized in 1920. Mr. Piper, the fourth president, was elected to that position in March 1941 after serving as a member of the board of directors for 11 years.

The board of directors of the company yesterday adopted a resolution of respect to Mr. Piper, who was president of the bank for more than 19 years. The resolution said Mr. Piper was one of the outstanding bank presidents in Maryland and that his death had cost the bank "his wise and dynamic leadership, under which it became the largest bank in Western Maryland."

The new president has been on the Liberty Trust Company's board of directors since 1922 and he has been counsel for its trust department for the past 25 years.

Mr. Walsh at the age of 34 years was chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, one of youngest on record, and also served on the Maryland Court of Appeals.

For four years he was state insurance commissioner and was twice elected attorney general of Maryland, serving from December 1938 to June 1945. He resigned the attorney generalship to devote all of his time to his private practice.

A native of Cumberland, he served during World War I in France in a machine gun company of the 113th Infantry Regiment. He has been a mem-

Drowning Victim Owned Motorboat

The motorboat which figured in the drowning of two prominent Cumberlanders last Thursday was owned by one of the victims and was not rented, as previous stories in The Cumberland News have stated.

Charles A. Piper and James A. Leader drowned when Mr. Piper's boat capsized in the South Branch of the Potomac River. Previous stories stating that Mr. Piper and Mr. Leader had rented the boat from John Harmison of River Route, Romney, W. Va., were in error.

Mr. Harmison pointed out yesterday that he does not own a motorboat, and that Mr. Piper had stored the boat at the Harmison farm during the winter. He said the Harmison family put the boat into the river for Mr. Piper at his request on the day of the accident.

Fort Hill Teacher Pays His County Taxes Early

A conscientious Fort Hill High School teacher, who believes that it is a duty and privilege for citizens to pay their state and county taxes, came to the Court House yesterday in order to be one of the first to pay taxes to County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

The early taxpayer is Robert C. Morris, head of the social studies department at Fort Hill, a teacher of children who has owned his own home at 1 Long Drive, LaVale, for the past 25 years.

Mr. Morris explained that he wanted to pay his taxes early because his seniors are now studying taxation and he thought it appropriate to fulfill his obligation as a citizen. The county tax collector recalled that he had studied history and economics under Mr. Morris back in 1938 at Fort Hill.

A brand new electronic computer is cranking out the county tax bills and Mr. Orndorff says his staff has been working 10 to 12 hours a day in an effort to assure that the 35,000 to 40,000 tax bills are in the mail by late next week.

The new tax bills will provide the taxpayers more information and actually will do most of the figuring for the taxpayers. Each bill will show the gross tax, the June net total allowing for a five per cent discount on county taxes, the amount of the June discount and the amounts of discounts to be allowed for payments in July, four per cent, and August, three per cent.

There also is space on the tax bills for special taxes for the four special taxing areas within the county and the amount of the state tax.

Mr. Orndorff is urging all taxpayers to avoid the confusion at the Court House next month by paying their taxes by mail with checks or money orders. About 60 per cent of the taxpayers paid that way last year.

June is always the busiest month for taxes as 80 to 85 per cent of the taxpayers rush in to take advantage of the five per cent June discount.

The tax collector's staff has been busy preparing bills since May 7. A new system of filing has been set up to facilitate handling bills.

Mr. Orndorff is arranging a schedule of collection visits to seven communities outside Cumberland beginning June 7.

The rally will be conducted in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street. The public is invited.

Flooding On Valley Road Is City Problem

A petition signed by 33 residents and property owners along Valley Road requesting the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to correct a flooding condition there was referred to the Mayor and City Council.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he was convinced that the section of Valley Road to which the petitioners referred is within the city limits. City maps show that Valley Road is within the city limits to a point beyond Forest Avenue, the street which leads to Northeast School at Bowman's Addition.

The petitioners said that the flooding occurred because the culvert which runs under the road is not large enough to handle the volume of water off Wills Mountain between the property of Wiegand and Felton. The only solution, they say, is a larger culvert to enable the stream to stay within its banks. The flooding conditions occurred on Sunday, May 8.

Man Hurt In Fall

A Pennsylvania man was admitted to Memorial Hospital late last night with head injuries after he fell down a flight of steps in the lobby of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Ignatius Stanko, 37, of 714 Grantham Street, Tarentum, Pa., was in "fair" condition with a possible concussion and other undetermined injuries.

Two Men Get Jail Terms In Motor Cases

Pair Found Guilty Of Five Charges

A Baltimore County man and a local young man yesterday received jail sentences in Trial Magistrate Court after they were found guilty of motor vehicle charges.

George Albert Miller, 26, of Glyndon, was sentenced to a total of 180 days in the County Jail, and Ronald Eugene Smith, 20, of 501 North Mechanic Street, was committed to the county lockup for 60 days.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt found Miller guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license, reckless driving and another motor charge.

Miller was sentenced to 60 days for driving without a license and was fined $100 for reckless driving and $250 on the third count. Magistrate Weatherholt ordered Miller committed for another 120 days in default of the two fines.

In the other motor case, Magistrate Paul W. Barnett found Smith guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and operating a vehicle without registration plates.

Smith was fined $100 on each count and was ordered committed to jail for 60 days in default of fines.

Smith was charged with taking a used car from Thompson's Used Car lot on North Mechanic Street early Sunday morning. The car later was recovered in Bowman's Addition where Smith abandoned it when it became stuck in the mud.

Trooper George Wachter of the State Police made the arrest in both cases.

Attorney Named In Woman's Case

John M. Robb, local attorney, was appointed yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley to defend a local woman charged with embezzlement of $6,662.75 from International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, Local Union No. 568.

The woman, identified as Ruth Yvonne Swain, was indicted by the April grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court but the bench warrant has just been served upon her. At her appearance in court yesterday, she stated that she had no funds for her defense. Then Judge Fraley appointed Mr. Robb to defend her.

The indictment charges that while she was "cashier, servant, officer and clerk" of Local 568 she embezzled the union's money between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958. The indictment was found on the testimony of County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

The defendant will be arraigned when Judge Fraley next makes a visit to Cumberland next Tuesday.

District Manager To Visit Chamber

He will meet with the Legislative Committee headed by Harry I. Stegmaier, and the Board of Directors of the Chamber to discuss recent trends in national legislation affecting business and the Chamber's new program, "Action Course in Practical Politics."

Next-Of-Kin Get Offer

Next-of-kin of World War II servicemen killed or missing in action overseas may obtain a large aerial colored lithograph of the military cemetery where the serviceman is interred or commemorated.

Mrs. Sara Lindsay, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross, said she has received notification of the program sponsored by the Red Cross.

Next-of-kin also may obtain a smaller black and white close-up photograph of the grave site and headstone, or, in case of those listed as "missing in action," a close-up photograph showing the name inscribed on a memorial wall.

There is no charge for the photographs, according to Mrs. Lindsay, who said anyone interested may contact the local Red Cross office for information on how they may be obtained.

'Little John' Flood Exercise Begins May 31

Will Test Area's Emergency Program

The flood emergency capabilities of the North Branch area, including the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project, will put to a test in "Little John," a flood exercise to be held in this area under the supervision of the U. S. Army Engineers May 31 and June 1.

The flood emergency practice exercise will fall on the anniversary of the great Johnstown flood of 1889 and will be held under the direction of Brig. Gen. T. H. Lipscomb, North Atlantic Division engineer, and Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer.

The exercise will begin simultaneously at 1 p. m. on May 31 in the office of the U. S. Army Engineer district in Washington and in City Hall in Cumberland.

The paper exercise will begin as the first reports of heavy rainfall and probable flooding are supplied in sealed envelopes.

Messages will be sent to C. R. Nuzum, superintendent of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project; the River Services section of the Weather Bureau, which is responsible for flood forecasting, and the Washington district office of the Corps of Engineers.

To Be Dry Run

In the "dry run," each organization will simulate the action it would take during an actual flood, such as alerting personnel for action, furnishing flood forecasts, making pre-flood inspections of protective works and establishing communications.

Special attention will be given to radio communications, and any radio net which wishes to participate should contact the U. S. Army Engineer district in Washington.

The paper exercise will continue during the early morning of June 1 in the Council Chamber at City Hall as flood crests are approaching Cumberland.

Part of the staff of the Washington District office, including some who took an active part in the planning and construction of the local flood control project, will be here to take part in the exercise.

All communities along the North Branch of the Potomac River and Wills Creek which would be affected by a flood of any magnitude will be included in the alert.

Plan Demonstrations

The schedule of events begins May 31 at 1 p. m. here and in Washington and is continued June 1 at 8 a. m. in City Hall.

Public events will begin June 1 at 9 a. m. in the Council Chamber, when observers and guests will be briefed. A summary of the hypothetical flood operation will be presented at 10:30 a. m.

The operation of the Viaduct pumping station, located at North Mechanic Street and the B & O Viaduct, will be demonstrated at 11 a. m., and a demonstration of stream gaging equipment will be staged at the George Washington Crossings Bridge.

A demonstration of a sandbag closure of the Ridgeley side of the Western Maryland Railway Bridge over the North Branch by the Town of Ridgeley will be staged at 2 p. m.

Mayor Charles Fryer said the Town of Ridgeley will furnish men to put on the demonstration and that the community's Flood Control committee, headed by Owen Logsdon, will be present.

Planes To Take Part

The flood alert will close June 1 at 3 p. m. as a review and critique of the exercise is presented at City Hall.

Reconnaissance flights will be made in the area during June 1, as weather permits, by observation planes of the Second Army from Fort Meade.

Plans for the exercise were completed yesterday as Floyd B. Morris, chief of the Planning and Reports section, and Frank Walters, assistant chief of the Civil Works branch of the Washington District, Corps of Engineers, conferred with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Keys To City Are Ordered

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has ordered a supply of Keys to the City.

He said the keys will be for official use during important civic celebrations.

They will also be available, at cost, to Cumberland organizations which may wish to present them to top guests at conventions and similar occasions.

The keys will be gold-plated bronze and bear the name "City of Cumberland" and "1787," the date the Queen City was founded.

Midas Designed To Give Missile Attack Warning

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The United States launched an experimental Midas "spy" satellite into orbit Tuesday opening a new chapter in the race for space.

The 2½-ton satellite will test the feasibility of using orbiting space stations to provide almost instant warning of a ballistic missile attack.

The satellite, first of its kind in the world, was boosted aloft from this missile test center at 12:37 p.m., (EST) by a powerful 88-foot Atlas-Agena rocket.

Two hours later, shortly after United Nations reconvened to resume the U2 spy debate, the Air Force announced the mammoth Midas was spinning around the earth.

Near Circular Orbit

It was unable immediately to give the precise position in orbit because of a malfunction in tracking computers at the satellite test wing at Sunnyvale, Calif.

However, the Defense Department said in Washington late in the day that the satellite was traveling in an orbit that carries it out as far as 322 miles and within 292.1 miles of earth. In its near circular orbit, Midas makes one round trip every 94.34 minutes.

Lt. Col. Henry Riepe, Midas project director, said radio transmitters in the 22-foot long space messenger are working perfectly.

The "spy in the sky" was equipped with an infra-red scanning device capable of instantaneous spotting and reporting of the launching of a hostile ballistic missile.

Flares To Provide Tests

This first test satellite was not aimed at a course which would take it over the Soviet Union. Its path covers all territory 28 degrees north and south of the equator. Midas' practice mission is to test its equipment of giant sodium flares to be ignited at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and on rocket launchings at Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg AFB, Calif.

The first flare will be fired on the ground within a few days.

Within two years, a series of six or eight Midas satellites parading and flying through space are expected to provide complete and constant scanning of the earth's surface.

By flashing the alarm of the blastoff of enemy missiles, they would give the United States 30 minutes to prepare for nuclear bombardment, to send retaliatory rockets on the way and to get persons into shelter.

Nixon Passes Majority Mark

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee Republicans Tuesday selected the 28-member delegation to the party's national convention and instructed it to support Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidential nomination.

Delegates to the state convention approved a resolution backing Nixon and promising to conduct "the most intensive campaign in Tennessee political history" in his behalf in November.

A Tennessee convention instructed 28 delegates for Nixon. The vice president was unopposed for 26 more in the Tuesday Florida primary.

White House Urges Soviet Government Let People Hear Ike

VOA To Beam Talk Around World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Tuesday urged the Kremlin to let the Russian people listen to broadcasts of President Eisenhower's report Wednesday evening on collapse of the summit conference.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty, who said he was making the appeal through American newsmen, also voiced hope that Soviet Union newspapers will carry full accounts of the President's address on television and radio.

Eisenhower is scheduled to speak from his White House office for 30 minutes starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

In this country, the address will be carried live by CBS and ABC TV networks and by all major radio networks. NBC-TV will have a rebroadcast at 10 p.m.

The government's Voice of America radio plans to beam the talk around the world in English and 38 other languages, including Russian.

Eisenhower will assess the summit wreckage and also deal with the future goals of the United States and free world nations in the light of the Paris debacle.

Hagerty said the White House "hopes that the Soviet government will permit the Soviet people to hear and will not jam" the Voice of America broadcasts.

"The Russian people, as well as the people of the free world have a right to hear it," Hagerty said.

He added that broadcasts beamed to the Soviet Union will be in Russian, English and six other languages which the people of the Soviet Union speak—Ukrainian, Georgian, Armenian, Latvian, Estonian and Lithuanian.

VOA will carry the President's remarks live in English. Translations of the address will be broadcast later, at various times, in 38 other languages.

The broadcasts to the Soviet Union, for example, will be beamed there at times likely to attract maximum audiences.

As to whether the Kremlin will jam the broadcasts to the Soviet Union, Hagerty said there already has been jamming of VOA broadcasts of proceedings before the United Nations Security Council. The Council is debating a Soviet resolution calling for condemnation of the American U2 spy plane episode.

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — Edward Reiley, 38, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was arrested Tuesday in suburban Love's Park with a girl and a "bag full of guns" in his car.

Reiley, known as a braggart and a self-styled lady's man, was arrested on a tip from a used car dealer. The fugitive offered no resistance when stopped by police who spotted his car in the suburb.

Reiley was wanted for the Jan. 29 robbery of the Eastgate branch of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank at Logansport, Ind. Considered dangerous, he was put on the most wanted list May 10.

New Quakes Rock Chile; Death Toll Exceeds 1,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Earthquakes, landslides, tidal waves and a volcanic eruption dealt massive new devastation to southern Chile Tuesday. The four-day death toll mounted to more than 1,000, the Interior Ministry announced and perhaps two million people are homeless.

A tidal wave swept 630 of the 800 people of Queulen, to their death Sunday, the ministry said. Those who survived fled to nearby mountains where many were rescued Tuesday by U.S. Air Force helicopters.

Another crushing wall of water 18-feet high engulfed the small seaside resort of Mehuin at 2 a.m. Tuesday. Mehuin is near Queulen and is about 560 miles south of Santiago.

New earthquakes also rocked the mountainous southern provinces, precipitating landslides into the Pacific at Maullin, a town of 1,500 about 600 miles south of Santiago.

Whole villages have been swept away by tidal waves as high as 24 feet.

Other villages with which no contact has been made may have been destroyed by tidal waves or landslides, Interior Minister Jaime Silva told a news conference.

Two Chilean freighters, Santiago and El Canelo, sank in raging seas off Puerto Corral. No survivors were reported.

In addition to the more than 1,000 dead, at least 500 are missing, and reports to the government indicate that nearly two million people, or 65 per cent of the population in 11 southern provinces, may be homeless.

Russians Free U.S. Transport, Nine Occupants

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—With unusual speed and a mild protest, the Soviets Tuesday set free a U.S. Air Force C47 transport plane and the nine American occupants forced down in East Germany last Friday.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the plane will fly to West Germany Wednesday with the crew and passengers presumably on board.

The spokesman said word had been received through Soviet channels that the plane is airworthy but the Americans could not depart Tuesday because of bad weather.

One of the group is a woman, Barbara McCash of Atlanta, Ga. The others are Air Force officers and men. They had strayed on a flight from Copenhagen, Denmark, to Hamburg, Germany, west of the Iron Curtain.

The relatively happy ending was signalled by a letter from Soviet Col. Gen. I. I. Yakubovsky, to Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe.

In routine terms, Yakubovsky protested the plane's violation of the frontier of East Germany, a partner in the Communist Warsaw Pact.

He said Soviet fighters took "justified decisive action" to force it down after repeated signals to land were ignored. Indications were the fighters fired warning shots. The Soviet general asked Eddleman to "take measures to exclude such incidents in the future."

"With the approval of the authorities of the (East) German Democratic Republic," Yakubovsky concluded, "the crew, passengers and plane can be handed over to your representative at the place of landing when convenient to you."

Depressed Area Aid Bill Veto Upheld

Senate's 45 To 39 Vote To Override Ike Falls 11 Short

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a bill to pour 251 million dollars into chronic unemployment areas and Democrats served notice they will use it as a weapon in the 1960 election campaign.

The vote was 45 to 39, with Democratic supporters failing by 11 votes to muster the two thirds needed to override. Fourteen Democrats joined 25 Republicans to sustain the Chief Executive while five Republicans broke ranks and combined with 40 Democrats in voting against him.

Democrats, who had conceded they had little chance of upsetting Eisenhower, made it plain during a lively Senate debate that they were interested in campaign ammunition. They used the same issue successfully in the 1958 congressional race after Eisenhower vetoed a similar bill and made it stick.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D—Ill.), left no doubt about 1960 Democratic strategy when he told the Senate that the vote would be "an acid test of political responsibility."

The Senate's three Democratic presidential hopefuls all voted against the President. They are Sen. John F. Kennedy (D—Mass.) the current front runner, Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

A co-sponsor of the measure, Symington declared that contrary to what Eisenhower said, "people in depressed areas don't lack initiative. They lack money—and that's what this bill provides."

Fearful of election-year consequences, the administration last week submitted to Congress a compromise 180 million dollar program of aid for depressed areas. The President orginally had recommended a 53 million dollar plan, but the new proposal fell far short of meeting demands of liberal Democrats and organized labor.

Tidal Wave Toll Still Mounting In Pacific Basin

TOKYO (AP) — The people of this island nation, no strangers to natural disaster, began Wednesday the grim task of digging out from debris left by giant tidal waves that assaulted the western Pacific basin from Japan south to New Zealand.

The devastating waves, propelled across the Pacific by earthquakes in Chile, left at least 180 persons dead or missing in Japan and Okinawa with another 850 reported injured. Property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

The semiofficial Japan Broadcasting Corp., with nationwide facilities for collecting information, reported 150,000 persons homeless, 4,600 homes washed away or damaged, 43,000 homes flooded and 1,900 boats cast adrift or damaged.

Northern Honshu and the Island of Hokkaido were battered hardest. Huge waves began pounding the Japanese coast at dawn Tuesday almost without warning.

Wave after towering wave, ranging as high as 20 feet, unleashed fury on 25 communities. At least 10 were inundated.

Formosa and the Philippines, where huge waves struck the Pacific coastline, reported some damage. The extent of casualties, if any, was not learned.

Senate Unit Orders Spy Plane-Summit Breakdown Inquiry

Closed-Door "Study" Opens Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without a dissent, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee agreed Tuesday to open Friday "an objective, impartial inquiry" into the spy plane incident and other events culminating in the summit breakdown.

Announcing this, Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) stressed that every effort will be made to keep politics out of the closed-door inquiry which will begin with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. He reported the vote to go ahead was unanimous, with 12 of 17 committee members on hand.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas — who has been preaching unity—tried to bring political temperatures down Tuesday. He was out of town during most of the donnybrook.

Speaking to fellow senators, Johnson said national unity "does not require sweeping facts under the rug—no matter how unpleasant those facts may be."

"But it does require treatment of the facts coolly, calmly and in an objective vein," he said.

Following this same line, Fulbright told newsmen "this is not to be an investigation—but an inquiry or study into the plane incident and the chain of events which preceded it and followed it."

An investigation, he noted, has "certain political overtones."

"I am going to strive to keep it to an objective, impartial inquiry in which we will try to understand what took place and the policies that influenced the events," said the chairman of the Senate foreign policy group.

These other things happened:

The National Security Council, with President Eisenhower in the chair, held a two-hour special meeting. There were indications the session dealt in part with Eisenhower's TV-radio report to the nation on the summit Wednesday night.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, said again that Eisenhower could have expressed regret to Khrushchev for the spy plane flight—that he, Kennedy, would have been willing to have done so in an effort to save the summit conference.

Speaking in a TV interview (NBC-Today), Kennedy contended that if Eisenhower had expressed regret, and the East-West talks then foundered, the responsibility would more clearly have rested on Khrushchev.

Great White Way Facing Blackout If Actors Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Producers Tuesday pledged total blackout of all Broadway theaters if union actors stage hit-and-run strikes against one show at a time. It would be the first complete shutdown of the Great White Way since 1919.

"We will close all productions," announced Burton A. Zorn, special counsel for the League of New York Theaters.

Thus the producers answered the threat by Actors Equity Assn., to close one show at a time for one night only in its drive to win pensions and pay raises for more than 3,000 actors.

Expiration of the Equity contract May 31 has brought Broadway face to face with its worst crisis in more than 40 years. Show business was pessimistic that a contract agreement can be worked out in time to avert a strike next week.

A walkout—led by some of the top names in the theater—would close all 23 Broadway shows and at least seven others on the road. Plans for autumn productions already have been suspended because of the deadlock.

Collins Chairman, Church Keynoter For Demo Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, regarded as a moderate among Southern governors, Tuesday was named chairman of the Democratic National Convention, where civil rights is expected to be a burning platform issue.

A 14-member arrangements committee also selected Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, as keynoter for the convention, which opens July 11 in Los Angeles.

Collins' selection may be intended to bridge the gap between Northern integrationists and Southern segregationists within the party. He has taken a middle-of-the-road stand on civil rights in his own state.

As permanent convention chairman, Collins gains a national stage for whatever political aspirations he may hold. His supporters have boosted him as a coming figure in national politics and he has been mentioned as a possible vice-presidential nominee.

The selection of both Collins and Church was anticipated well in advance of Tuesday's Democratic National Committee meeting.

Collins was acceptable to the Adlai E. Stevenson wing of the party. Sen. John F. Kennedy's camp voiced no public opposition to him.

He succeeds House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, whose bald head became a national symbol of past Democratic conventions as a result of television cameras trained on the rostrum.

Resolution Urging Big Four To Resume Talks Gains Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain and France lined up behind the United States Tuesday in attacking the Soviet Union for bringing the spy plane issue into the U.N. Security Council.

Statements by the U.S. allies and other delegates at the Council foreshadowed certain defeat for the Soviet Union in its attempts to have the United States branded an aggressor for sending aerial spy flights over Soviet territory.

There were these additional developments on the second day of the Council's debate over the Soviet complaint against the United States:

1. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge laid before the Council the full, dramatic story of the arrest of 11 Soviet spies in the United States since Prime Minister Stalin's death in 1953. It was contained in a 2,000-word statement circulated as an official Council document.

Summit Resolution Backed

2. Western support mounted for a resolution submitted by four small nations on the Council calling on the Big Four to resume negotiations on major East-West issues with the help of the United Nations.

The resolution by Ecuador, Ceylon, Argentina and Tunisia will probably come before the Council on Friday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told a reporter "We do not consider it helpful." But he did not say he would vote against it.

There was no direct mention in the Council of the U.S. action in sending up a Midas "spy-in-the-sky" satellite, but the fact that such satellites could gather espionage information was raised by several speakers.

U2 Case "Insignificant"

Italy's Egidio Ortona declared the U2 spy plane incident on which the Soviet Union based its case appeared to have little significance if satellites are considered. The satellites, he said, "clearly have, or will soon have, enormously increased capacity for exploring or observing compared with airplanes."

Britain's Ambassador Sir Pierson Dixon declared the Soviet Union had failed entirely in trying to prove the United States was an aggressor because of the spy plane flights.

He said his government deeply regretted that the Soviet Union chose the U2 spy plane incident to "destroy the arrangements for the summit conference on which the nations of the world had built so much hope."

French delegate Armand Berard denied also that the U.S. flights were either an act of aggression or a threat to peace.

The Council adjourned at 6:54 p.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday. There was a possibility the Council might reach the voting stage on the Soviet resolution by a late hour Wednsday.

Bryant Wins Florida Runoff

MIAMI (UPI) —Farris Bryant, Harvard-educated lawyer pledged to maintain segregation and champion states' rights, won Florida's Democratic runoff primary for governor Tuesday night.

The 45-year-old veteran legislator from Ocala defeated Doyle E. Carlton Jr., 37, of Wauchula, son of a former governor making his first bid for the state's highest post. It was Bryant's second try for the governorship.

With 1,311 of the state's total 1,971 precincts reported, the vote was Bryant 354,438 and Carlton 336,640.

Victory in the primary is the equivalent of election in the heavily Democratic state.

Bryant not only beat a strong rival, but overcame editorial opposition of some of the state's strongest newspapers and the election eve endorsement of Carlton by outgoing governor Leroy Collins.

Mikoyan On Vacation

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Foreign Ministry announced Tuesday that First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, whose disappearance from Moscow caused Western speculation that he had fallen into disfavor, actually was on his annual vacation in a Black Sea resort.

Nazi Executioner Held At Secret Site In Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, whose Gestapo wing is reputed to have killed six million Jews in Hitler's Nazi regime, was held under close guard Tuesday at a secret prison. The Israeli government plans to put him on trial for his life.

Reports from Bonn said the West German government would like to try Eichmann and a spokesman there said that in any case Germany will help Israel in preparations for Eichmann's trial.

Bit by bit, the story of the systematic mass killer's long years as a fugitive began coming to light. The Israeli government appeared reluctant to let the whole story emerge now.

The Israeli secret service caught up with the 54-year-old German after a search of 15 years. Premier David Ben-Gurion revealed his capture to Parliament Monday but gave no details. He is believed to have been seized abroad and brought to Israel.

Six months ago Eichmann was reported to have been seen in Kuwait, a Persian Gulf sheikdom, but officials said he was not captured there.

Eichmann was arraigned in a closed court in Jaffa Monday before an Israeli magistrate.

He was told he was charged with causing the deaths of six million Jews and advised he could have a lawyer to defend himself.

The Israeli Parliament abolished the death penalty two years ago except for treason cases and war crimes against the Jewish people.

GOP Too Soft On Soviet, Demo Chairman Says

NEW YORK (AP) —National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler, apparently stung by suggestions that his is a party of appeasement, Tuesday accused the Eisenhower administration of being too soft on the Soviet Union.

Asked in Washington for comment on Butler's assertions, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "Tell him I laughed and said Mr. Butler is the best Democratic national chairman that the Republicans ever had."

Butler contended the Republican administration was taken in by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, let its defenses down and tried to play "footsie with the Russians."

He claimed that in this respect the GOP went further than did the two previous Democratic national administrations of Roosevelt and Truman. The fallacy of the administration thinking, Butler added, was tragically exposed in the collapse of the summit meeting.

In trusting Khrushchev too far, Butler told a news conference at a Democratic convention arrangements meeting, the Eisenhower administration followed "too soft a policy toward Russia in the last two years."

He added that he was not accusing the Republican administration of appeasement, which he defined as a deliberate policy, but rather of an unwitting reliance on the Soviet Communists.

Republicans have used the word appeasement in criticizing Democratic demands for a thorough airing of circumstances surrounding the U2 spy plane crisis and the collapse of the Paris summit meeting.

Butler, in a news conference, urged a tougher policy toward the Soviet Union and added:

"We had too soft a policy toward Russia in the last two years."

Reporters asked if Butler favored a return to a policy of containing the Soviets. Butler replied that he was not a foreign affairs expert and was not advocating a return to any particular policy.

Cool Weather Puts Md. Crops Behind

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Unseasonably cool weather has hindered Maryland crops this season, according to government observers.

The crop reporting service said Tuesday that corn planting is only 65-70 per cent complete compared with 80 per cent at this time last year. Some early planted fields are showing poor stands.

About 10-15 per cent of the soybeans have been planted compared with 20-25 per cent for this date last year.

Weekend rains further delayed field work in most areas.

The bright spot in the state's agriculture picture is the small grains. The government report said prospects there are good to excellent. Pastures also are much improved.

PATH OF DEATH—James J. Dougherty, 25-year-old son of a Chester, Pa., detective, was killed and a companion seriously injured yesterday after their car was virtually torn apart after snapping off a telephone pole. Police Capture Crazed Killer Of Wife, Neighbor

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UPI) — Lloyd Shuffstall, who shot and killed his wife and a neighbor, was captured by State Police Tuesday in a desolate swamp area about 16 miles north of here.

Shuffstall, 52, was taken into custody shortly after 6 p.m. e.d.t. about two miles from his farm home. Police said Shuffstall "showed very little resistance" when he was apprehended. He was armed with a shotgun.

More than 150 police, sheriff deputies and volunteers had been searching for Shuffstall since the shooting. Shuffstall had been released only a week ago from Warren State Hospital where he had been undergoing treatment for a mental condition.

Police said the hunted man had gunned down from ambush Harold DuPont, who lived only a half mile from the Shuffstallls for 17 years. After killing DuPont, the berserk man returned home and killed his wife in her bed, police said.

An official at the state hospital described Shuffstall as a "worrier," but said he had apparently recovered when released May 17 after undergoing treatment for months.

Shuffstall has been scheduled to return Monday to the job he had held for years while also working his rundown farm in the struggle to rear his children, all but two of whom had grown up and left home.

Police said Shuffstall laid a trap for DuPont. Knowing DuPont customarily returned home from his job at an Oil City plant around midnight, Shuffstall blocked the lane leading to the home with logs.

When DuPont stepped from his automobile to remove the blockade, Shuffstall blasted him in the chest with a shot from a heavy gauge shotgun. The slayer then hurried the half - mile to his home, went to the bedroom of his wife, Vera Rose, 47, and shot her to death in sight of two daughters, aged 14 and 7.

Senators Would Honor Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two scientists — Prof. S. F. Singer of Maryland and Prof. J. A. Van Allen of Iowa — would gain special government recognition under a resolution offered Tuesday in the Senate.

Sens. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) and Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) offered the resolution. It would give recognition to the accomplishments of the two scientists in connection with discovery of the Van Allen radiation belt around the earth.

Beall said Van Allen made the discovery of the belt which bears his name and that Singer earlier had advanced the theory of the belt's existence.

"The world scientific community," Beall said, "has recognized the great value of this discovery. The discovery has changed the concept of the radiation environment of the earth, has illuminated the origin of important geophysical phenomena, and also has important implications for manned space flights."

The buckboard wagon was first fashioned for use in the rough, hilly districts of the United States.

Baltimore's Mayor Addresses Lutherans

BALTIMORE (AP)—The leveling and rebuilding of slum areas is not enough in the rejuvenation of a city, Mayor J. Harold Grady said Tuesday.

Grady, addressing the 141st annual Lutheran Synod of Maryland convention, said "What we need along with a face-lifting of the city is a spiritual and moral rejuvenation."

Under the plan the Augustana Lutheran Church (Swedish), the Suomi Synod (Finnish Lutheran Church), American Evangelical Lutheran Church (Danish) and the United Lutheran Church in America would merge.

The merged churches would be known as the Lutheran Church in America with a membership of more than 3,500,000.

38 Dead, 23 Still Missing At Hilo

HONOLULU, (AP) — Hilo mourned its 38 dead Tuesday and fearfully waited word on 23 persons still missing. Some were believed carried out to sea Monday by the series of four tidal waves that swamped the port city of Hawaii Island. All the dead and missing were island residents.

Damage estimates soared to 60 million dollars. This would make the disaster the costliest in Hawaii's peacetime history.

Thomas K. Cook, Hawaii County chairman, said, "We need help and we need it badly." He called on islanders to avoid buying extra food for hoarding.

Residents of the shattered city of 26,000 were urged to drink only boiled water.

Many were using candles and lanterns to light their homes.

Rail Dispute Probe Panels Named By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday named members of two emergency boards created to investigate employe disputes with railroad companies.

Creation of the two three-man boards in the last few days has served to block for at least 60 days a threatened strike against the railroads. Under the Railroad Labor Act, the employes must refrain from striking while the boards investigate the disputes.

One of the disputes is between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Transport Workers Union and certain other employes.

As chairman of the board to look into that dispute, Eisenhower named Frank P. Douglass of Pine, Colo., former chairman of the National Mediation Board. The other members are Dr. Paul H. Sanders, professor of law at Vanderbilt University and an arbitrator for more than 10 years, and A. Langley Coffey of Sand Springs, Okla., an arbitrator since 1943.

Arson Trial Defendant Says Owner Suggested Burning Of Plush Lodge

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A statement that Harrison C. Colket suggested the burning of his plush Chesapeake Bay island lodge was introduced Tuesday at the arson trial of the lodge caretaker.

Maryland state police said the statement was taken Jan. 23 from John G. Dolan, 39-year-old defendant charged with starting the fire.

The name of Colket, president of North American Smelting Co., Wilmington, Del., came up earlier in the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Aukland, Dolan's aunt. She said her nephew told her he set the lodge ablaze as part of an arrangement under which Colket was to collect insurance and pay Dolan "a large sum of money."

The statement admitted into evidence by Circuit Judge J. DeWeese Carter said Colket suggested the scheme during a Dec. 10 visit to the island.

"He asked me if I would like to go into business," the Dolan statement said.

"I told him I would. He then asked me if $30,000 would put me in business. I told him 'yes'.

"He then said the price he had to sell for was far under that which he should get, but that the fire insurance covered a greater amount of money, and if I would see that he got his fire insurance he would see that I got my business."

The lodge was destroyed by flames Dec. 29.

The Dolan statement said Colket told him in a telephone call after the Dec. 10 meeting that Jan. 4 was the effective date of a pending sale. The court was told the sale price was $60,000, but the island was sold for $31,000 after destruction of the lodge.

Dolan had served as caretaker at the place for about four years after 13 years of navy service, officials said. He gave his home address as (3249 Englewood St.) Philadelphia, where his aunt also resides.

Bird Fans Soon May Buy Beer At Seats

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore City Park Board has voted to let baseball fans at Memorial Stadium buy beer at their seats instead of going to a concession beneath the stands for it.

The vote of the seven-member board Tuesday was 4-1, with Board President Frank Marino not voting. One member was absent.

The decision still must be approved by the Liquor Board, which has a regular meeting scheduled for Thursday, before it can become law. The Liquor Board has indicated it would abide by the Park Board's decision.

Mayor J. Harold Grady, Council President Philip Goodman and the entire City Council are on record against the move.

All bricks used in Virginia during the 17th and 18th centuries seem to have been made there and not imported from England, according to some historians.

Potomac Span Bids Requested

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission Tuesday advertised for bids on a proposed bridge to carry the Capitol Beltway across the Potomac River between Maryland and Virginia.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, said the bids will be opened June 21. Construction is expected to start this summer and be finished in two years.

The Maryland terminus of the double-span, 1,400-foot bridge will be at Cabin John near Glen Echo in Montgomery County. The structure will be known as the Cabin John Bridge.

Each span will be 44 feet wide, capable of carrying four lanes of traffic. Initial plans call for three lanes in each direction.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted a former Kensington, Md. man on a charge of evading payment of $20,929 on joint income tax returns for him and his wife 1954 through 1956 while they lived in this state.

The defendant, Lloyd Klenert, 47, is now living in Hollywood, Fla. The indictment noted that he had legally changed his name to Lloyd Roberts.

Klenert resigned in October, 1957, as secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers of America following his appearance before the Senate Antirackets Committee.

Motorist Robbed By Two Negroes

CONOWINGO, Md (AP)—Maryland State Police Tuesday sought two men a New Jersey motorist said robbed him of $81 at Oxford, Pa., and then forced him to drive them into Maryland.

James T. Montague of Tom's River, N. J. said the Negro men approached him as he walked back to his car after mailing a letter at a mail box in Oxford.

One pulled a knife and threatened him. They forced him to drive to Darlington, Md., on U.S. 1 where they made him stop, took his money, the ignition keys and got into a car which had been following them.

State Police identified the victim as Benjamin Stewart, 49, of Forest Hill, Md. The accident happened on the Pleasantville Road about two miles north of Maryland 152.

Bank Robbery Suspect Seized

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 51-year-old former manager of a Baltimore chemical company was charged Tuesday with the $19,000 robbery of a suburban bank more than a year ago.

Robert R. Shively, a native of Greensburg, Pa., was held under $20,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner H. Allen Mezger for the May 18, 1959, holdup of the Parkville branch of the Equitable Trust Co.

The short, mild-mannered Shively had been employed until several weeks ago as manager of the Liedy Chemical Co. in Baltimore, the FBI said. He has resided in the Baltimore area for about 12 years and previously was a civilian employe of the Army's Edgewood Chemical Center.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said FBI agents and Baltimore County police arrested Shively Tuesday.

Kelly said Shively had maintained two residences in Baltimore.

The FBI said Shively had no criminal record.

Montgomery Co. Plans Schools Of New Design

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Board of Education has approved a new approach to school architecture and a stepped-up mathematics program for the seventh and eighth grades.

The new architectural program calls for use of present school plans in some instances and entirely new designs in others. Decisions will depend mostly on terrain.

Architects for six new elementary schools were approved by the board last night. Four will be built according to plans used previously. Two will be all new.

"In those occasions where we have to design new schools," board member Harold S. Briemyer said, "we want really to search out the latest progress and experience in designing for effective instruction."

Construction of the new design schools should start in 15 months. Work on the other four should start soon.

Board officials said the revamped mathematics program is designed "to help meet the needs of youth in the space age."

Under the program, all students will be given more material in algebra and geometry at a faster rate. The brighter students then could take basic work in analytical geometry, calculus and statistics in their last year.

Lester Miller To Be Honored At Open House

Mrs. Willys Wilson, Cumberland, and Mrs. Maynard Bagley, Severna Park, will entertain with an open house in compliment to their father, Lester Miller, Sunday.

It is to be in celebration of his 65th birthday and his retirement as maintenance man at the Evitts Creek Water Works. The party will be at the Bedford Road fire hall, from 2 until 4 o'clock. The hostesses will be assisted by Mrs. Wilson's daughter, Eileen.

A member of the Loyal Order of Moose, 271, Mr. Miller was employed by the late Charles McFarren, prior to working at the waterworks. He and Mrs. Miller reside on Hazen Road.

No formal invitations have been extended, but friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Club Studies Hymn

The history of the hymn, "Lead Us O Father in the Path of Peace," was given by Miss Mabel Twigg at the meeting of the Oldtown Homemakers Club, held in the school cafeteria, with Mrs. Minnie Miller presiding. She explained that the hymn was written by William Henry Burleigh, who was born in Woodstock, Conn. His boyhood was filled with hours of hard labor and he had little schooling. He became a great orator and a man of striking appearance. This hymn is a "prayer for peace." Henry Burleigh was a distinguished choral conductor in England and was knighted in 1892.

The group repeated the Homemakers Creed. Roll call was given by each telling "How I Make Washday Easier." Routine reports were given by Mrs. Margaret Carder and Mrs. Rose Lewis. A talk on "Foodway to Follow" and "Facts on Foods" was given by Mrs. Miller. A contest on "Who Knows Which Are Facts and Fallacies" was given and Mrs. Carder and Mrs. Lewis had highest scores.

It was reported that during a County Council meeting, Oldtown Homemakers Club was selected to send a member to Short Course. As the club could not send a member, Pleasant Valley will be represented. Mrs. Miller reported on cards sent to the sick.

The next meeting will be June 16 at the home of Mrs. Elaine Santymire with Mrs. Evelyn Twigg and Mrs. Callie Jenry cohostesses. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lillian Confer and Mrs. Lewis. There were 10 members present and Kenneth Haugh was a guest.

Cowboy Of Yesteryear Rapidly Growing Extinct

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — What was so special about the old time cowboy?

That question was put to Texas ranchers by the State Memorial Museum recently. One answered. "Cowboys were merely folks, just plain, every-day bow-legged humans."

To keep alive fact rather than fancy surrounding the American cowboy, the museum is putting together a series of public exhibits. Such tools of the cowboy's trade as saddles, bridles, bits, spurs, branding irons and other equipment will be displayed.

"It was his occupation and not his character that standardized the cowboy," said W. W. Newcomb Jr., editor of the museum's magazine.

"His work was remote, sometimes dangerous, often solitary, and consequently, ideal fodder for romantics," Newcomb said.

Newcomb contends the real life cowboy—"trailing along in a fog of dust behind 100 slow-moving drags" — could hardly be called exciting.

And despite efforts of movies and television to keep alive the exploits of these wandering heroes, the fact remains that the cowboy of yesteryear almost has become extinct.

No longer do the riders of the open plains drive large herds of Longhorns north along the famous trails to markets where the going price for a steer was $40, compared with the $6 a head paid in Texas.

There still are a great many men who work cows, but their heyday faded with the turn of the century, according to Newcomb.

"In fact," he said, "the golden age of cow punching lasted little more than 50 years."

"It was brought on," he explained, "by the vast herds of Longhorn cattle that had grown up wild in Texas and were there for enterprising men to round up and burn brands on."

The Longhorns were a strain of Spanish cattle first brought to this continent by the conquistadores in 1521. The herds grew fast on Texas' vast open prairies, but the first big cattle fortunes were not made until the Civil War.

"As the Texas cowboys went up the trails," Newcomb said, "they carried their traditions with them. They had learned to rope, brand and herd cattle, and borrowed their clothing from the Mexican vaqueros — and they passed all of these on to the whole West.

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly 1,250,000 American servicemen are now stationed overseas. Some of them are lucky: They have their families with them, or they are assigned to bases near Western European cities where recreational opportunities abound.

But a great many are single or separated from their families. And they are serving at out-of-the-way defense posts where there's nothing to do on Saturday night except stay on the base—or visit the nearby honky-tonk town with its brawling beer joints and seedy prostitutes.

Military authorities have long recognized that this situation is a serious threat to the morale and morals of servicemen.

Now, at last, something is being done about it.

At the request of top defense officials, and with President Eisenhower's personal blessing, United Service Organizations (USO) has launched a campaign to raise $2,125,000 in private contributions to build off-post social clubs for U.S. military personnel in Alaska, Korea, Guam, Okinawa, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

These are the places where the need for decent off-base recreational facilities is most urgent.

Take Okinawa for example. More than 40,000 U.S. soldiers, airmen and Marines are stationed on that lonely Pacific island. The armed services have provided them with excellent on-base social centers. But a GI feels like he's in jail unless he can get off the base occasionally. His need for a night in town becomes almost a compulsion after he's spent several weekends on the base.

On Okinawa, he has one town —Naha—to visit. It teems with Okinawans who don't like GI's very much. It also boasts some of the toughest dives in the Far East and in the words of one military chaplain, "a very ample supply of prostitutes."

At present there is only a token USO facility on Okinawa. The current fund drive will make possible the construction of two large service clubs, equipped with dance halls, snack bars, lounges, ping pong and pool tables, music rooms and reading rooms.

This is the first time in its 20-year history that USO has conducted a capital funds campaign. In the past, it has relied on makeshift facilities like quonset huts, or rented quarters. The decision to invest in permanent buildings of its own reflects a conviction expressed by Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates: "The service rendered by the USO is at least as important during times of peace as it is during a period of actual war."

USO was organized in 1940 as a joint undertaking of the YMCA, YWCA, National Catholic Community Service, National Jewish Welfare Board, the Salvation Army and the Travelers Aid Association. Its operating budget of about $7,000,000 a year is supplied mainly through community chest and united fund drives in 1,500 communities.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—"If I wanted to run for office in Kyoto, Japan, I'll bet I'd be elected."

That's a Yankee-doodle damsel, Mrs. Milton S. Katz, speaking. The Hinsdale, Mass., housewife just returned from a two-week visit with her pen-pal in Kyoto, Mrs. Suzue Matsubara.

"I was supposed to spend the time around the hearth," Mrs. Katz said in an interview, "but instead I got the red carpet treatment — you know, celebrity handling.

"Every time I poked my nose out of the house, a battery of reporters and photographers engulfed me—firing away with the questions about American life.

"The papers were so full of pictures of me—and my quotes—that it got so I couldn't walk down a Kyoto street without having someone call my name."

Mrs. Katz's trip was a prize awarded for winning an essay contest sponsored by Letters Abroad Inc., the letter-writing phase of President Eisenhower's people-to-people program.

It was through letters abroad that Mrs. Katz became a pen pal of Mrs. Matsubara. The pen-sealed kinship between the Japanese housewife and Mrs. Katz is one of 250,000 arranged by Letters Abroad between American adults and persons with similar interests around the world.

Mrs. Katz managed her magnificent impression in Kyoto under certain handicaps. She does not speak Japanese. Nor was she prepared for the customs—living in a Japanese home, eating Japanese food and sleeping on a mat on the floor at night.

"The first time around," she said, "I handled the chopsticks in a clumsy manner. You would have thought they were crow bars to watch me. But after a while, I couldn't be told from the natives."

Mrs. Katz said that families in Kyoto are much like families everywhere. They are caught up in the struggle for health, education and the other necessities of life.

Purpose Defeated

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —A new superhighway was opened over the weekend to bypass the Copenhagen suburb of Lyngby and eliminate a major traffic bottleneck. The opening result was chaos.

"The promise of improved industrial activity over the best part of the year ahead reinforces this conviction," said the Fitch Survey.

Fitch cited such domestic developments as an anticipated increase in defense spending; possibility that the Federal Reserve System will reduce margin requirements for buying stock from 90 per cent to 70 or even 50 per cent; and generally favorable prospects for good business.

"We suggest that the investor discard any remaining cynicism and adopt a more constructive attitude," Fitch said. "A new phase in the stock market's profitable panorama is obviously unfolding."

Standard & Poor's Corp. said it expects the market rally to continue although it may run into occasional storms.

The firm anticipates that heightening of cold war pressures will sustain speculative interest in a number of stock groups that have been "out of favor and acting as depressants to the general list."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Bill Holden, whose international travels help support the world airlines, planes in from Hong Kong today for some quick huddles with his agent Charlie Feldman—the most important being closing the deal for Bill to star in "The Wingate Story" in England. It figures this war story, which Sidney Buchman will produce for 20th release, would be made abroad because this is all Bill is accepting these days.

With his family settled in Switzerland—also his money—he's completely enamored with life in Europe. All his upcoming movies are being filmed abroad including his next for Perlberg-Seaton, "Counterfeit Traitor" starting in Berlin June 7th. Before this, Bill had a long run ferrying back and forth between Hong Kong and London on "World of Suzie Wong."

A very tempting offer has been made to Carol Heiss, American Olympics skating champion for 1961 by 20th Century - Fox, but so far she hasn't accepted. The reason she is debating the offer is that she and her husband Hayes Allen Jenkins, who was 1956 Olympics figure skating champion and holds more world figure skating championships than any other man, do not want to turn pro.

20th has all those delightful Sonja Henie movies, some of the wonderful stories Sonja made with Tyrone Power when she first came to this country, and that's the idea back of the offer. So far Carol hasn't accepted, but the studio is still hoping.

Any casting on "The Big Bankroll" interests me because I so enjoyed Leo Katcher's book on the life of Arnold Rothstein. The girl now set to play the ladylike, retiring wife of the big shot gambler is Zohra Lambert who recently finished "Pay or Die" with Ernie Borgnine. Allied Artists has lifted Zohra's option for four more movies.

Richard Widmark has been reading the part of Rothstein—and he wants to do it. But he has a commitment in Vienna to star in "The Secret Ways" starting in July—and if the writers strike holds up production much longer on "Big Bankroll" he can't accept—unless Allied Artists is willing to wait for him.

An amusing conversation between Barney Ruditsky, former well known New York police figure and now co-producer of the TV series "The Lawless Years", and Orry Kelly took place at MGM. Orry, who is designing Gina Lollobrigida's wardrobe for "Lady L" has known Barney for 20 years and it wasn't until the two of them had lunch at the studio commissary that Orry confessed that in the days when Barney was most active in knocking over offenders against prohibition, he was running a speakeasy in the very spot where Radio City now stands in New York.

Barney told Orry that he is marrying pretty blonde Kay Neaman, MGM commissary cashier, the last Saturday in October.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♥

East's foresight in guarding so unimpressive a holding as 8-6-2 of clubs permitted his side to defeat a four spade contract today which declarer had been well on his way toward bringing home.

Having no attractive opening, West chose to lead the doubleton heart and struck oil. East cashed the ace and king and permitted partner to ruff the third round. West exited with a trump, and declarer pulled the remaining spade.

On the surface it would appear that declarer's hope to fulfill contract rested with the club finesse. However, South chose to play West for the queen of clubs as well as the king of diamonds. He had already learned that East held a A-K-J of hearts and the queen of spades had passed as opener, declarer decided not to play him for any more high cards. True enough, the addition of the queen of clubs to the East hand would not necessarily have induced him to bid, but there was a further consideration. When West ruffled the third round of hearts, he got out with a trump rather than a club. Refusal to lead clubs made it somewhat more likely that he held something in the suit.

Declarer cashed his ace of diamonds and the good heart and proceeded to run all the trumps, reducing the North hand to A-7-4 of clubs and his own hand to the K-J of clubs and the queen of diamonds. At this point, in order to hold the king of diamonds, West was obliged to let go a club. Had East let go one of his clubs, dummy's three clubs would then have become high. Instead, however, he decided to let go his diamonds, knowing from the discards that his partner held on to the king. By retaining his three clubs he was able to cover the dummy's seven of clubs in the end and prevent the squeeze against his partner.

A swimsuit must be feminine AND flattering!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In The Swim

This year, Neptune's daughter will wear a swim suit that's short, sweet and brief.

But if you have not been faithful to the figure-shaping exercises recommended by this column and have some doubts about your ability to do justice to the scant, form-hugging maillot, don't worry. You can still get into the swim down at the beach in most attractive fashion. There are dozens of other suits that are just as new and as smart as the pocket-sized editions.

Just be sure you settle for nothing less than a suit that reveals your best figure points and minimizes those of which you are less than proud.

Maybe your shoulders are beautiful as alabaster and you carry yourself magnificently but you'd like to keep attention away from your hips. A strapless one-piece suit with elasticized top will be perfect for you. Designed with pleated skirts or slim tunic drapings, these suits are the last word in fashion. With them you can achieve a smooth hipline and great chic at the same time.

If thigh heaviness makes you swim-suit shy but you can boast a trim waistline, place your bets on the dressmaker suit and have it fitted as slick as your best frock. Or, try a suit with wide straps, low, low back and sleek front. Suits with the "little boy" shorts treatment also minimize thighs. Stay away from the princess line or hip ruffles and shirring, and you can't go wrong. And take advantage in the choice of your beach accessories that this really feminine type of suit permits. Ensemble your robe, sandals and beach bag with an eye to picking up the most becoming color in the suit if it is printed or to contrast sharply by a fashionable print if the suit is monotone. If you do it right, you can take an important place in the sun!

Fashion notes: Nylon, cotton, wool knits, and elasticized fabrics of all kinds: wrinkle - shedding and permanent finishes; tartans, prints — eastern, Hawaiian, silk; appliques and monotones; pastels, white and bright, clear colors.

TOMORROW: Baby Fat.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I used to read your column for jokes but now I find myself turning to you for help. I'm sure some of your readers will bust their sides laughing at my problem, but it's not funny.

It all started when I used to needle my wife about how easy she had it with nothing to do but watching TV, reading, making a couple of meals, fixing the bed and playing with our two kids.

I must have overdone it because when I was laid off last month my wife made me a proposition — she'd go back to work at her old job if I'd take over at home. It seemed like a gag and I took her up on it for laughs.

Now I'm at my wit's end. The kids are driving me insane. I've given up trying to do the laundry — everything goes out. Even so there's not enough time to get groceries in the house, cook and clean. I don't know how she did it.

I haven't read a book or seen TV in three weeks. After the kids are in bed I fall asleep in the chair.

My wife says she feels like she's on a vacation. I'm supposed to go back to work next week but she says she likes it the way it is. So, Ann Landers, what do I do now? —BEAT

(P. S. How do you get bubble-gum out of kids' hair?)

DEAR BEAT: Get on your knees, Bub, and tell your ever-lovin' you've had it, and you'll never open your mouth again.

Tell her if you can't find a suitable medal you'll dip yourself in bronze and make a public presentation. In short, eat a large portion of humble pie and go back to work.

(P. S. If cleaning fluid doesn't work, try the scissors.)

DEAR ANN: I'm a 13-year-old boy who has REAL trouble. There are four generations living under this roof — myself, my mother and father, my grandmother and my great-grandmother.

All the women want to cook in the kitchen and be boss. My grandmother is 69 and treats my mother as if she were four. Great-Granny is 87 and her memory isn't very good. She thinks my mother is my Aunt Lulu who died 10 years ago.

My mother is modern but HER mother is always yelling that I should wear long underwear and take sulphur and molasses and junk like that. She's also very tight about electricity. She thinks I shouldn't read at night because it uses too much juice.

There's a lot of friction in our house. Please tell me what to do —DINTY

DEAR DINTY: Your mother is your boss. Do as she says but be respectful to the others.

DEAR ANN: I was married briefly to a 24-carat creep. His family is prominent in this city and the name is well known. I dislike being identified with him or his people. This is almost impossible because I am Mrs. — until I remarry, if I ever do.

I find myself saying repeatedly "I'm not married to Harvey any longer." This is clumsy and it makes me uncomfortable. What do you suggest I do to smooth over the embarrassment? —STUCK WITH A RITZY NAME

DEAR STUCK: The alternative is so obvious I'm surprised you didn't hit on it. Go to court and get your maiden name back.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Baltimore Police To Pick Up Bad Check Artist Here

Baltimore Police yesterday indicated they will arrive in Cumberland today to pick up a former Los Angeles man being held here for passing several bad checks.

Cumberland police said Robert Larry Mapes, 32, of Baltimore was arrested here Sunday and is being held for the Baltimore authorities on a charge of larceny after trust.

Checks drawn on the Bank of America in Los Angeles for two automobiles bounced and also ended in Mapes' flight from Baltimore.

Mapes, who came east from Los Angeles in March and worked as a griddle man in a Baltimore restaurant, passed a bad check on the Los Angeles bank when he purchased a 1955 auto in Baltimore.

Police said after he ditched the car on Monument Street, he "bought" another car with a bad check and headed west with a woman friend for Las Vegas where she was to get a divorce.

However, the flight ended on Washington Streeet Sunday night when the woman called for police.

The first governmental employment bureaus were established in France in 1843.

Some Fruit Damaged By Hail Storm

The storm was widespread but the hail was localized, with the Levels section of Hampshire County, where much fruit is grown, receiving the worst in this area.

Next in relation to damage was Irons Mountain and Martins Mountain, where Consolidated Orchards Company has extensive holdings.

The Levels area was the only place in which the damage was considered severe. The Allegany County orchards received only light damage.

Edwin Gould, entomologist at the West Virginia University experimental farm at Kearneysville in Jefferson county, said while the hail caused much harm to a high percentage of the fruit, there is good possibility much of the crop can be salvaged.

At Levels, peaches, which have not been thinned, are heavy on the trees and therefore the hail is not expected to cut that crop to any extent.

The more popular varieties of apples, the Delicious and Stayman Winesap, are not having a heavy yield this year and the hail will cut the revenue expected from those varieties.

The Yorks and Rambo apples at Levels would have had a heavy crop this year and hail damage will cut their market value.

Henry L. Miller Jr., president of Consolidated Orchards, said its holdings in Morgan and Hampshire counties were not affected by the hail.

In speaking of the effects of the storm on Martins and Irons mountains, Miller said his firm can hand thin much of the damaged fruit from the trees. He said the regular thinning has not been started and the damaged fruit can be removed when it does.

The hail came with little wind, Miller reported. However, if it would hail two months from now, the fruit would be larger and the damage more extensive.

Ellerslie Man's Will Admitted To Probate

The will of George Lester Conner, Ellerslie, who died March 6 was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

A son, Kenneth A. Conner, was named executor of the estate. He and another son, James A. Conner, were named beneficiaries.

Food Plan In County Discontinued

A discussion was held yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with William J. Brugger, supervisor of the donable foods program for the state, concerning the county's announced plan of dropping the distribution of surplus federal food after the June allotment.

Brugger presented each commissioner with a listing of the amounts of food distributed and also the wholesale cost of the food. The value of the food given out in the past year was $115,582.

Brugger said savings in the program could be obtained by having a special postal rate for mailing out various notices and forms to persons receiving the food and using a cheaper storage plan.

Commissioner John J. Rowan told Brugger that since the announcement at the end of the program the board had not received any complaints on the matter. He said the cost of the food distribution and type of food being allotted were two factors in the decision to end the program.

Another matter was the discovery that some of the food had been discarded by persons receiving it at the various distribution points. Not too many people were making use of the food as during the past month only 1,000 families obtained the food while 1,700 families were eligible.

The surplus food being distributed consists of flour, dried milk, dried eggs, rice, cornmeal and lard. Brugger said a workshop could be set up to show the proper methods of preparing the foods.

Brugger also said the office of Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the program for Allegany County, has 13 sheets of paper with the names of persons who would like to have the program continued.

Rowan inquired as to the origin of the lists. Brugger said he understood the lists were at the surplus food office and applicants for the food there were told they could sign them if they wanted the program to continue.

Bid Accepted By County

The bid of the Burroughs Corporation to furnish three validating and receipting machines for the county tax office for $3,077.40 was accepted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The only other bid was that of Mel's Cash Register, a local concern, to furnish the machines for $1,287 each. The machines are of Swedish manufacture and delivery could not be made until 10 or 12 weeks, according to the bid.

The Burroughs firm will deliver the three machines by June 1.

One bidder from Hagerstown came into the office at 10:45 a. m. to present a bid but Leslie J. Clark, board attorney, said the official opening of the bids was advertised for 10:30 a. m. and the bid could not be received.

The Hagerstown man said he had thought this county was on Standard Time.

The county tax collector's office is being equipped with many office machines to handle the annual tax collecting job more efficiently and quickly.

Ward Is Elected To Honorary Group

He also became a member of Phi Lambda Upsilon, an honorary chemical society, last week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gray Ward, 10 Helman Drive, LaVale.

Pools In Area Open Season On Holiday

Local and area swimming pools and spas are preparing to open over the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

Pools opening here over the weekend are Constitution Park, Celanese, Minke's and Cumberland Country Club.

Garrett County will open its recreational facilities and Shawnee State Park near Manns Choice, Pa., also will begin its season.

C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, said Constitution Park pool will be open Sunday from 1 to 9 p. m. and Monday from noon to 9 p. m. The pool will be open only on weekends until June 11, the day after schools in the county begin summer vacation.

The pool has been sand blasted and painted in medium blue along the sides and at the 10-foot end, Mason said.

Celanese pool plans to open Saturday; Minke's Sunday, weather permitting; and the Country Club Monday.

In Garrett County, William H. Johnson, assistant state forester, said last-minute preparations are being made for thousands of people over the weekend.

Lifeguards to be on duty at swimming facilities in four recreation areas have been named.

On duty at New Germany will be Victor Reuschlein, of LaVale, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College; James McKenzie, graduate of Northern High School in Garrett County, and Fred Sammel city, a student at Carnegie Tech.

At Deep Creek Lake State Park, John Foreman, of Southern High; David Hersheiser, Fort Hill High student; and David Stone, LaVale, Potomac State student, will assume responsibilities of lifeguard.

The guards, Johnson said, will work an eight hour day and will be given a 10-minute rest period each hour.

On Saturday and Sunday and holidays efforts will be made to have three guards on duty to keep an eye on swimmers.

In Pennsylvania, Shawnee State Park will open its 10th season Saturday. A passenger boat that will take visitors on a tour of the lake tops the list of new features.

Ralph Benna, park superintendent, announced Thursday that rowboats will be owned and rented this year by Andy Stocklas of Cairnbrook, through a lease agreement with the state. This is the first time in the park's history that the state has not rented boats.

The lease also calls for Stocklas to operate the passenger boat and conduct a tour of points of interest around the lake. The boat will carry 20 passengers and make 30-minute trips.

It was also disclosed that Roy E. Lohr of Schellsburg will operate the refreshment concession this season. Lohr is well known in the area as a collector of Indian relics which he has acquired in Pennsylvania and West Virginia over the last 20 years.

The swimming pool of Chalybeate, Bedford, will open Memorial Day, as well as the outside refreshment stand. Owner Thomas Burtnett said that he was anticipating a big opening day at the resort.

Bids Are Sought

Board Discusses LaVale Sewage Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday discussed the proper procedure in handling requests for sewage and water systems in communities in the area.

Officials of the State Department of Health met with the board yesterday along with William Walsh, attorney for an Ellerslie group, to discuss the problem.

The Ellerslie group wants a water supply system as a survey showed many wells in that community were contaminated.

LaVale area residents are interested in a sewage plan while a number of other sections either have a problem or will have one in the near future, according to the county board.

It was decided to let the recently named County Planning Commission go over the entire matter before any decision was made on the procedures which should be followed.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, said the mechanics of the plan selected can be worked out after the Planning Commission sets up a program.

Commissioner John T. Mason suggested that the Planning Commission hear the various groups and then seek a solution. One plan is to employ a firm of consulting engineers to study the entire problem of county planning.

Selection of a countywide sanitary commission was also suggested by Commissioner John J. Rowan. The problem should be tackled on a county-wide basis, Rowan said, as the piecemeal method is not satisfactory.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said something should be done as soon as possible for Ellerslie as it has an acute problem.

The State Health Department officials told the commissioners they would be willing to lend any assistance possible in the program set up by the county board.

The board also received a query from the representative of a national firm which handles billboard advertising concerning any action taken by the County Planning Commission on the billboards.

Commissioner Mason said the Planning Commission will not get into zoning for 18 months to two years from now.

Centenary Church Program Tomorrow

The Sunday School of Centenary Methodist Church, on Bedford Road near the state line, will sponsor a May Day Festival Friday at 5 p. m.

A program is scheduled for 7 p. m. featuring the May Queen, Linda Brant, and her court. Attendants are Cheryl Growden, and Nora Gillum, intermediate department; Cindy Dougherty and Ann Brant, junior department, and Patricia Growden and Carol Growden, primary department. Christine Growden will be crown bearer.

Urban Renewal To Be Stressed At Conference

"Urban Renewal for Maryland Cities" will be the theme of the 12th annual conference of the Maryland Municipal League in Ocean City, June 19-21.

Other top speakers will be Ben T. Perry, special assistant to the administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Richard Steiner, executive director of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

Mr. Perry will speak on the "Workable Program" of the federal agency and Mr. Steiner will discuss the opportunity of smaller communities to participate in the Urban Renewal program.

The afternoon session will feature planning for community development. Experienced state and municipal officials will give examples of steps municipalities should take in planning sound communities.

Roundtable discussions are scheduled at the Tuesday morning session for clerks, treasurers, attorneys and councilmen, prior to Governor Tawes' address.

The annual luncheon will be held Tuesday at noon and the afternoon session will feature a discussion on state legislation of concern to municipalities.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who is a vice president, will attend the convention and a number of City Hall staffers plan to attend one or more sessions.

He is an intelligence analyst, a former history teacher at Greenbelt High School and veteran of two years' military service during World War II. Richards has been a resident of Arlington since 1954 and resides at 2653 North Richmond Street. Last year, he was chairman of ABG's Precinct Organization Committee.

He is married to the former Ellen Petersen of Prospect Park, Pa., and they have two children.

At that meeting, said Mr. Pearson, those charged with the national defense concluded that in the event of another Berlin blockade the U. S. would be in a poor position to meet force with force. The decision to attend the summit meeting resulted from this conclusion.

The meeting failed, he said, entirely because of the U-2 incident, as Premier Khrushchev wanted the summit meeting and would not have wrecked it had not the U-2 incident forced him to do so.

Pressures On "Mr. K"

Mr. Pearson said the "spy plane" incident caused Khrushchev to feel pressure from three sources—Red China, which doesn't want to see an end to the cold war; the Red Army, which dislikes talk of disarmament; and the Stalinist clique in the Kremlin, which probably believes Khrushchev has been too easy with the West anyway.

In answer to a question, Mr. Pearson said he thinks the next world crisis will be precipitated in the Formosa Straits by the Red Chinese.

Mr. Pearson was introduced by Miles G. Thompson Jr., president of the Rotary Club of Cumberland, which was host for the intercity Rotary Ann night.

Heigh-Ho And Up She Goes!

Those earnest market analysts who worship at the shrine of the late Charles H. Dow are now looking for the Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks to test the "resistance level" of 625-630, when only a scant week ago they were looking for the list to "test the March lows" of around 590. This may sound like gibberish, but what it means is that people think that stocks may continue to go up in price who a week ago thought they were going down.

The famous Dow Theory is named for the first editor of the Wall Street Journal — and cofounder of Dow, Jones & Co. — who in the 1890s outlined certain trail-blazing ideas about stock market forecasting. His successor and close friend, William P. Hamilton, organized these concepts into what he called the Dow Theory.

In its simplest form, the Theory holds that the average price of a representative group of stocks, once having set a definite pattern, will persist in that pattern until certain "reversal signals" appear on the chart or graph of the index. Market analysts have developed numerous variations, refinements, corollaries, and extensions of that basic concept.

In the present condition of the market, should the index, as was expected a week ago, have fallen below the March lows, that would have been in the general consensus a "sell signal" indicating that the market was going to get even more bearish. Now, a break through the 625-630 "resistance level" would probably be a "buy signal."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Size Of Espionage

In his 1950 report, J. Edgar Hoover said:

"In 1947 we received 798 espionage matters. In 1948 we received 1,227, and in 1949, 1,939, while in 1950 we had 3,523."

In his 1959 report, Hoover said:

"Despite the Soviet Russian peace front the activities of the Communist-bloc intelligence services have continued down to the present time. Evaluation of investigative developments during the past year has shown that the current Red leadership has no intention of relaxing its efforts, and that the increasing pressure of foreign-directed espionage networks will continue indefinitely. Our investigative countermeasures have also provided us with a means of estimating the degree of Soviet-satellite intelligence activities being conducted in the United States under the guise of diplomatic status."

In the same report, Hoover stated:

"As part of the Abel case, Hayhanen related to the FBI that one of his assignments was to deliver $5,000 to Helen Sobell, wife of Morton Sobell, convicted member of the Julius Rosenberg espionage network, as a reward for Sobell's silence. Sobell, it will be recalled, never confessed and extensive efforts have been made by the Communists in an effort to free him.

"The task of the delivery of the money to Mrs. Sobell had been given originally to Abel who, through fear of exposure as a result of FBI coverage of Helen Sobell, buried the money in two caches in Bear Mountain State Park in New York. Subsequently, on instructions from Abel, Hayhanen dug up the money for delivery to Helen Sobell. However, he did not make this delivery but instead appropriated the funds for his own use . . ."

Hoover also said in this report:

"Because of the nature of our counterespionage and intelligence work, its effectiveness cannot necessarily be measured in terms of convictions secured or sentences imposed. Prosecutions are no measure of success in counterespionage and intelligence activities. Foreign intelligence personnel are often protected by diplomatic immunity and are quick to exploit our constitutional guarantees. Often, disclosure of their activities through public trial would compromise highly classified information . . ."

For his 1960 appropriation, J. Edgar Hoover reported:

"Despite Soviet advocacy of an ostensible 'Peace Front,' there has been no letup in Red subversion. To the contrary, the Soviet Union's much heralded 'peaceful coexistence' campaign has opened the door for foreign-directed espionage on an accelerated scale.

"To the Soviets, this slogan is merely a tactical expedient clearly designed to expand international Communism's capabilities for espionage and subversion. Experience has taught the bitter truth that never should we be more alert than when Communist powers cloak their drive for world domination behind appeasement policies.

"Our investigations have clearly disclosed an overall expansion of Soviet bloc intelligence activities against the United States. There has been a predominantly widespread use of 'legal' agents operating under the guise of diplomatic status. There are indications, further, of a general tightening-up of the organizational structure of the Soviet intelligence apparatus. There can be little doubt that this increasing pressure of foreign-directed espionage activity will continue with added emphasis for an indefinite future period."

"Fraudulent passports have, traditionally, been standard equipment for spies and subversives. Though we have been confronted with this deception for many years, the problem today has become even more difficult . . .

"Top Party functionaries have stated that it will now be 'easy' for the party. What was meant, of course, was that (the Supreme Court) ruling will facilitate the travel of spies, couriers, and subversives. The next time a representative of the Communist Party is summoned to the Soviet Union, he will not even have to go to the trouble of using an alias.

"The Party has lost no time in capitalizing upon the ease with which passports may now be obtained. A steady stream of Party people, including such long-time functionaries as Alexander Trachtenberg, James Jackson, George Morris, and Victor J. Jerome, applied for and received passports for travel to the Soviet Union. Obviously individuals of this type are not going to Russia for vacation purposes."

These passports are sometimes used by unauthorized persons in other countries. They are also handed over to Russians, Poles, Czechs, Hungarians and other spies for use in neutral countries.

Bachelor Sam Rayburn Battles For Better Schools For U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—With the USA still smarting from the humiliation of Paris, the House of Representatives starts grappling with a less publicized, but perhaps deeper, humiliation—our educational lag compared to Communist Russia.

What the House starts debating is an education bill which would vote $975,000,000 for school construction. Already the bill has seen some of the bitterest backstage battling of the year, and it will see more—including a controversy ove. Catholic schools —before the debate is over.

Here is the lineup of the pushers and pullers-back which the education bill faces:

The pushers are: Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who has no children but is determined that the United States shall not lag behind Russia in education; together with Democratic Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey and Lee Metcalf of Montana.

Puller-back No. 2: Is President Eisenhower, who has threatened a veto of the bill. His Republican leaders and many Republican Congressmen will vote against it.

Puller-back No. 3: Is Congressman Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee, Democrat, who wants a school bill passed but wants to provide funds for Catholic schools. His proposal would probably torpedo the bill because many Republicans would support it, then turn around and use it as an excuse for voting against education altogether.

Representative Thompson, coauthor of the bill and himself a Catholic, has done his best to persuade Zablocki not to risk defeating the education bill with his parochial school proposal. Most Catholics in the House are also against Zablocki, and for a time he held up his bill. However, he now plans to introduce it on the House floor.

Mr. Sam Warns

Here is some of the backstage battling necessary to finally pry the education bill out of the recalcitrant rules committee so the entire House of Representatives could vote on it.

"You'd better get busy and grant a rule for this bill," 78-year-old Sam Rayburn warned Chairman Smith. "It's been delayed too long in your committee. If you don't, the House will take it up anyway under the Calendar Wednesday procedure. The members have every right to vote on this legislation and I intend to see that they do."

"I'm still opposed to the legislation and do not think we should give it a rule," Smith told the Rules Committee. "However, regardless of my own feelings, the leadership insists that the committee vote on it today, so I will not stand in the way. But I think the committee also should give some consideration to Congressman Zablocki's substitute bill."

"I have received a letter from Mr. Zablocki stating that he wishes to withdraw his bill," spoke up Democrat James Delaney of New York. "He feels that there may be some constitutional objections to a provision giving the states discretionary power to allocate Federal aid funds to private schools. He wants to give more study to this."

Though Republicans overwhelmingly oppose the Democratic school bill, nonetheless it was a kindly Carroll Reece of Tennessee, a Republican, who broke the 6-to-6 deadlock in the rules committee.

"This doesn't mean I favor the Thompson bill," explained Reece in the tense, closed-door atmosphere. "In fact, I reserve the right to oppose it on the floor. But I don't think this committee, composed of 12 members, should stand in the way of a vote by the full membership of the House."

The Closed-Door Vote

Reece thus joined with six Democrats — Delaney (N. Y.), Ray Madden (Ind.), James Trimble (Ark.), Homer Thornberry (Texas), Richard Bolling (Mo.), and Thomas O'Neill (Mass.)—in the 7-to-5 vote to clear the education bill for a full House vote.

The five who voted to keep the school bill tied up on the rules committee were: Democrats Smith (Va.) and William Colmer (Miss.), plus Republicans Leo Allen (Ill.), Clarence Brown (Ohio) and Hamer Budge, (Idaho).

During the brisk debate, Democrat Madden needled GOP colleagues: "I was a follower of President Eisenhower when he spoke about our school classroom shortages in 1952 and 1956 and promised to do something about it We have waited seven years for him to fulfill that promise.

"Now he is threatening to veto the Thompson Bill at a time when we are trying to catch up in the education race with Russia, which surpassed us 15 years ago in turning out scientists and technicians for the coming space age. So I am disenchanted with the President."

"The President wants to solve the classroom shortage as much as you do," snapped GOP Budge of Idaho, "but he is against Federal control of the public schools."

"The Thompson Bill would continue state and local control of the schools," shot back Madden. "It doesn't deal with textbooks or curricula, but only provides financial help to build the additional school facilities we need."

DeGaulle Emerges As New Leader Of The West

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS.

General De Gaulle's emergence as the leader of the West, at any rate for the time being, was the least noticed but far from the lease important result of the explosion at the summit.

A much greater debt is owed to the French president than most people understand. His untroubled perception, his icy imperturbability in a moment of potential danger, almost certainly prevented an even uglier result in Paris than the ugly result that was finally produced.

De Gaulle, as the world now knows, was the first to learn from Khrushchev himself that the Soviet boss did not intend to negotiate at all unless President Eisenhower opened the conference with a humiliating public capitulation in the matter of the U-2. From that moment, after Khrushchev had called on him on the Sunday morning before the conference was to begin, De Gaulle was like a rock.

The same cannot be said of Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. The British leader definitely favored gestures, concessions and apologies, in order to persuade Khrushchev to get down to business. Moreover, the President's viewpoint was not immensely different from the Prime Minister's, although the majority of the President's staff took Gen. De Gaulle's opposing view.

De Gaulle's view was, quite simply, that Khrushchev would be satisfied with nothing less than total capitulation, which would be fatal. Therefore he argued that half measures of appeasement would only add the embarrassment of eating humble pie (to the misfortune of the conference's collapse). De Gaulle's sound judgment was proven by the response that Macmillan got from Khrushchev, when the Prime Minister tried to glue the conference together again after the explosion at the first session.

Even before that, however, experiments with eating humble pie might well have been made, if it had not been for De Gaulle's influence in the other direction. In sum, De Gaulle's weight tipped the balance in favor of realism and dignity.

The effect of all this on President Eisenhower's situation is decidedly curious. By virtue of the power of the United States, he ought to be the unchallenged leader of the Western Alliance. Until now, he ha been just that. Now, however, solely by virtue of the strange power of his personality, De Gaulle has taken the lead.

The effect of this subtle but undeniable change in the Western pecking order will depend on whether Nikita S. Khrushchev is merely planning on a lull at Berlin or wants a lull everywhere until a new president takes over.

President Eisenhower himself has evidently decided on a policy of just keeping things ticking over for the rest of his term. Before he left Paris, he was strongly urged to break off the disarmament and nuclear test negotiations by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates and Chairman John J. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission. He rejected this advice, which clearly implies the intention to keep thinks ticking over.

If Khrushchev is prepared to allow a worldwide lull, the policy of just keeping things ticking over will work very well indeed. But it will not work at all if the lull is to be limited to Berlin.

Suppose, for instance, that the unprecedented indignation meeting staged in Peking on Friday presages new troubles in the Far East, in Laos, or worse still, on Formosa's offshore islands. No moves anywhere would better serve Khrushchev's obvious purpose of doing everything possible to divide the Western Allies before the next round of negotiations about Berlin. A renewed attack on the offshore islands would automatically produce the most violent emotions in London. Another small scale but potentially decisive invasion of Laos would be almost as bad.

President Eisenhower, alas, can no longer deal with such challenges as he dealt with them before. Because he has lost prestige and confidence in the alliance, he will risk all sorts of ruptures with the other allies if he simply goes his own way, as he successfully did in the Quemoy crisis. In short, he now needs to be assured in advance of the support which he was previously able to take for granted.

Therefore, what now seems to be in order is informal consultation with De Gaulle about the various trouble spots where Khrushchev may attempt to probe. If consulted, De Gaulle is the ally who can be most surely counted on to approve a firm policy. And Eisenhower-plus-De-Gaulle will make a combination which the other allies will still feel called upon to follow, as they used to feel called upon to follow Eisenhower alone.

Inside Washington

PERSONALITY BATTLE — President Eisenhower's decision not to reappoint William R. Connole to the Federal Power Commission has all the makings of the personality fight-of-the-year in Congress.

Eisenhower told a news conference after the word had leaked out that he wanted to find "a better man" to succeed Connole, a political independent. That phrase is coming back to haunt the President.

The man Eisenhower nominated was Thomas J. Donegan, a former FBI agent, who has admitted that he "never had anything to do with utilities outside of paying my gas bills."

Although the President had to select a non-Republican by law, and Donegan is a Democrat, the Democrats on Capitol Hill are up in arms. They contend that Eisenhower replaced Connole because he was too friendly to consumer interests in natural gas cases which come before the commission and not sympathetic enough with the business tycoons who run the huge pipeline companies.

Some maintain that Ike hoped to put them on the spot by making them oppose a registered member of their own political party. However, they insist that the President has miscalculated.

They recall last year's big fight over the confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of Commerce, and maintain they have the votes to defeat anyone for the FPC post, just as they did on the Strauss nomination.

Interested observers believe that the Democrats have a good chance of making a full-blown campaign issue out of the situation in the FPC. They can again raise the specter of the Eisenhower administration's excessive sympathy with "big business."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Dodge City was a rough town in the 1870's. A dusty road was called Front Street. There were hitching rails, some boarding houses and shops, and a place called The Long Branch. A sign in the middle of the road said: "The Carrying of Fire Arms Strictly Forbidden." Underneath it said: "Try Prickly Ash Bitters."

In the latter part of the decade, as The Kansas Historical Quarterly reminds me, William B. "Bat" Masterson was sheriff. He was paid $75 a month. He wasn't great. In the summer of 1878, Deputy Marshal McCarty was shot in the Long Branch. Fannie Keenan, alias Dora Hand, was also shot and killed.

City Marshal Edward J. Masterson was slaughtered by drunken cowboys. On October 27, 1877, George Wilson, the only man in jail, escaped. The most exciting news occurred on April 5, 1879, when Frank Loving and Levi Richardson dueled with guns in the Long Branch. The Ford County Globe reported the story as follows:

"There is seldom witnessed in any civilized town or country such a scene as transpired at the Long Branch saloon, in this city, last Saturday evening, resulting in the killing of Levi Richardson, a well known freighter, by a gambler named Frank Loving.

"For several months Loving has been living with a woman toward whom Richardson seems to have cherished tender feelings and on one or two occasions they have quarreled and even come to blows. Richardson was a man who had lived for several years on the frontier, and though well liked in many respects, he had cultivated habits of bold and daring, which are always likely to get a man into trouble. He was young and strong and reckless.

"Loving is a man of whom we know but very little. He is a gambler by profession; not much of a rowdy, but more of the cool and desperate order, when he has a killing on hand. He is about 25 years old.

"As stated in the evidence, they met, one said: 'I don't believe you will fight.' The other answered: 'Try me and see,' and immediately both drew murderous revolvers and at it they went, in a room filled with people, the leaden missives flying in all directions. There is no telling how long the fight might have lasted had not Richardson been pierced with bullets and Loving's pistol been left without a cartridge.

"Richardson was shot in the breast, through the side and through the right arm. It seems strange that Loving was not hit, except a slight scratch on the hand, as the two men were so close together that their pistols almost touched each other.

"Eleven shots were fired, six by Loving, five by Richardson. Richardson only lived a few moments after the shooting. Loving was placed in jail to await the verdict of the coroner's jury, which was 'Self Defense' and he was released. Richardson has no relatives in this vicinity. He was from Wisconsin. About 28 years old."

"I know Levi Richardson. He was in the saloon just before the fuss, standing by the stove. He started to go out and went as far as the door when Loving came in. Richardson turned and followed. Loving sat down at the hazard table. Richardson sat near him. Loving got up, making some remark to Richardson. Loving says to Richardson: 'If you have anything to say about me why don't you come and say it to my face like a gentleman, and not to my back you ——— —— —— — ————!' Richardson stood and said! 'You wouldn't fight anything, you damn ——!' Loving said: 'You try me and see.'

"Richardson drew his pistol first. Loving also drew a pistol. Three or four shots were fired when Richardson fell by the billiard table. He fell on his hands and knees. He did not fire after he fell. No persons were shooting except the two mentioned. When it started, Loving's pistol snapped twice and I think Richardson shot twice before Loving's pistol was discharged."

Dodge City must have been a great place. Much tougher, I would guess, than Greenwich Village, where the perfumed dandies, when aroused, will brain a man with a powder puff. . .

Hypnotizing Warts Away May Take Time

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Pesty warts were charmed away with hypnosis by two Scot physicians. The lesions shriveled up and disappeared without leaving a scar in 10 out of 14 cases. The hypnotic trance was too light to be effective in the four failures.

This report from The Lancet is not the first to appear on hypnotic suggestion in wart therapy but is more scientific than others I've seen. Once the hypnotic state was induced, two suggestions were made to the patients. They were told that the warts on only one side would disappear. In addition, the individuals were told that, on awakening, they were to open the door when the physician blew his nose; this was to determine whether the suggestions were deeply ingrained. The 10 patients meeting this requirement lost their warts on one side, usually on the hand, in 5 weeks to 3 months.

The psychological treatment of common warts has been used successfully for many decades. In most instances, the wart specialist or healer rubs the lesion with something special, such as kernels of corn or potato skins; shortly thereafter, the growths fall off. This form of suggestion is related to hypnosis and, in this respect, the two methods have some similarity.

It has been difficult for physicians to understand why such treatment is successful. Warts are caused by the skin's reaction to a filtrable virus. They are contagious at certain stages of development and, to the best of our knowledge, are not of psychological or nervous origin.

Hypnotic or psychological procedures are not always successful but they are painless and do not require bandages or anesthetics. On the other hand, many physicians are not sold on the harmlessness of hypnosis, especially for treating conditions that are more annoying than serious.

Hypnosis takes time and cannot be done in a hurry. Besides, there are many other ways to remove warts, varying from electrosurgery to injections.

TOMORROW: Moroccan paralysis.

MAPLE SIRUP DISEASE

Mrs. P. B. writes: What is maple sirup disease?

REPLY

This is one of the group of diseases classified as inborn errors of metabolism. Not too much is known about them but much research is being conducted on these rare diseases. In the maple sirup syndrome, the baby excretes an abnormal chemical compound that makes the urine smell of maple sirup.

CLEAN HOMES BETTER

A. E. J. writes: My father-in-law is trying to tell me just as many children fall sick and die in clean homes as in filthy, bug ridden homes. Please express an opinion on this.

REPLY

Illness and death are commoner in filthy surroundings because more germs and germ spreading vectors are present. In addition, ignorance, laziness, and poor hygiene go hand in hand. These people do not recognize the need for good medical care and seldom take advantage of it.

NO LIVER PUSHUPS

W. A. B. writes: Is there any exercise I can do to stimulate my lazy liver?

REPLY

This is one organ that can't be moved. A "lazy" liver often is blamed unjustly for constipation. If this is your problem, any kind of exercise ought to help in establishing regularity.

REACTION TO LAXATIVE

G. F. writes: What causes nausea after taking a laxative?

REPLY

SOFTENED BONES

H. C. H. writes: Do women develop softening of the bones after the change of life?

REPLY

Some do but the condition is more common after age 65. It is related to a reduction of the sex hormones. Symptoms usually subside after hormonal treatment. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on osteoporosis.

ACHING ELBOWS

L. F. writes: Could sore elbows be due to arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided pain is coming from the elbow joints.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

George Jean Nathan could be merciless when a show bored him sufficiently. Reviewing one ill-fated musical, Nathan noted, "For the first time in my life I envied my feet. They were asleep."

"Mama, mama," wailed a bride of six months, "Joe has walked out on me for good."

She only calls him that because
She can't recall his name."

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels extended their winning streak to ten games and hiked their lead in the Allegany County High School League to two games by blanking the Bruce High Bulldogs yesterday at Westernport, 5-0, while LaSalle was bumping off Allegany High School in an intra-city contest at Campobello by the score of 9-5.

In other league action, Valley High clobbered the Flintstone Aggies, 18-6, and Beall defeated the Mt. Savage Indians, 3-1. Mt. Savage played without the series of Fay Often, Rich Lybarger, Leroy Morris and Steve Faulkner, four regulars, who were disqualified for the remainder of the season for having played with another team on the same day they had played on the school team. Dale Watkinson, of Beall, also was disqualified under the same state rule.

Stay In City Fight

LaSalle remained in the city championship fight by downing Allegany and squaring its season series with the Campers.

Charley Rice went the distance for LaSalle and kept nine hits well spaced and whiffed seven. Three of the four Allegany tallies in the final frame came on a double by Fred Schindler with the bases loaded.

Posts 4th Shutout

Fort Hill posted its fourth shutout victory of the league campaign at Westernport and it was the second time this season that the Bulldogs failed to score a run against Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's team.

Roger Manges notched his fourth win of the season for the Sentinels, yielded only four hits and whiffed nine. Fort Hill held a 1-0 edge until the final stanza when four walks, a fielder's choice, sacrifice, hit and error produced four more tallies.

Francis Allen went the route in Beall's triumph over Mt. Savage in a game played at Beall High Field. He limited the weakened Tribe to three hits and struck out eight. "Chuck" Winebrenner was the loser.

Valley Gets 20 Hits

Valley massaged Flintstone pitching for 20 hits. Roger Wilson, who pitched five innings and was the winner, also led the Black Knights' attack with four hits in five official trips. Ravenscroft, Pollock and Garlitz garnered three hits each.

Flintstone obtained only four hits.

Play Here Today

Allegany High School is scheduled to entertain the Bruce High School Bulldogs today at 4 p. m. at Campobello. Allegany opened the season with a 21-3 win over Bruce but the second game set for May 10 was postponed on account of rain.

Grant Whips Senators 12th Straight Time

Cleveland Trims Washington, 7-2

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the Cleveland Indians pitched a four-hitter to beat Washington 7-2 Tuesday night for his 12th straight win in two years over the Senators.

Despite the lopsided final score the game was a pitchers' battle between Grant and Chuck Stobbs for the first six innings.

But in the last of the seventh the Indians scored two runs on Johnny Romano's home run with a man on. In the eighth they scored four more after they filled the bases on two walks and a single. One run came in on Romano's infield out and Bubba Phillips and Grant singled to bring in the other three runs.

Los Angeles Dodgers Beat Pittsburgh, 4-2

Podres Is Victor, Gil Hodges Belts Two-Run Homer

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers combined Gil Hodges' two-run homer with two unearned runs Tuesday night for a 4-2 victory which knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League lead.

The San Francisco Giants shut out Philadelphia 4-0 to recapture first place. The Giants were displaced by Pittsburgh for the NL lead last Thursday when they were rained out in Milwaukee and the Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hodges smashed his fourth homer in the second inning after lead-off batter Frank Howard had singled off Gibbon's glove. The Dodgers picked up two unearned runs in the fifth. Junior Gilliam opened with a single and Charley Neal bunted. When Gibbon threw the ball into right field, Gilliam scored and Neal moved to third.

Johnny Podres, who went the distance to win his third game, struck out Mazeroski and pinch-hitter Gene Baker in the fifth inning but Bob Skinner beat out a hit to Neal. Dick Groat walked and Roberto Clemente rattled a double to left to account for the last Pirate tally.

Podres was touched for eight hits, including four extra base blows, and struck out five. Gibbon allowed seven hits in being tagged for his second defeat.

Giants' Jones Scores Shutout Over Phils, 4-0

Jim Owens Victim For Second Time

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sam Jones hurled a four - hit shutout in pitching San Francisco to a 4-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Jones (5-3) picked up his first victory on the road in six starts. It also was his second straight shutout over Philadelphia. He blanked the Phils, 1-0, on a two-hitter in San Francisco on May 11th.

The Phillies now have not scored a run off San Francisco pitching in the past 29 1-3 innings.

Jones retired the last 15 batters, with Al Dark's lead-off single in the fifth the final hit of the game for the home team.

Jim Owens, now 2-5, was Jones' victim for the second time. The Giants scored once in the first on a walk to Don Blasingame, a wild pitch and Willie Mays' double. They added another in the third on another walk to Blasingame, Mays' single and Tony Taylor's error.

The other San Francisco runs came in the eighth on one hit, a bunt single by Orlando Cepeda. Owens walked four and committed two wild pitches in that inning.

Jones was so effective against Philadelphia that only one man passed second base. Joe Koppe, who opened the third with a double and advanced to third on Owens' sacrifice bunt. He was stranded there when Johnny Callison lifted a short fly to left and Taylor struck out.

Jerry's Win Skein Snapped; Jackets Reach Area Finale

Coach George Hott's Moorefield High School Yellowjackets won the West Virginia Region 4 baseball championship yesterday by spilling the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs at Charles Town by the score of 5-3.

Lefty Bill Toohey outpitched Jerry Stuckey, ace of Coach George Whitacre's team, to advance the Hardy Countians to the area finals where the Region 3 winner will be met. In Region 3 semi-finals yesterday, Farmington was scheduled to meet Morgantown while Philippi was to oppose Kingwood.

Toohey had a no-hitter through 5⅓ innings. Then his opposing moundsman singled to center. In posting his sixth win in seven starts this season and his 11th victory against two losses in two years, Toohey yielded only five hits, fanned three and issued four bases on balls.

Hits by Dwane Barr, Dave Vance, Johnny Mathias and Toohey coupled with an error accounted for three Moorefield runs in the third inning. Wardney Sherman's triple and Dave Vance's infield out produced one tally in the fourth while in the sixth Wardney Sherman's two-base rap, Evans' single and a wild throw produced the Jackets' final run.

Stuckey (7-1) had boasted a 7-game winning streak prior to being knocked off by Moorefield yesterday. He gave up nine blows, walked three and struck out six.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Moorefield and made the team's overall record 11-2. Martinsburg suffered its third loss against ten victories.

Moore Favored Over Besmanoff

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Archie Moore, the venerable king of the light heavyweights, will carry about 200 pounds and 2 to 1 favoritism against Germany's transplanted Willie Besmanoff in a 10-round non-title bout Wednesday night.

Moore's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns, says the 175-pound champion is "heavy, but not fat" for the heavyweight match, which will attract an estimated 8,000 into the State Fairgrounds Coliseum and produce a gross of about $60,000.

The bout is to be televised nationally (9 p.m., EST-ABC-TV) and will be scored under the five-point system. The referee will be an import from neighboring Illinois, Frank Gilmer, chairman of that state's athletic commission.

Six Americans Survive British Amateur Golf

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (AP) — Determined British and Irish stars Tuesday whittled down the American challenge for the British Amateur Golf Championship to a mere six survivors. Nine Americans were eliminated.

But Uncle Sam's two big ones—stylish Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., and veteran Bob Cochran of St. Louis—did more than stay alive. They played brilliantly, shattering par in their second round triumphs. This kind of form — if maintained — could earn either the ancient title.

Holland, 29, routed T.B.C. Hoey of Ireland, 7 and 6. Cochran, 47, a long time Midwestern star, edged John Lyons of England, 3 and 1 in a stirring match. Cochran closed it out with birdies on the 16th and 17th holes. Both Holland and Cochran scored front nine 33s on the par 36-36—72, 6,-842-yards layout.

The other American winners were Bill Gibson of Louisville, Ky., by 8 and 7 over L.G. Emmott of England; Donald Dawson of Detroit, by 1-up over Bryan Blaike of Ireland, and Ralph Morrow of Oklahoma City by 5 and 3 over Dr. William Meharg of Ireland. Hiram Snowden of Savannah, Ga., gained the third round on two straight scratches.

Seven of the eight seeded aces, headed by former champion Joe Carr of Dublin, advanced. The one exception came in an all-Irish match when Bert Rainey, a husky lad, upset 50-year-old Cecil Ewing, 4 and 3.

The other seeded victors included Tom Craddock, the Irish champion who eliminated John Humm of Baldwin, N.Y., 4 and 3; Jimmy Walker of Scotland, who fired a first nine 32 in beating D. R. Young of Ireand, 7 and 6; Michael Bonallack of England; Guy Wolstenholme of England; Reid Jack of Scotland, the 1957 winner, and David Blair, another Scot. Blair routed Lt. J. J. Hagan of Portland, Ore., 7 and 6.

FIVE ALLEGANY BOYS TO ENTER STATE A MEET

Catonsville Scene Of Saturday Event

Allegany High School will be represented by five athletes at the 14th annual Maryland Class A track and field meet which will be staged Saturday at Catonsville.

Coach Ed Schwarz last night announced that Bill Claus, Jeff Norris, Jim McKenzie, Frank Cawood and Bob Gaffney will compete. They will leave Friday afternoon. The meet gets under way at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Frederick High School, winner of nine consecutive meets this season, has been installed as the favorite to dethrone Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School which won the 1959 state event at College Park with 92 points. Runner-up last year was Northwood High with 68 tallies. Fort Hill was third with 37 7/10 points. Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring was fourth with 34 tallies and Frederick finished fifth with 31 1/5. Twenty-five schools participated. Allegany failed to score a point.

The Class B and C schools will vie at College Park this weekend. North Carroll was the 1959 "B" champion and Princess Anne was first in Class C.

Allegany County's last victory in a state meet was in 1954 when Fort Hill led the field. In fact, Fort Hill teams, coached by William P. Hahn, now grid coach at Wheaton (Md.) High School, won six of the 13 Class A meets held since 1947.

Last Saturday, Frederick won the CVAL meet at which nine new records were established and one tied. The Cadets cracked six of the marks and tied one. Allegany was fourth and Fort Hill fifth.

Jim McKenzie, of Allegany, was the only Allegany countian to break a CVAL record and that was in the 120 high hurdles event in which his time was 15.6 seconds.

West Virginia Population Loss Less Than 190,000

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Indications were Monday West Virginia's population loss as determined by the 1960 census would be less than 190,000.

United Press International tabulations of 52 of 55 counties in which census reports have been completed showed a net loss of 190,431 persons compared to 1950 figures for the same areas. Figures are lacking for Cabell, Kanawha and Wood counties in which the 1960 census has not been completed.

They show a population of 1,421,326 for 1960 against 1,511,757 in the same 52 counties 10 years ago.

The UPI figures show that 42 of the 52 counties reporting complete results show losses of population ranging from 27,924 in McDowell County to 32 in Mineral County. Of the 10 showing gains, Hancock had the largest, 5,135, and Morgan the smallest, 83.

McDowell led the population loss for the state as well as four southern counties where the coal industry has undergone automation. Fayette County dropped 20,531, Raleigh 19,784 and Logan 16,084.

The total loss in the 42 counties is 209,691 while the actual gain was 19,250, for a net loss of 190,431.

Census workers said Monday final figures for the three missing counties would not be available until late this week or early next week. In each instance, however, they expect gains to be shown. If this holds true than the net loss for the state would drop from the present figure.

Assuming that Kanawha and Cabell retain their leadership as West Virginia's largest and second largest counties — and there's little doubt of this — the third largest will be Harrison, followed closely by Raleigh.

Harrison shows a population in 1960 of 77,499 while Raleigh has 76,525 residents. Fifth and sixth place will be determined after the Wood County figures are made public. It will be close with McDowell which now has a population of 70,963.

Other counties with populations over 50,000 include: Mercer 67,875; Ohio 67,115; Marion 62,901, 1Fayette 61,396, Logan 61,300; Monongalia 55,533.

Neely's Mind Open On Choice Of Chairman

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Harold Neely, Republican gubernatorial candidate, has an open mind in the party's choice for state GOP chairman to mastermind the West Virginia general election campaign.

"The big thing to me," Neely said, "is to find a man who can devote all of his time to directing the campaign."

Neely thinks the present chairman, Daniel L. Louchery of Clarksburg, has done a good job. "But whether he can devote all of his time is another matter," Neely said. "He has to earn a living like the rest of us."

The State Republican Executive Committee will meet in Charleston June 4 to reorganize. By custom the gubernatorial nominee selects the state chairman.

Defense Stocks Advance In Mixed Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy buying in electronics, aircrafts and scattered specials featured an otherwise irregular and moderately active stock market Tuesday.

At the close, gains and losses were about equally distributed. A total of 1,208 issues crossed the tape, 496 declining, 33 to new lows, and 483 advancing, 48 to new highs.

Some heavy blue - chip selling dragged the industrial stock average 2.27 points below the previous close. Rails and utilities, fractionally lower all day closed with nominal net gains in their averages on support developing late in the day.

Texaco fell 2⅝ and Jersey Standard 1⅛ on a move by the Cuban government to end the "American monopoly" in Cuba's oil market. The Cuban edict said that American companies in the future will have to refine Russian oil in large amounts.

International Business Machines took the spotlight in the late trading when it vaulted 19 points to close at 494, a new high. Heavy buying in the stock followed the announcement that IBM has developed a new one punch card system to control manufacturing operations from the raw material stage through to the finished product.

Other good electronic gainers included Texas Instruments, up 8 at 250½, Zenith up 4⅜ at 110⅞ and Beckman Instruments up 2¾ 15 87.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains moved mostly lower Tuesday on slow and mixed dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅝ to 1; corn off ⅛ to ⅞; oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ⅛ to ¼; and soybeans off ⅜ to 1¼.

Activity in wheat futures was very light, with most trading based upon weather reports and export sales. Commission houses bought small amounts early in the session. Prices closed weak on scattered selling.

Wheat harvesting was reported held up in sections of Texas and Oklahoma because of rain. Cash wheat had a better demand in the southwest. Commercial interests were inactive.

Corn rallied from early lows, but prices closed below the previous level. Commercial houses bought July, and elevators sold. Improved weather for planting brought selling in deferred contracts.

Export subsidies were granted on 133,000 bushels of corn and 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats futures were quiet and mostly steady. Some selling was based on the weather. Rye was fractionally lower.

Nearby soybean futures weakened. Weather was also a factor. Chicago stocks of beans declined 499,000 bushels last week.

Rockefeller Not Out Of Running, Says Pearson

Columnist Speaks To Rotary Here

The failure of the summit conference may help the political fortunes of Governor Nelson E. Rockefeller of New York, Washington columnist Drew Pearson said here last night.

Mr. Pearson, whose syndicated column appears daily in the Cumberland News and the Cumberland Sunday Times, told an intercity Rotary meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club he wasn't making any predictions, but that Governor Rockefeller is "not out of the running" for the Republican nomination for President.

Furthermore, he believes Rockefeller would win the election but Vice President Richard M. Nixon would have a close race if the Democratic nominee were Adlai Stevenson or Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He also said he thinks the Democrats will have their usual knock-down-drag-out convention, "then nominate the same man they've walked down the aisle with twice before — Adlai Stevenson."

May Have Hurt Nixon

Mr. Pearson said the summit debacle may have hurt Vice President Nixon, in that Nixon has been closely involved with the Eisenhower foreign policy, while Rockefeller has long been an outspoken critic of the administration's national defense policies.

The columnist also said Mr. Nixon has "played both sides of the Iron Curtain," in winning election to the Senate by using "McCarthy-like tactics," then later, as Vice President, making a trip to the Soviet Union, a trip that increased his popularity in the United States.

Mr. Pearson, weighing the merits of the various Democratic Presidential aspirants, said Senator Kennedy faces the handicap of youth at a time when world events have emphasized the need for maturity. He also said Senator Lyndon Johnson is handicapped by being a Southern, and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri because he is known only through his attitudes on national defense.

The international result of the summit's failure, said Mr. Pearson, probably will be a "long period of precarious peace." He said the two best forms of insurance against war are a strong defense and increased constructive contacts between East and West — something that Mr. Pearson often likes to call "people-to-people friendship."

Predicts Bigger Budget

He predicts that Congress, partly as a result of recent events, will restore $1.2 billion which it cut from the defense budget and that this will prevent a tax reduction next year, regardless of which party wins the Presidency.

Reporting the background of the summit meeting, which he went to Europe to cover, Mr. Pearson declared that the Eisenhower administration, on the advice of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, had opposed such meetings until a gathering of top military leaders

Children under 16 are to be accompanied by adults Friday, B. U. Smith, general secretary of the Y explained.

Bowling Green Firemen Begin Bazaar Planning

The bazaar-planning committee of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the fire hall to discuss the outdoor festival scheduled July 18-23.

"Miss Firefighter of 1960" will be chosen in a contest and crowned on the opening night. Mrs. Irene Shipley is contest chairman. She said anyone between the ages of 13-25 who lives within a radius of 25 miles of the community may enter.

A junior queen and king also will be chosen and their ages will range from six to 12 years. All contestants must register with the chairman at her home in Bowling Green by June 4. Additional information may be obtained by calling her at PA 4-2370.

A wardrobe of her choice from a local department store will be presented to the queen. The junior queen and king, who will be crowned on the second night, will each receive a bicycle. Runner-up prizes will be awarded.

All persons entering the contest will be presented gifts by the volunteer firemen.

The Blue Angels Drum and Bugle Corps of Victory Post 155, American Legion, Westernport, will present a drill on the opening night; firemen's parade will be on Wednesday night and a kiddie's parade on Thursday night.

Talent acts will be presented on Friday and Saturday evenings. Co-chairmen of the bazaar committee are David E. Kirk and George Mahaney. Other volunteers on the committee include Bernard Warren, Calvin Ayers, Daniel Fradiska, Douglas Golliday, Charles Crawford and Allan Deffinbuagh.

Jury Gives $10,750 In Two Cases

Bridge Crash Involved In Suit

Deliberating about 40 minutes, an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded verdicts totalling $10,750 in two related damage suits moved here from Washington County.

Mrs. Alma G. Dyer of Hancock was awarded $10,250 in the larger of the two actions. She had brought suit for $25,000 against Lionel Roy Smith of Artemas, Pa., whose car struck the rear of her car while driving toward Hancock on the West Virginia portion of the Potomac River bridge which carries U. S. Route 522 into Hancock.

She contended that she was severely injured in the accident of April 19, 1959.

The other $500 was awarded to her daughter, Mrs. Ina Mae Dyer Potter, who was a passenger in her mother's car. Two Hagerstown doctors, Dr. Robert Richards and Dr. Phillip M. Dethridge, were the only other witnesses at yesterday's trial besides the plaintiffs.

Ralph W. Rice was foreman of the 11-member jury which heard the case. Ernest V. Wachs of Hagerstown and William L. Wilson, this city, represented the plaintiffs. Defense attorneys were Irvine H. Rutledge of Hagerstown and William H. Geppert, this city. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland presided.

County Applies For Road Funds

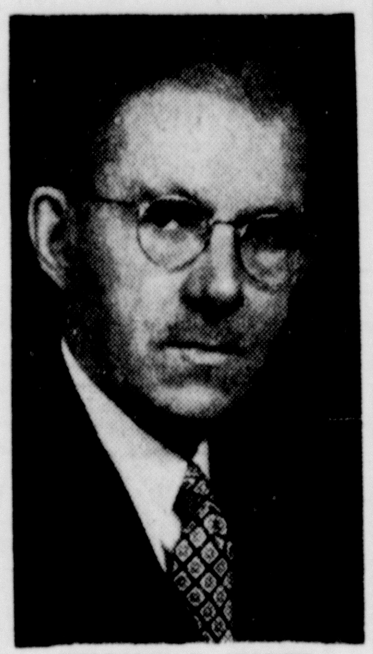
The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday sent a letter to Southey T. Nottingham Jr., Federal aid liaison engineer for the State Roads Commission, applying for Federal aid matching funds for two county roads project which will cost an estimated total of $48,423.89.

One of these is for 1.4 miles of North Orleans Road, estimated to cost $29,150.62, and one mile of Bear Hill Road, costing an estimated $19,273.27. Half of the total cost, or $24,211.94 could be borne by the Federal government from the $101,925 available to this county. That would still leave $77,713.06 for other county projects.

Both of these jobs call for six-inch compact bases.

Given Jail Term

Harry Brown, this city, yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail following a hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett on a vagrancy charge.



WILLIAM C. WALSH

Walsh Elected President Of Liberty Trust

William C. Walsh, local attorney, was elected president of the Liberty Trust Company by the bank's board of directors yesterday.

He succeeds the late Charles A. Piper who was drowned Thursday on a fishing trip in the South Branch near Romney.

Mr. Walsh becomes the fifth president of the trust company which was organized in 1920. Mr. Piper, the fourth president, was elected to that position in March 1941 after serving as a member of the board of directors for 11 years.

The board of directors of the company yesterday adopted a resolution of respect to Mr. Piper, who was president of the bank for more than 19 years. The resolution said Mr. Piper was one of the outstanding bank presidents in Maryland and that his death had cost the bank "his wise and dynamic leadership, under which it became the largest bank in Western Maryland."

The new president has been on the Liberty Trust Company's board of directors since 1922 and he has been counsel for its trust department for the past 25 years.

Mr. Walsh at the age of 34 years was chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, one of youngest on record, and also served on the Maryland Court of Appeals.

For four years he was state insurance commissioner and was twice elected attorney general of Maryland, serving from December 1938 to June 1945. He resigned the attorney generalship to devote all of his time to his private practice.

A native of Cumberland, he served during World War I in France in a machine gun company of the 113th Infantry Regiment. He has been a mem-

Drowning Victim Owned Motorboat

The motorboat which figured in the drowning of two prominent Cumberlanders last Thursday was owned by one of the victims and was not rented, as previous stories in The Cumberland News have stated.

Charles A. Piper and James A. Leader drowned when Mr. Piper's boat capsized in the South Branch of the Potomac River. Previous stories stating that Mr. Piper and Mr. Leader had rented the boat from John Harmison of River Route, Romney, W. Va., were in error.

Mr. Harmison pointed out yesterday that he does not own a motorboat, and that Mr. Piper had stored the boat at the Harmison farm during the winter. He said the Harmison family put the boat into the river for Mr. Piper at his request on the day of the accident.

Fort Hill Teacher Pays His County Taxes Early

A conscientious Fort Hill High School teacher, who believes that it is a duty and privilege for citizens to pay their state and county taxes, came to the Court House yesterday in order to be one of the first to pay taxes to County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

The early taxpayer is Robert C. Morris, head of the social studies department at Fort Hill, a teacher of children who has owned his own home at 1 Long Drive, LaVale, for the past 25 years.

Mr. Morris explained that he wanted to pay his taxes early because his seniors are now studying taxation and he thought it appropriate to fulfill his obligation as a citizen. The county tax collector recalled that he had studied history and economics under Mr. Morris back in 1938 at Fort Hill.

A brand new electronic computer is cranking out the county tax bills and Mr. Orndorff says his staff has been working 10 to 12 hours a day in an effort to assure that the 35,000 to 40,000 tax bills are in the mail by late next week.

The new tax bills will provide the taxpayers more information and actually will do most of the figuring for the taxpayers. Each bill will show the gross tax, the June net total allowing for a five per cent discount on county taxes, the amount of the June discount and the amounts of discounts to be allowed for payments in July, four per cent, and August, three per cent.

There also is space on the tax bills for special taxes for the four special taxing areas within the county and the amount of the state tax.

Mr. Orndorff is urging all taxpayers to avoid the confusion at the Court House next month by paying their taxes by mail with checks or money orders. About 60 per cent of the taxpayers paid that way last year.

June is always the busiest month for taxes as 80 to 85 per cent of the taxpayers rush in to take advantage of the five per cent June discount.

The tax collector's staff has been busy preparing bills since May 7. A new system of filing has been set up to facilitate handling bills.

Mr. Orndorff is arranging a schedule of collection visits to seven communities outside Cumberland beginning June 7.

The rally will be conducted in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street. The public is invited.

Flooding On Valley Road Is City Problem

A petition signed by 33 residents and property owners along Valley Road requesting the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to correct a flooding condition there was referred to the Mayor and City Council.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he was convinced that the section of Valley Road to which the petitioners referred is within the city limits. City maps show that Valley Road is within the city limits to a point beyond Forest Avenue, the street which leads to Northeast School at Bowman's Addition.

The petitioners said that the flooding occurred because the culvert which runs under the road is not large enough to handle the volume of water off Wills Mountain between the property of Wiegand and Felton. The only solution, they say, is a larger culvert to enable the stream to stay within its banks. The flooding conditions occurred on Sunday, May 8.

Man Hurt In Fall

A Pennsylvania man was admitted to Memorial Hospital late last night with head injuries after he fell down a flight of steps in the lobby of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Ignatius Stanko, 37, of 714 Grantham Street, Tarentum, Pa., was in "fair" condition with a possible concussion and other undetermined injuries.

Two Men Get Jail Terms In Motor Cases

Pair Found Guilty Of Five Charges

A Baltimore County man and a local young man yesterday received jail sentences in Trial Magistrate Court after they were found guilty of motor vehicle charges.

George Albert Miller, 26, of Glyndon, was sentenced to a total of 180 days in the County Jail, and Ronald Eugene Smith, 20, of 501 North Mechanic Street, was committed to the county lockup for 60 days.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt found Miller guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license, reckless driving and another motor charge.

Miller was sentenced to 60 days for driving without a license and was fined $100 for reckless driving and $250 on the third count. Magistrate Weatherholt ordered Miller committed for another 120 days in default of the two fines.

In the other motor case, Magistrate Paul W. Barnett found Smith guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and operating a vehicle without registration plates.

Smith was fined $100 on each count and was ordered committed to jail for 60 days in default of fines.

Smith was charged with taking a used car from Thompson's Used Car lot on North Mechanic Street early Sunday morning. The car later was recovered in Bowman's Addition where Smith abandoned it when it became stuck in the mud.

Trooper George Wachter of the State Police made the arrest in both cases.

Attorney Named In Woman's Case

John M. Robb, local attorney, was appointed yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley to defend a local woman charged with embezzlement of $6,662.75 from International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, Local Union No. 568.

The woman, identified as Ruth Yvonne Swain, was indicted by the April grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court but the bench warrant has just been served upon her. At her appearance in court yesterday, she stated that she had no funds for her defense. Then Judge Fraley appointed Mr. Robb to defend her.

The indictment charges that while she was "cashier, servant, officer and clerk" of Local 568 she embezzled the union's money between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958. The indictment was found on the testimony of County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

The defendant will be arraigned when Judge Fraley next makes a visit to Cumberland next Tuesday.

District Manager To Visit Chamber

He will meet with the Legislative Committee headed by Harry I. Stegmaier, and the Board of Directors of the Chamber to discuss recent trends in national legislation affecting business and the Chamber's new program, "Action Course in Practical Politics."

WILLIAM H. WALKER

Kelly Firm Secretary Dies At Home Here

William H. Walker Was Ill Some Time

Mr. Walker had been associated with the Kelly firm since September 1937. He was elected treasurer in October 1950 and became secretary in January 1958.

Prior to joining Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Mr. Walker was a member of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Born May 30, 1893, in Chicago, Ill., he was a son of Mrs. Clara M. (Chalfont) Walker and the late Henry Walker. Mr. Walker was a veteran of World War I and was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Surviving, besides his mother, who now resides in Leesburg, Va., are his widow, Mrs. Ruth H. Walker; a son, William H. Walker, Akron, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. William H. Haywood, Leesburg, and Mrs. George S. Long, Akron; a brother, Louis J. Walker, Akron, and four grandchildren.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 7 to 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home Friday at 3 p. m. by Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

The body will be taken to Pittsburgh on Saturday for cremation and interment will be in East Akron Cemetery, Akron.

Next-Of-Kin Get Offer

Next-of-kin of World War II servicemen killed or missing in action overseas may obtain a large aerial colored lithograph of the military cemetery where the serviceman is interred or commemorated.

Mrs. Sara Lindsay, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross, said she has received notification of the program sponsored by the Red Cross.

Next-of-kin also may obtain a smaller black and white close-up photograph of the grave site and headstone, or, in case of those listed as "missing in action," a close-up photograph showing the name inscribed on a memorial wall.

There is no charge for the photographs, according to Mrs. Lindsay, who said anyone interested may contact the local Red Cross office for information on how they may be obtained.

Fulfills Civic Duty

'Little John' Flood Exercise Begins May 31

Will Test Area's Emergency Program

The flood emergency capabilities of the North Branch area, including the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project, will be put to a test in "Little John," a flood exercise to be held in this area under the supervision of the U. S. Army Engineers May 31 and June 1.

The flood emergency practice exercise will fall on the anniversary of the great Johnstown flood of 1889 and will be held under the direction of Brig. Gen. T. H. Lipscomb, North Atlantic Division engineer, and Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer.

The exercise will begin simultaneously at 1 p. m. on May 31 in the office of the U. S. Army Engineer district in Washington and in City Hall in Cumberland.

The paper exercise will begin as the first reports of heavy rainfall and probable flooding are supplied in sealed envelopes.

Messages will be sent to C. R. Nuzum, superintendent of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project; the River Services section of the Weather Bureau, which is responsible for flood forecasting, and the Washington district office of the Corps of Engineers.

To Be Dry Run

In the "dry run," each organization will simulate the action it would take during an actual flood, such as alerting personnel for action, furnishing flood forecasts, making pre-flood inspections of protective works and establishing communications.

Special attention will be given to radio communications, and any radio net which wishes to participate should contact the U. S. Army Engineer district in Washington.

The paper exercise will continue during the early morning of June 1 in the Council Chamber at City Hall as flood crests are approaching Cumberland.

Part of the staff of the Washington District office, including some who took an active part in the planning and construction of the local flood control project, will be here to take part in the exercise.

All communities along the North Branch of the Potomac River and Wills Creek which would be affected by a flood of any magnitude will be included in the alert.

Plan Demonstrations

The schedule of events begins May 31 at 1 p. m. here and in Washington and is continued June 1 at 8 a. m. in City Hall.

Public events will begin June 1 at 9 a. m. in the Council Chamber, when observers and guests will be briefed. A summary of the hypothetical flood operation will be presented at 10:30 a. m.

The operation of the Viaduct pumping station, located at North Mechanic Street and the B & O Viaduct, will be demonstrated at 11 a. m., and a demonstration of stream gaging equipment will be staged at the George Washington Crossings Bridge.

A demonstration of a sandbag closure of the Ridgeley side of the Western Maryland Railway Bridge over the North Branch by the Town of Ridgeley will be staged at 2 p. m.

Mayor Charles Fryer said the Town of Ridgeley will furnish men to put on the demonstration and that the community's Flood Control committee, headed by Owen Logsdon, will be present.

Planes To Take Part

The flood alert will close June 1 at 3 p. m. as a review and critique of the exercise is presented at City Hall.

Reconnaissance flights will be made in the area during June 1, as weather permits, by observation planes of the Second Army from Fort Meade.

Keys To City Are Ordered
